State College Tips To The Housewife

Sad experience with burned hands has taught many housewives the wisdom of using a thoroughly dry holder when picking up a hot dish. Because heat travels rapidly through moisture, it is unsafe to use a wet cloth to handle hot utensils.

cloth is used on hot glass, earthenware, or pottery. A wet cloth cools the dish suddenly where it touches, and this is likely to result in a crack or break. For the same reason, a hot dish of any of these materials should never be taken from the stove and placed on a wet table or in a wet sink. Glass cooking utensils should be thoroughly dry on the outside when they are placed on the stove. Even a few drops of water on the outside of a glass coffee-maker, for example, may cause uneven heating and result in cracking or breaking.

Neglect is the cause of many so-called defects in pianos. To keep moths from getting into the felt, place a camphor bag inside the case. Keep the piano away from any heating unit and from the direct rays of sun. Keep furniture polish or oils, which discolor ivory, away from the keys. Clean them only with soap on a very slightly damp cloth. All fine woods need occasional sudings to remove accumulated layers of wax and polish that after a time give a greasy look. Clean carefully with warm suds allowing surface to dry well before re-applying polish.

It is estimated that last year's board bill for the European corn borer cost American farmers at least $37,700,000, of which about $2,061,000 represents damage to sweet corn.

Loses Court Verdict Work of Home Women Praised

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson issued the following letter this week through Miss Verna Stanton, assistant state agent for the State College Extension Service, in marking the second annual observance of National Home Demonstration week, May 4-11.

Addressing his remarks to the "Women in Home Demonstration Work," the Secretary said: "American womanhood has long enjoyed a freedom and respect accorded to women in no other part of the world. As in every other phase of democratic life, this position of esteem carries with it some definite responsibilities. It is in the home that the pattern of the culture of a people is established. The cradle of democracy is in a nation's homes and families.

"We may be happy that our culture is one that emphasizes advancing standards for family living—in the ethical sense as well as in the practical. But nothing is so good that it cannot be made better; better in terms of the family's health, comfort, education, happiness, and understanding. Under the leadership of the home demonstration agents of the Co-operative Extension Service, the farm women of America will continue to make daily home tasks easier, to improve their homes and communities, and to bring about happier and more wholesome living in rural America.
