Ceremony In Bethel Saturday Unites Miss Whitehurst and Mr. Tarkington

METHODIST CHURCH IS SCENE OF THE DOUBLE RING CEREMONY

The wedding of Miss Martha Vivian Whitehurst, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clayton Whitehurst, Sr., of Bethel and Robert Edward Tarkington, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Tarkington, Sr., of Windsor, was solemnized in a lovely candlelight ceremony on Saturday, July 8, in the Bethel Methodist Church. Rev. N. W. Grant performed the double ring ceremony at five o'clock.

Greens and ferns made a background for white cathedral tapers in branched candelabras arranged amid baskets of white gladioli. White satin ribbon and gladioli marked the pews for the two families.

Mrs. W. J. Smith, organist, and Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst, soloist and sister-in-law of the bride, rendered a program of nuptial music. Mrs. Whitehurst sang "I Promise You" by Lerner and Bakland and "I Promise You" by Bleecker and Ball. Mrs. Smith played "To a Wild Rose" while the vows were being spoken. "Oh Perfect Love" was sung by Mrs. Whitehurst as a benediction. The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

The bride entered the church accompanied by her brother, George W. Whitehurst, who gave her in marriage. She wore an original gown of nylon marquisette fashioned with a portrait neckline edged with a bertha of chantilly lace and trim of seed pearl. A peplum of chantilly lace encircled the waist and extended down the front panels of the bouffant skirt which ended in a circular train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a halo of pleated illusion and pearlized calla lilies. She carried a bouquet of white bride's roses showered with stephanotis.

Miss Anne Whitehurst of Bethel, niece of the bride, was maid of honor and only attendant. Her gown was of Nile green marquisette, with a ruffled bertha, fitted bodice, and a double ruffle around the bouffant skirt which was worn over hoops. She carried a colonial bouquet of mixed summer flowers, predominantly lavender and yellow.

Richard Tarkington, brother of the bridegroom served as best man. Ushers were Wallace Tarkington and Merritt Tarkington, also brothers of the bridegroom. Clyde Tarkington, a cousin, and Lee Whitehurst, Jr., nephew of the bride.

Mrs. J. L. Whitehurst, sister-in-law of the bride, representing the bride's mother, wore a gown of black lace and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Samuel Corwell, sister of the groom, served in place of his mother. She wore a gown of grey chiffon and a corsage of red carnations.

Mrs. Walter Clayton Whitehurst and Mrs. Robert Joseph Whitehurst were mistresses of ceremonies.

The bride was graduated from East Carolina Teachers College and also attended Duke University and the College of William and Mary. For the past two years she has taught in the schools of Williamston.

The bridegroom attended Bingham Military Academy and Duke University. For the past several years he has been associated with the Charles H. Jenkins Co. of Williamston.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Whitehurst entertained at a reception at their home in Bethel. The home was decorated throughout with gladioli, gardenias, and magnolias, and burning white tapers.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gurganus who directed them into the living room where they were introduced to the receiving line. Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Tarkington directed the guests to the dining room. The table from which individual cakes, molded ice cream, nuts and mints were served was covered with a white cutwork table cloth of Irish linen, centered with white tapers in silver candelabra and an arrangement of gardenias banked around a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. George Whitehurst served the cakes and Mrs. R. L. Boling served the ice cream. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Ralph Highsmith, Mrs. Mance Edmondson, Miss Ola Nell Edmondson, Miss Becky Keel, Miss Janie Ruth Edmondson, and Miss Lecky McWhorter.

Rev. and Mrs. Grant directed the guests into the hall, where Mr. and Mrs. Abbott McWhorter served punch from a beautifully appointed table. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brown invited the guests into the middle living room where Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tarkington presided over the register. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tadlock, Jr., received in the gift room. Goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Latham.

Cake Cutting
On Friday night, July 7, Mrs. Walter C. Whitehurst and Mrs. R. J. Whitehurst entertained the wedding party at a cake cutting at which time, the attendants were remembered with gifts chosen for them by the bride and bridegroom. The house was beautifully decorated throughout with the mixed arrangements of gladioli, shasta daisies, and fever few. The dining room table was covered with a white Irish linen cutwork cloth, and surrounded by nosegays attached to the ribbons on the table was the bride's cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. It was flanked by silver candelabra containing epergnettes filled with gardenias. After the first slice of cake was cut by the bride and groom, Mrs. L. J. Whitehurst served the cake and Mrs. Sam Corwell served the molded ice cream. On the terrace Miss Martha Cromartie poured punch from a crystal bowl banked by gardenias. Miss Jenny Lee Whitehurst passed nuts and mints to the guests.

Since the announcement of her engagement Mrs. Tarkington has been entertained at bridge parties given by: Mrs. George Whitehurst, Mrs. Woolard Peel, Mrs. Buck Ayers and Mrs. Harry Hardy, of Everetts; Mrs. S. C. Whitehurst, Mrs. W. J. Smith, Mrs. J. L. Brown, Mrs. Leland Andrews, and Mrs. W. J. Maya of Bethel; and Mrs. Fred Lyon and Miss Martha Cro-

Miss Anderson, given in marriage by her father, wore an original wedding gown of ivory duchess satin, designed by Miriam of New York. The gown, styled with a moulded bodice, was fashioned with a yoke of sheer marquisette formed a lovely lily motif at one side of the yoke. The bodice was buttoned in the back with small satin covered buttons which extended from the neckline to the waist and the long fitted sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her full bouffant skirt featured a pleated satin inset in the center front, topped with a seed pearl lily medallion identical to that on the yoke, side hoops, and fell into graceful folds that ended in a full length, cathedral train. Her bridal veil of imported French illusion fell from a closely fitting tucked cap and was fastened on each side with medallions of seed pearls, in lily design. The bride carried a white covered Bible topped with white roses and showered with white satin ribbons and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Jack Riley was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue lace and net with a fitted bodice and a full skirt over hoops. The bridesmaids, Miss Grace Ross of Aurora and Miss Mary Dean Hardison, wore pink gowns identical in style to that of the matron of honor. All of Miss Anderson's attendants wore head circlets of matching net caught on the left side with a bow and a flower. They carried cascade bouquets of gladioli and blue delphinium.

The flower girl was little Miss Judy Riley, niece of the bride. She wore a full length gown of silk organza over pink taffeta trimmed in matching chantilly lace and velvet ribbon. She carried a white basket filled with rose petals.
