Troop 27
Members of Troop 27 met Tuesday evening at 7:15 for their regular meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Buddy Fussell and was opened by the Pledge of Allegiance and one verse of "America." The devotional was read by James Pittman and Billy Dudley led the group in repeating "The Lord's Prayer." Dues were collected.

Scoutmaster Little Bear introduced Dick Herring, assistant scout master of Troop 84 in Plymouth, guest at the meeting.

It was decided that each boy would bring in comic books and western books to the next Scout meeting. These books will be sent to the Veterans' Hospital. The boys voted to send a year's subscription to Life magazine to the Veterans' Hospital.

The treasurer reported that the troop has $28.00 in the treasury. Several suggestions were made as to what purpose the money should be used for. The patrol had a 10 minute session to discuss their problems.

Following the brief business session Eddie Daniels, Jimmy Taylor and Little Bear led the troop members in some scout songs.

A written report from each patrol on how the patrol stands has been required to be handed in each Tuesday.

Our guest, Dick Herring, was asked to give the bad and good points of our troop. In giving constructive criticism of the patrols Mr. Herring considered the Indian patrol the better of the two.

Coffee Is Scarce Even In Brazil

The recurring plaint of a 1948 song hit echoed the fact that they had "an awful lot of coffee in Brazil." Well, no longer, apparently. The result is that the famous five-cent cup of coffee, along with the nickel cigar and bus ride, is slated to climb to a dime. At retail levels, coffee may boil up to $1-a-pound peaks by the end of the year—better grades have already soared to 60 cents and up marks, and this is "only the beginning," say coffee dealers.

The current coffee price spiral is grounded in two main causes: a big drop in production and a fast-growing increase in demand. According to some reports, almost half of the Brazilian crop has been destroyed by drought. In Guatemala, the world's second biggest coffee-producer, floods have been the culprit. Add to these factors a world coffee demand that's now nearly on a level with maximum potential output and you have a 1950 production outlook that shapes up as away below par—some 5,000,000 bags below, in fact. All this makes coffee addicts grumble in their cups. It's also giving plenty of headaches to restaurateurs—10-cent coffee will hurt their business, but they can no longer sell it profitably for a nickel.

An editor asked his readers to send in remarks on the subject, "Books that have helped me." One of the replies was: "My mother's cookbook and my father's check-book."—Anon.
