By Accident

Robert Taft might get the Presidential nomination at the hands of the Republicans, but if he ever reaches the White House it will be by accident. The man is running no true course, and his destination will be reached only if he stumbles upon it.

He changes his course more often with the wind, and each change is occasioned to favor the line of least resistance. He goes along one day with a guy named McCarthy, the fellow who covers up one falsehood with another, and the next day he moves away from him.

His record on foreign affairs is contradictory, leaving few knowing just where he stands or what he would do should he be elected. On the domestic front he is safe at home with the old conservative group who favor lower taxes for the rich and higher taxes for the poor, subsidies for the corporations and no consideration for the little guys.

He plays up to the South on one hand and sends out bales of literature for distribution in the North, proclaiming a firm stand in support of FEPC and civil rights.

In all that maze of facts and confusion, Taft might reach the White House, but it will be only because he just stumbled into it.

Irresponsible

There appears to have been some irresponsibility behind the action taken by the American Legion at its recent meeting in Miami. Some have suggested that Louis Johnson, the deposed head of the Department of Defense, had a hand in proposing the virtual "overthrow" of the government. It is bad enough when behind the mask of politics one suggests tearing his government to pieces, but it is really disturbing to see a great organization in a duly constituted meeting take such action as that advanced in the Florida city. While irresponsible ones are trying to tear down the government they should stop and think that peace and everything else that's good in the sight of righteous man can be had by cooperation. Some have overlooked the fact that the State Department could be right in its policy, that there are some irresponsible ones who would wreck the Department just for spite, knowing the department is right.

Caught In The Middle

Other than those who worked or connived for individual gain, there are quite a few who are being caught in the middle in Washington.

A constituent goes to Washington, seeking an RFC loan. An appeal is made to a congressman or friend in the capital for guidance and help. If the congressman or friend does not respond and help the constituent, their willingness to serve is questioned. If the congressman even as much as introduces the prospective borrower, he is branded as an influence peddler.

It has just about reached the point where it is unsafe for a public servant to even speak or nod his head for fear ne will be branded as a communist sympathizer or an influence peddler. Little has been said about those who have gone to bat in the tax rooms for special tax concessions or depletion allowances for the few or worked for the big hand-outs to big corporations under the amortization scheme.

Pockets Instead of Pocket Books

Of course, to even mention it would make him appear as a bull in a China shop, but why in the world hasn't some fashion designer come out with skirt pockets.

Since the members of the fair sex have taken over so many places for years reserved for the men, it would seem only reasonable for them to have pockets in their skirts and rule out the purchase of so everlastingly many pocket books. It's a new pocket book every time there's a new dress, shoe or hat. It is even alleged that some start out with a new pocket book or handbag and buy coat, dress, hat and shoes to match.

One Big Cat Fight

The appointment of General Mark Clark to the Vatican is rapidly developing into one big cat fight with the religious leaders stirring up a stink smelling to high heaven. There are those who are sincere in their stand against the appointment. Then there are those who are making capital of the political angle.

Those who can see in the appointment a political advantage are for it. And then one wonders if the religious issue would have been such a hot subject had the brand been of a different sect.

Maybe, we need more religion in state affairs, but it will have to be nurtured by the individual and come about by an indirect route, and not by a direct tie with any certain group or sect.

The damage being caused in the religious world will greatly overshadow any possible good that can come from the appointment of an ambassador to the domain of the Pope in Rome.

The Tax Bill

Byrd and Company, carrying the reactionary-conservative banner, really scored with a lop-sided and wholly inadequate tax bill before quitting Washington a short time ago ... ......

It was Byrd who led the group in talking about a "pay-as-you-go" policy. But when it came time to act, they

Eliminated a proposed increase in capitalgains, rates,

Gave a better advantage to the wealthy on income tax rates.

Wiped out the provision for withholding on dividends.

Made a sieve out of the tax plan by allowing escape provisions on excess profits taxes.

And passed around a juicy plum pie sweetened with millions for depletion.

When the pay-as-you-go crowd got through mutilating the tax bill, they had whittled it down by nearly two billion dollars-mostly for the big fellows.

The end of learning is to know God, and out of that knowledge to love him, and to imitate him, as we may the nearest, by possessing our souls of true virtue.-Milton. How empty learning, how vain is art, but as it mends the life and guides the heart. --Young.

Speaking before a group a short time ago, a politician defended the Security Act and went on to say that too much attention should not be paid to those who "would wreck reputations by innuendo."

If the record is recalled correctly, the same fellow who was doing that talking figured prominently in one of those innuendo campaigns not too long ago. And while he is in position to know the ruthless meaning of such tactics, it is appaling to hear him brazenly mention such tactics. Any man who can gain an end by such means and then even warn against such tactics was, no doubt, conveniently born without a conscience and has no business in a position of trust.

Hard To Believe

It is hard to believe that the president of a great university would resort to falsehoods to gain publicity for himself or discredit his fellow man.

The evidence as released from recognized sources clearly indicates that Harold Stassen either has a faulty memory or else he deliberately misrepresented the truth in an effort to discredit Phillip Jessup who was named as a delegate to the United Nations.

It is evident that something's rotten besides in Denmark. And those poor creatures with weak knees in the United States Senate who would stand by and join in the lowdown business should be relieved of their duties.

The Dawn

Look to this day, for it is life, the very life of life. In its brief course lie all the verities and realities of your existence; the bliss of growth, the glory of action, the splendor of beauty. For yesterday is but a dream, and tomorrow is but a vision, but today well lived makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope. Look well, therefore, to this day.-The Ohio Mason.

"There is not enough darkness in the whole world to put out the light of a single candle."--Anonymous.
