You can make a party or tea or even a family supper a truly festive occasion this time of the month by carrying out a Washington's Birthday theme.

For a simple but effective table centerpiece, you might use two figurines of a colonial lady and gentleman, with little name plates: "George and Martha."

Or, if you don't happen to have the figurines, make your own centerpiece: A Washington cherry tree. It's easy to do and the cost is practically nil. You simply stick some gracefully bent dried tree branches in a red flower pot. Then hang the bare branches with cherries, made by covering cotton balls with gathered circles of red crepe paper. Use brown yarn for stems, some green crepe paper leaves and a few cherries dropped under the tree add to the effect.

If you serve ice cream top it with a cherry on a tiny lighted red candle. Cherry ice cream itself fits the occasion.

Any bright red punch will look pretty for a Washington's Birthday affair. Punch made with cranberry juice has an especially good color.

Today's recipe is for Wash-ton's Cherry Cookies. You'll find them good with either punch or ice cream.

But before we go on to the recipe, remember this: Little touches of glamour like those described above are not meant only for parties and special affairs. Used occasionally for everyday meals, they add interest to food and will spike both your family's appetites and their morale.

Washington's Cherry Cookies

1-2 c. butter
6 tbl. sugar
1 egg
1-4 tsp. vanilla
1 1-2 c. cake flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1-2 c. chopped nuts
Maraschino cherries
1-2 tsp. lemon extract
Cream butter, add sugar, beat until creamy. Add egg yolk and mix thoroughly. Add vanilla and lemon extract; then sifted flour and baking powder. Take the dough and form small balls the size of a quarter, dip them in the unbeaten egg white, then into a saucer of chopped nuts. Make a dent in the center and place 1-2 Maraschino cherry in it. Place on greased cookie sheet about 1 inch apart.

Bake 15 minutes at 375 degrees F.
Makes 25 cookies.

Choosing Your Silver

Choosing your silver? With all the hopes and dreams for the future that go with it, it's a pleasant task. Of course you want to pick the most beautiful and most suitable pattern you can. Some of the following pointers should help.

Formal Church Wedding Unites Miss Peggy Gray and J. A. Sharp

made a beautiful picture as she descended the church aisle with her father by whom she was escorted and given in marriage.

Prior to the ceremony Miss Jeanine Taylor, organist and Mrs. T. R. Andrews, of Bethel, soloist presented a program of nuptial music. Mrs. Andrews sang "All For You" and "If God Left Only You." The traditional wedding professional and recessional were used. During the ceremony, Miss Taylor softly played "O Perfect Love". For the benediction, Mrs. Andrews sang "The Wedding Benediction."

Miss Gray wore a gown of candlelight satin with yoke and front panel of Brussels lace. Her full length veil of Brussels and rose-print lace was attached to a cap of matching lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

Miss Nina Gray of Robersonville, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. John C. Watson, Jr., of Greensboro, matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Eutha Sharp of Harrellsville, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Wilton Sears of Emporia, Va., cousin of the bridegroom.

All the attendants wore dresses of cream satin with portrait necklines, hoop skirts and short trains. They carried cascade bouquets of red carnations and red satin ribbons.

Miss Sallie Wingate Mountcastle of Weldon, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress was of white taffeta with an overshirt of frosted net. She carried a white basket of rose petals.

Candles were lighted by Julius Budaez and Gaston Andrews, Jr., cousins of the bride.

C. Edward Sharp was his brother's best man. Ushers were Hunter Sharp, Jr., of Ahsokie and Wayland Barnes of Colerain, cousins of the bridegroom, Capt. Hunter L. Sharp of Falls Church, Va., brother of the bridegroom, and John Richard Matthews, Jr., Robersonville.

The bride's mother wore a lace dress of periwinkle blue and a purple throated orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of mist blue lace and crepe with an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained at a reception at their home.

Attractive arrangements of tulips, snapdragons, carnations and fern were used throughout the home. White candles in silver holders shed a soft light over all.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayo Little greeted the guests and introduced them to the receiving line. Mr. and Mrs. Gray, the bride's parents, Mrs. Sharpe, mother of the groom, the bride and groom, Mrs. Jack Watson, matron of honor, Miss Nina Gray, maid of honor, Mrs. Wilton Sears and Miss Eutha Sharp, bridesmaids, formed the receiving line.

Mrs. A. E. James invited the guests to the library where Mrs. E. B. Graham of Dunn, N. C. served punch. Mrs. Hugh Roberson directed them to the dining room. The table, covered with an imported cutwork cloth, was centered with a beautiful arrangement of white roses, mums, snapdragons and fern centered with a miniature bride and groom standing under an arch of wedding bells. On either end of the table were antique silver trays from which bridal ices and cakes were served by Mrs. Geneva Weaver and Mrs. James Mountcastle of Weldon. Mrs. H. T. Herring, Jr., of Walsenburg and Mrs. Roscoe Downs served with them.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Kilpatrick received in the gift room where the tables were covered with pink linen and a profusion of pink snapdragons, carnations and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gray presided at the register. Mrs. J. H. Gray, Sr., Mrs. J. R. Matthews and Mrs. Pitt Roberson received groom present from Hertford County, Chowan County and Bertie County.

The Sharp-Gray wedding party was honored at a cake-cutting, immediately following the rehearsal, by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gray, Sr., and Miss Nina Gray. Throughout the Gray home, thrown ensuite, were lovely floral arrangements of tulips, snapdragons, and carnations. At one end of the dining room table, covered with a handsome cutwork cloth, was the beautiful three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom; at the opposite end was an old-fashioned nosegay of white chrysanthemums and gladiolus. The traditional bridal tokens, attached to white ribbon streamers, were pulled from the cake by each of the attendants. The bride and groom-cut the first slice of cake, after which Mrs. Charles Gray served the guests. The punch bowl was presided over by Miss Mildred Everett. Approximately 60 friends, relatives and the wedding party were present for the occasion.

You need to consider the contours of the pieces themselves. They should be graceful and lovely in shape, well balanced and well proportioned.

The design used on the silver should also be well balanced and proportioned, should be flowing and rhythmic, with only one or two points of emphasis.

The kind of finish used on silver is a factor to consider. Some silver is finished with a very bright and shiny effect, which can cheapen even the best design. It is better to choose a satiny lustrous finish. It gives a feeling of richness.

On good silver, the surfaces are well polished, the corners of the forks are smoothly rounded, and the prongs are slim. Handles are comfortable to hold.

Remember to look at all the pieces in the pattern, not just the knife, fork and spoon. You want to be sure you like the serving pieces, salad forks and other such pieces.

It is wise to see a whole table set with the pattern, so you can get the general effect.

Many patterns of silver are discontinued after a certain period of time. You will do well to find out how long a pattern has been on the market and how much longer it is to be made.

A safe rule is to choose reproductions rather than new designs. The old designs have had the approval of time and will be beautiful for years to come.

VOWS SPOKEN IN FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH IN ROBERSONVILLE

The marriage of Miss Peggy Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Gray and Jackson Aske Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Starkey Sharp of Harrellsville, N. C. was solemnized in a formal ceremony, Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock in the First Christian Church of Robersonville. Vows were spoken before the Rev. James M. Perry pastor of the church, using the impressive double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated in the traditional bridal green and white. Baskets filled with white gladioli, calla lilies, snapdragons and mums were used alternately with numerous branched candelabra holding lighted Cathedral candles, with a background of Southern smilax Woodwardia, oregon and lace fern silhouetted with lighted cathedral chandeliers formed a pretty setting for the wedding scene. Pews for the families were marked with bouquets of white roses and fern tied with white ribbon centered with a white candle. A white lane was spread for the bride.

The bride, a lovely brunette,
