Let's You And Him Do It

Just prior to the last war, a big portion of big industry literally "pulled" one of the biggest strikes in history when it refused to convert to war schedules until the government met stiff terms on profits and taxes.

There's been no similar charge advanced so far in the present period of unrest. However, industry is calling for orders without controls. While the big boys demand freedom of action for themselves they are calling for no-strike pledges from labor, and admonishing the masses for hoarding.

Little or nothing has been heard to come from behind the big mahogany desks remotely suggesting a non-profiteering pledge. Nothing has been said about calling off disgusting politics for the duration.

It is the same old situation where the big-mouthed shout, "let's you and him fight!"

The Day Is Not Lost

If I have moved a single grain of sand
This day to help my fellow man,
If I have brought one stray into the fold,
Or sent a ray of hope to one lonely soul
Like a sunbeam in a prison cell;
Or on the desert sands a water well
To quench his anguish on the way of life,
Or ease his heart's reek in the battle
strife—
This day is not lost.

—Patricia Soito.

Calling For Gravy

The coal industry appears to be greatly upset because it is granted approximately 27 percent depletion allowance and it is favored with only five percent. The coal operators are calling for more gravy, but do not even suggest that the depletion allowance for oil is too much.

It is getting a bit complicated when an industry is allowed a fair profit, and then this or that favor is allowed.

The coal case is not too different from the monkey business carried on by some agencies in the financial world. They comply with the six percent interest law, but then turn and charge an outrageous service fee and sell insurance out of proportion to needs just to declare a 10- or 15-cent dividend at the end of the year.

Disgusting

The U. S. Senate has voted to lend Franco, Spain's ruthless dictator, one hundred million dollars. The action is disgusting.

They say it is vital in the fight against Communism. Possibly that is true, but how about those people who have been persecuted on account of their religious beliefs? Will they think much of the action? After fighting a costly war to check facism, it does not now make sense to join up with facism to fight Communism.

It does not seem that we could take on a banner that represents consistency, fairness and justice and march forward under it, and stop playing one thing against another thing.

Amounts To About the Same Thing

Back yonder Grandpa found time to take down his muzzle loader, mold a fresh supply of bullets, measure out the right amount of powder and pour it down the barrel, place a bullet on a patch and ram it home with a hickory rod, put a cap on the nipple and then go hunting. Grandpa had time to make the slow preparations, but possibly he did not have to spend hours looking for game.

Now, the sportsman goes out with his repeater with nothing to do but shift the safety - and look and look for game. The time spent by Grandpa making preparations for the hunt possibly was not as long as the time spent by the modern hunter searching for game. But one about offsets the other, meaning that we are not so far ahead of Grandpa, after all.

Review Of Sales On Market Here

If those people who say they never heard of the tobacco market opening on a Friday, will think right hard they'll remember the markets opened on a Friday last year. The market opened here with a poundage bang! The records show that 383,156 pounds were sold for an average price of $48.36.

On opening day, 1946, the market sold 284,404 pounds for an average of $53.14. In 1947, opening day, 245,554 pounds were sold for $44.90 per hundred pounds. The opening on August 19, 1946, saw 20,462 pounds sell for $54.26, and on the opening in 1945, 249,284 pounds were sold for an average price of $43.53.

A review of season sales and prices averages for the past five years on the local market follows: 1945—11,278,890 pounds, $44.14 average; 1946—10,974,674 pounds $41.19 average; 1948—9,185,020 pounds, $48.44 average; and 1949—8,910,898 pounds, $49.05 average.

Things To Watch For In the Future

Versatile new lightweight sandals serve either as bedroom slippers or beach shoes, can also be used in tub or shower. They're unaffected by grease, sand and abrasives, corrosive chemicals and temperature changes. And you can dry them instantly by simply shaking off the water. . . . You'll get tastier fruit juices with a shaker which holds just enough water and air to dilute and refresh the concentrated juice from a six-ounce can. A special lip permits pouring without dripping. . . . For both adults and children, a miniature electric organ weighs only four pounds, is about the same size as a table-model radio. . . . Chewing gum is the latest thing to get the ammoniated treatment. Sounds like a natural.
