

Minimum Of Eight Persons Are Hurt But None Fatally

The dangerous business was continued about 9:30 a. m. Saturday when a 1946 Chevrolet truck belonging to the G and H Builders' Supply Company, went out of control and turned over near the State Highway and Public Works Commission Prison camp. It was reported by Patrolman B. W. Parker that the truck was loaded with wood, that the dump body came unfastened and the load shifted, causing the driver to lose control. No one was hurt and damage was comparatively slight, the officer estimating it at about $25.

Twelve hours later, almost to the minute, the wrecks started piling up again. Mrs. J. D. Page had parked her 1941 Dodge facing east on West Main Street in the 500 block Howell Warren, Sr., driving east and apparently blinded by approaching traffic, plowed into the rear of the Dodge with his 1939 Ford, causing about $400 damage to each car, according to reports from local police who investigated the accident. After the Dodge was hit in the rear, it was knocked into a phone pole, leaving both ends badly smashed. Warren suffered a slight knee injury.

While Officers Modlin, Jones and Perry were clearing up that accident, William O. Dawes, RFD 2, Robersonville, drove up from the east, and obeying the law, brought his 1938 Chevrolet to a stop. Arthur Edmondson, Williamston filling station employee, was following Dawes, and for some reason, failed to see the warning light on the wrecker and the flashlight signals waved by the officers, and plowed into the rear of the Chevrolet with his 1950 Plymouth, doing about $50 damage to the Dawes car and about $400 to his. In addition to a severe head injury, Edmondson was hurt on one knee. He got out of his car and walked around a few minutes, explaining to officers that he was not hurt much. A short time later he collapsed and was removed to a local hospital for treatment. Edmondson says the last thing he remembers about the wreck was that he saw the lights to late to stop, but that he applied his brakes. He regained consciousness early Sunday morning but continues in the hospital, the extent of his injuries not yet definitely known.

While the Williamston officers were handling the Main Street wrecks, Patrolman M. F. Powers officiated at the last one for the day over in Williams Township on U. S. Highway 64 at 10:00 o'clock. Blinded by rain and bright lights, Alexander James of Plymouth, driving Theophilus Cooper's 1949 Hudson, sideswiped William D. Barnes' 1941 Ford sedan, causing about $200 damage to each car, the patrol officer said.

Sunday noon a 1941 Ford, driven by Louise Williams of Robersonville, and a 1949 Ford truck tractor, owned by the Asphalt Service Company and driven by Jeffrey Taylor, crashed at a dirt road intersection a short distance from Robersonville. No one was hurt and damage was limited to $50 on the car, according to Patrolman R. P. Narron who made the investigation.

In an Oak City street Sunday evening at 6:15 o'clock, Sol Baker, colored man, crashed into the side of a Ricks bus, doing about $50 damage to the bus and $25 damage to his 1939 Ford. Baker did not stop and was booked for hit-and-run driving. Patrolman R. P. Narron said.

A sign-off for the day came about 8:30 o'clock Sunday evening when a log truck sideswiped a car in front of the Carver Theatre on Williamston's Washington Street. Officers are still investigating the case with a hit-and-run charge all ready for the log truck driver.

The total property damage approximated $4,000.

Initiate Deputy In Method Of Liquor Law Enforcement

That afternoon, the officers struck in Williamston Township, not far from the State Highway Prison camp, and upset a 50 gallon drum still and five fermenters, pouring out 200 gallons of mash.

On Wednesday of last week, two partial distilleries were found and wrecked in the Free Union section of Jamesville township. The raiders poured out 200 gallons of mash at each plant.

Going back to Jamesville Township and raiding near Dardens, the officers climaxed the series of raids when they found a ten-gallon copper ham boiler converted into a liquor still. They poured out 50 gallons of mash there.

Youthful Pianist Has Fine Record

coming to the United States and his sensational New York debut.

Immediately after his first New York concert, he was interviewed by Life, Time, and Newsweek magazines. The news of his fame spread so quickly that he was at once engaged to appear with the Dallas, San Antonio, and Houston Symphony Orchestras under Dorcaci, Reiter, and Kurtz. Many recital appearances in American cities, large and small, have confirmed the verdict of the New York press that here is a young, personable, modest, and immensely gifted pianist who is "destined to make a big stir in the musical world for years to come."

Patients In The Martin General

The following were listed among the patients in Martin General Hospital this morning:

- Mrs. Eva Perry of Jamesville, Mrs. William Scott of RFD 1, Oak City, Miss Ethel Williams of Williamston, Mrs. Wm. Whitehurst of Oak City, W. L. House of Robersonville, J. D. Ward of Bear Grass, Mrs. Oscar Harrison of Williamston, Ben Roberson of Robersonville, Arthur Modlin of Jamesville, Wright Clark of Vanceboro, Arthur Edmondson of Williamston, Mrs. James Carroll Williams and infant son, RFD 1, Williams-ton.

Sandy MacTightish sent the doctor's bill to his father-in-law when the doctor told him his wife's tonsils should have been removed when she was a little girl.

The word grocer originally meant one who sold by the gross, or wholesale.
