One Square Meal
Christian Science Monitor
The difference between statistics and a child weak with hunger in the next room is considerable. It is one thing to read of 30,000,000 undernourished children in Europe alone; it is another thing to realize what one square meal a day for each of those children could mean to the world.

It is estimated that farmers to-day are using less than two-thirds as much labor per unit of product as they did in 1920.

MOTHER
Of all the days that are set apart, To me there's not another, That gets so close to all our hearts As the day that we honor our Mother.

Limiting The Ballot
Prompted mainly by the Republicans, action to limit by constitutional amendment the office terms of presidents to two is little more than limiting the ballot. It is dangerous business for any group, including state legislatures, to support a movement that is aimed to deny a citizen the right to vote for whom he pleases.

It is fairly apparent that the drive for the amendment stems from the privileged who are still smarting under the accomplishments traceable to the Roosevelt administration, accomplishments brought about in the name of the common masses. It is only once in ever so many generations that the common people get a real friend in the White House and some group or groups would crucify Democracy to insure themselves or their heirs against another Roosevelt.

Let the people and not the State political bodies decide whether they'll want to vote for a man for president one time or a dozen times.

Destiny—a stirring picture of the sufferings of children in war-wasted lands—as the years best documentary film. But the picture has not been shown at commercial theaters in case its harsh facts should "antagonize" audiences bent on entertainment.

Perhaps what Americans most need is to have relief dramatized to them rather than suffering. Take that "one square meal a day." That is the aim of the International Children's Emergency Fund created by the General Assembly of the United Nations last December. It aims chiefly to help nations develop their own child-relief programs. It estimates that $200,000,000 of its costs will come from recipient nations, $200,000,000 from donor governments, and $50,000,000 from voluntary contributions.

We believe that millions of people who are enjoying three square meals a day, and millions more existing on lean, monotonous rations, would welcome the proposed plan to contribute "one day's pay" in order to provide the neediest children with one basically nutritious meal a day, costing five or six cents. We trust the I. C. E. F. may forge ahead with the fullest support of the governments whose delegates created it, and with the fullest public awareness of humanity's stake in its hungry children.

And I know down deep in her heart, She was breathing a silent prayer.

It's Mother that watches with care, Throughout the live long day, The little things she does for us No child can ever repay.

Mother tucked the blankets about us, While others were asleep, She'd place a kiss upon our brow, Then quietly, away she'd creep.

When we get sick or in trouble, Others may do all they can, But nothing seems to soothe and heal, Like the touch of Mother's hand.

Her hands may be scarred, from toil and care, Her steps unsteady and slow, But her faith, in God, grows stronger, While journeying here below.

When her life's work here is ended, And she leaves this world of sin, Heaven's door will open, Mother, will enter in, Mrs. Simon Lilley, Williamston, N. C.

One Reason Some Do Not Like Wallace
Columnist Stokes.
They do not like it when Henry Wallace says that both parties here are being captured by the Conservatives, for they don't like to be caught at this game which goes on before your eyes. They do not like it when he says the way to combat Communism is to have something like the New Deal all over the world, for they are working like fury here now, day and night, to destroy that.

Henry Wallace is a hated symbol to some people here. To others he is a symbol of hope and it was to them that he said: "In England I have seen first-hand the devastation and suffering caused by war and to prevent that devastation and ruin again on the world I shall go on speaking out for peace wherever men will listen to me until the end of my days."

Compromise
All government—indeed, every human benefit and enjoyment, every virtue and every prudent act—is founded on compromise and barter.—Edmund Burke (1729-97).
