Dear Patrons:
As manager of the VICCAR THEATRE it gives me great pleasure to tell you that this city has been honored by being chosen for early advance showing of "Stars In My Crown," M. G. M.'s production representing a typical American town and its people with its fighting two-gun parson Gray. He was a man whose words were loaded as well as his guns. You'll understand why "Stars In My Crown" has been already hailed as one of the finest pictures of 1950 when you see it at the Viccar today or tomorrow.

It has been awarded Parent's Magazine's medal for Outstanding Merit. It is based on Saturday Evening Post's serial and book written by Joe David Brown and stars Joel McCrea, Ellen Drew and Dean Stockwell.

I personally consider "Stars In My Crown" exceptionally fine entertainment and I urge you to see it now.

Sincerely,
The Management
VICCAR THEATRE
