Thirty-Six At Cancer Clinic

Thirty-six persons were examined in the Cancer Detection Diagnostic Clinics yesterday, when the clinics were held for the 13th time at the Board of Health office in Rocky Mount.

A total of 45 persons called at Turner.

J. S. Turner, who has been in Lexington, Ky., for some months has returned home.

The Clinics, and priorities were issued to the 9 that could not be taken at that time. These priorities were issued to these persons and distributed over several future clinics so that they will not return en masse and block the next two clinics. Additional persons can be cared for at each succeeding Wednesday clinic.

The 36 persons examined consisted of five white men, twenty-five white women, four negro women and two negro men. Only two of the examinees had been referred to the clinic by a physician. Persons examined represented Rocky Mount and outlying areas, Fayetteville, Williamston, Lenoir, Tarboro, Elm City, Stantonsburg, Kelford and Castalia.

In order that those who live at a distance may be sure of an examination when they come to the clinic and thus not make a trip in vain, priorities will be issued on request to anyone living twenty miles or more from Rocky Mount. Requests for these priorities should be addressed to: Cancer Control Center, Municipal Building, Rocky Mount, North Carolina.

These clinics are operated by the Edgecombe-Nash Medical Society, in cooperation with the State Board of Health and the local chapter of the American Cancer Society. They are to serve the northeastern section of North Carolina.
