

Legislator Tells The Real Story Of Frank Graham

(Continued from page one) Successful after four tries when he made it into the U. S. Marine Corps; his distinguished scholastic record, his progress as president of the University; his service under Roosevelt in the Indonesian situation and his eminent national position as U. S. Senator from North Carolina.

Questions were invited from the floor, and one sought the truth of Willis Smith's reported opposition in 1947 to the 46-cent minimum wage, now being denied by Smith forces.

"It happened that in 1947 I was a signer of bill No. 1 setting this minimum wage, and a member of the Labor Committee before which a hearing was held," Umstead said.

"I remember quite well that Willis Smith, acting as lawyer for a client, appeared to protest this minimum wage, as unreasonable and unfair." Concerning FEPC, he declared "Frank Graham has said he will never vote for any compulsory anti-segregation law, and he would not lie to gain the U. S. Senatorship nor anything else. He has done more than any other man to protect this State from such suits as those which recently came up before the Supreme Court by working hard to assure Negro students of facilities equal to those for whites, in those splendid schools of their own, North Carolina College at Durham and A. T. and T. at Greensboro. We have had good race relations in this State, and if you will look closely at the backgrounds of those injecting the race issue into this campaign, this throwing us 30 years back in our progress, you will find that they have no abiding interest in our State and no real love for her."

Medium-Size Vote Is Predicted For Primary Saturday

(Continued from page one) 3,500 or 3,600. The race between Anderson and Corey is certain to have much effect on the size of the vote, but interest in the other contest has subsided considerably in the minds of many voters.

In the State, it is predicted that the count will hover in the neighborhood of 400,000 votes. In quite a number of counties there are local contests and the vote is expected to hold up, but in others it is almost certain to drop to a low point.

While the county has moved along in a smooth way, the U. S. Senate race has been bogged down in contemptible smearing, warped facts and inflated claims, all designed to add confusion and hide the real issue.

Smothered under the mud deluge, quite a few voters declare they are washing their hands of the whole business.

Jimmy Wallace to Green Wave Band Attend Boy Scout Draws First Place Nation'l Jamboree Tie At Charlotte

(Continued from page one) A band to represent the State at the national convention in Chicago has not been selected by the Lions as yet, it was said. Unless a ruling concerning the number of instruments should exclude W.L. Williams, it still has a chance at the bid.

Recreation Director Jimmy Wallace announced today that he has been asked to go to Valley Forge to the National Boy Scout Jamboree on the Regional Staff representing the South-eastern states, and he has decided to accept the position to serve in the double capacity of Medical Aid and Publicity man for the East Carolina Council.

The Jamboree, a get-together of Scouts from all over the nation takes place every fifteen of twenty years. The last one was held in Washington in 1937. President Harry S. Truman will make an address at the Jamboree on the opening day. Other dignitaries will wander over the grounds of Valley Forge Park just outside Philadelphia during the 10-day event comprising 47,000 Boy Scouts from Puget Sound to Key West.

Jimmy had previously planned to go to Camp Charles, and regrets that he has been called elsewhere. However, he is asking someone to substitute for him, and is contacting Mr. Kelly Abeyounis, local teacher who will be at Camp Charles at that time. As a general rule, most of the boys go to Camp Charles are accompanied by adults and it is the practice of the camp officials to assign a Junior Leader to each group. In the past, this routine has been highly successful.
