

Jamesville Defeats Williamston Cagers

Coltrain Leader Of Girls; Brewer, Gaines Top Boys

Williamston Boys Suffer Third Defeat In Two Seasons By Jamesville

Winning by a margin of 20 points or better in each game, the fast-stepping basketballers of the Jamesville High School last night defeated the Green Wave teams of Williamston High for the first double defeat of the year and the third in two seasons, all by Jamesville.

The Jamesville girls were harder pressed for their victory than the boys, a complete reversal of the pre-game dope, as the boys won 43 to 21 after being ahead 22 to 4 at the half and the girls pulled away from a 17 to 9 half-time count to win 37 to 17.

Unlike the boys game which had gone two minutes before Brewer of Jamesville broke the ice with a field goal, Waters was in with another and Brewer and Gaines added two to put the visitors out front 8 to 0 with two minutes to go in the first quarter. Griffin threw in a field goal and Brewer came back with one to put the score at 10 to 2 at the end of the first quarter as it became quite apparent that the flashy and smooth-working Jamesville five was off to a good start and not likely to be headed as the Green Wave played sluggish ball, missed the basket repeatedly and lost the ball to the alert ball-hawks of Jamesville.

Brewer opened the scoring in the second quarter with a field goal after Modlin had missed a free throw and Carrow matched the points with a field goal the last score of the half for the Green Wave as Gaines connected from the corner, missed to free throws then dropped in a field goal to run the score up. Gaines missed two more free throws but dropped in a two-pointer and Waters followed with another. Fields goals by Gaines and Brewer closed the scoring for the first half. While Williamston could not connect on goal shots from the floor, Jamesville had trouble all even with its free throws, missing 7 in the first half and four in the second while Williamston missed 8 in the first half but made good on five out of nine in the second half.

Brewer and Gaines led Jamesville with 14 points each while Waters had 6, Modlin 3, Beard, Hardison and Reason 2 apiece.

Bobby Rogers score 9 points to top Williamston while Landy Griffin was second with 8, Carrow was credited with 2 and Carson and Taylor with one each.

The Jamesville boys played an excellent floor game and were on the alert at all times although the second string was a bit wild on passes at times.

Leading the Jamesville girls to victory was Barbara Coltrain with 17 points. She played an excellent game and it was noted that she did not make as many futile attempts at field goals as last season. Modlin was second with 11 points for the winners while Brewer accounted for 9. Nancy Roberson was again high for the Williamston girls with 11 while Cullipher accounted for 5 and Peaks 2.

In the girls game, the locals outdid the boys in that they did go ahead at one point, leading 6 to 4 with two minutes to go in the first quarter when Jamesville called for a time out. Three quick field goals while Williamston was making one free throw, put the winners ahead to stay at 10 to 7 at the close of the first quarter. Half time score was 17 to 9.

The double loss was the first for Williamston since the Jamesville teams pulled the trick last year. The loss was the third in two seasons for the boys, all to Jamesville.

Jamesville will be host to Hertford Friday night while Ahoskie will play in Williamston. Coach Jack Young of Ahoskie was here last night to scout Williamston but his notes certainly are not apt to do him much good.

NO BONERS WIN DOG XMAS MEAL

ON HIS BEHAVIOR at the Christmas dinner rehearsal pictured here depended whether "Nick," pet dog of Robert Mastro, 3, New York, would be allowed to dine with his little master when the regular Yule feast is served. Robert wanted his dog as a table companion, but his parents frowned. So "Nick" demonstrates that, with a juicy bone to tempt him, he can nonchalantly bite at a cigarette holder. (International)

Choosing Leaf Variety a Puzzle

"What tobacco variety shall I plant?" is a question which many North Carolina farmers are asking themselves nowadays. Their problem is complicated by many factors—differences in soil, cultivation and cropping methods, and disease infestation on the land. There is added trouble, even in the very fact that so many different varieties are now available to growers.

For the puzzled grower, Dr. W. E. Colwell and Dr. W. G. Woltz of the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station have some timely advice: If you don't know which variety to use, see your county agent. This statement applies particularly to growers who have disease problems.

pecially troublesome to some growers, the tobacco research scientists point out. Wilt-resistant varieties have been planted on shank-infested land, and vice versa. Unaware of their error, growers have sometimes blamed their crop failures on the variety planted.

According to Colwell and Woltz, varieties are now available which are resistant to one of the following diseases: black shank, Granville wilt, or black root rot. However, there is no commercial variety at present which carries high resistance to Fusarium wilt or the root knot organism.

In general, Oxford 1 and some of the Vesta strains are recommended for shank-infested soils. The exact choice depends on several factors. For areas in which wilt is prevalent, the grower has but one choice—Oxford 28; and for soils infested with black root rot, Yellow Special and 400 are the best varieties to use.

Martins Lose To Woodland Stars

The Williamston Martins dropped a hard-fought game with the second place Woodland All-Stars last night in Woodland, 72 to 55. A large crowd saw one of the fast game of the season with Jesse Parker being the high scorer with 25 points.

Due to two flat tires the Martins did not floor the first team until the second quarter at which time the winners had a 21 point margin. This team played good ball and scored 11 points more than the winners in the second half but could not close the gap.

The Martins will play the famous House of David team here tonight in the local gymnasium at 8:15.

Lions' Directors Discuss Projects

The Board of Directors of the Williamston Lions Club held the first meeting of the New Year at the home of Lion Shag Abernathy last Thursday evening with Lion President Wheeler Manning presiding.

The mid-winter convention to be held at Rocky Mount January 19, was the major item of business to be discussed. The board decided to recommend to the club that the majority of the Green Wave Band be transported to Rocky Mount in one bus and the rest be transported in automobiles of those Lions who are to attend. The bus, private automobiles, and trucks transporting band instruments will all leave the High School together and will move to Rocky Mount in a body. Efforts are being made to secure a State Highway patrolman to lead the procession. All vehicles will carry proper Lion insignia and will be identified as from Williamston. Lion Manning announced the various committees who are to make arrangements for the band and members after they reach Rocky Mount. Committees for building the float, decorating automobiles, etc., were also announced.

Lion Claude Goodman who is leaving Williamston to accept a position in Greenville, N. C., February 1, tendered his resignation as 1st Vice-president and chairman of the sight conservation committee. Lion Goodman reported that Christmas gifts had been sent to Mrs. Laura Miller, local case worker for the blind, and Jim Manning, county youth who has aided the club several times in its blind work. The directors were advised that approximately 65 Christmas Cheer baskets and gifts distributed Christmas day to individuals and families who otherwise would have faced a cheerless Christmas. The directors extended a vote of thanks to the Christmas Cheer Committee for its splendid work, and to Mr. W. E. Dudley for his timely donation of six bushels of apples to be distributed in the Christmas Cheer packages.

After Coca-Cola was served by Host Abernathy the meeting was adjourned.
