

Several Highway Wrecks Reported In Martin County

No One Badly Hurt in Three Accidents and Damage Negligible

No one was badly hurt and property damage was held to a fairly low figure in a series of three highway accidents reported in this county during the past few days. C. G. Crockett, head of the Standard Fertilizer Company, suffered a bruised shoulder when the car in which he was riding figured in a wreck on Williamston's Washington Street early Sunday evening. No one else was hurt, police and highway patrolmen reported.

Driving between Oak City and Hamilton about two miles out of Hamilton last Tuesday noon, Jack Lindsey Johnson of Robersonville ran into and killed a cow belonging to Roy Beach, RFD 1, Oak City. Johnson said he saw about twenty-five or thirty cows grazing beside the highway, that as he approached them, one ran into the highway. It was raining at the time. Investigating the accident, Patrolman R. P. Narron said the damage amounted to approximately $400 to the car.

Driving on a small path and in the direction of Highway No. 64 near Robersonville about 9:30 o'clock last Saturday night, Walter R. Macklin lost control of his 1935 Chevrolet and skidded into a ditch.

Varied Program Offered In Concert

Although the full program will not be released until Thursday morning of this week, it can be revealed that the program which the Elizabeth City High School band will give in its concert in the high school auditorium here Friday evening, March 19, will be a varied and entertaining one.

Busy making preparations to go to New York this summer where it will march down Fifth Avenue and stage a show in Madison Square Garden while representing North Carolina at the International Lions convention, the band is working now on the numbers it will present here. Included will be Silver Moon from "My Maryland" by Romberg, Smoke Gets in Your Eyes, a symphonic paraphrase from "Roberta" by Jerome Kerns and Auditorium Session, a bit of Boogie Woogie for Concert Band by Deke Moffitt.

Roy L. Russell, director of the band, says his 100-piece unit will arrive here in the afternoon. It is likely that the band will march through town in the style for which it has become famous the nation over. Complete details on this probably will be announced during the coming week-end.

New Patrolman Assigned Here

Recently assigned to this area, Patrolman M. F. Powers entered upon his new duties as a member of the North Carolina Highway Patrol here last week-end.

A native of Boston, Patrolman Powers moved here from Roanoke Rapids. His wife and five-year-old daughter will join him here just as soon as he can find a place to live. Mr. Powers was in the Navy six years, going with the highway patrol last November. He is succeeding Patrolman Whit E. Saunders who recently resigned to accept the position of chief of Williamston's police force.

CLUB TO MEET

A quarterly meeting of the Martin County Wildlife Club will be held in the courthouse Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock when officers will be elected for the coming year.

Ross Stevens, executive secretary of the North Carolina Wildlife Federation, will address the meeting, it was announced.

The county club has some over 200 members, Secretary John Henry Edwards said yesterday.

Will Open Inspection Lane To Public Vehicles Monday

Moving the special equipment here this week, the State Motor Vehicles Department, Safety Division, will open a lane on Park Street between Marshall Avenue and Williams Streets on Friday of this week, but the inspection service will be limited to vehicles operated by the State, County and towns the first two days. Next Monday the lane will be opened to the public for one week. The service costs $1 per vehicle.

After operating here through next week, the inspection equipment will be taken up and moved to Plymouth and then on to other counties. It will be returned here in about two months when it is understood that a permanent site for the service will be made available near the radio station on U. S. Highway 64.

One inspection is required during this year. Beginning in 1949 all motor vehicles are to be inspected twice annually. Several garages in the county have installed special equipment to test the operation of vehicles and prepare them for inspection. Quite a few owners have had their vehicles tuned up and made ready for the inspections.

It will be impossible to inspect all motor vehicles in this county next week, but the service will be made available from time to time until all motor units have been inspected.

Much has been said about the inspection service. It is designed not to force vehicles off the highways but to impress upon the owners-operators the necessity of keeping them in good repair in the name of human life and limb and property.

Ambrose Family Moving To New Home Wednesday

Their little new three-room house all completed except for the electrical wiring and a few finishing touches here and there, Ammie Ambrose, aged grandmother, her widowed daughter and seven small grandchildren are tentatively scheduled to move from "out of doors" to indoors tomorrow.

Just how much of the water-sogged furniture and furnishings can be salvaged from the tumbled down shack the sizable group has managed to exist in through one of the worst winters in years, cannot yet be determined. But the grandmother said yesterday that three mattresses would relieve the situation considerably, overlooking the need for a cook stove to replace the three-legged and battered cook box the family has been using in an open air kitchen bombarded for months by the elements.

Some concern is being expressed for the health of the members of the group when they move out of their open air shack into the new compact structure. If there is any argument about fresh air, the Ambrose family has settled it beyond all doubt. All of them went through the winter without having a cold. Possibly they could not afford to get sick, for with nine occupying the best room in the shack, disease would have wiped out all nine once it got a foothold. Now, it remains to be seen how they survive under better living conditions.

The construction project encountered many difficulties, but Contractor Tom Stephenson and his group of workers including Henry Armstrong, Sam Norfleet, Robert Wiggins, James F. Finch, Willie Reed, Frank Slade and other volunteers, were determined to see it through. Realizing that it was a case where the ox was in the ditch, three of the workers returned to the job Sunday morning, one, Robert Wiggins, walking the several miles through the rain to get to the house when he missed the conveyance.

The main part of the house, measuring 22 by 14 feet, and the kitchen, measuring 13 by 13 feet, are covered with aluminum along with a small front porch. Plans were changed at the last minute and a back porch was left off. Sheet rock was used in the interior, and the chimney is flue lined. Ayers Electric Company is wiring the house according to specifications, providing outlets in addition to the overhead lights.

No exact accounting of the costs can be made until all the material and miscellaneous bills are received.

Funeral services are being conducted in the home this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock by the Rev. J. R. Everett, Baptist minister of Robersonville, assisted by Elder A. B. Ayers, Primitive Baptist minister of Bear Grass, the Rev. Sidney Boone, Methodist minister of Robersonville, and the Rev. J. M. Perry, Christian minister of Robersonville. Burial will be in Robersonville cemetery.

Draw Citizens for April Court Jury In Martin County

Thirty-five county men were drawn recently by the board of commissioners for jury duty during the April term of the Martin County Superior Court. For the first time in recent months no members of the fairer sex are included in the jury list, but one colored citizen, Oliver Carter, retired farm agent of Parmele, is included in the group scheduled to serve during the first week of the two-week term convening on Monday, the 19th.

Judge W. H. S. Burgwyn of Jackson has been assigned to preside over the term which was created under a special act of the North Carolina Legislature for the trial of civil cases only.
