Time

Old Father Time knows more than anybody. Why? Because he solves more problems than all the brains in the universe.

Time can bring things to pass that no immediate power can accomplish. Time with its thousand resources can bring about a change in a point of view, in temper, in state of mind which no contention can.

Time is your shrewdest adviser, your best critic and frankest friend.

So—if you want to develop, don't hobble your whole life by immature certainties of youth but give yourself room to change—Learn to labor and—to wait.—Exchange.

Happiness

Happiness is possible only when one is busy. The body must toil, the mind must be occupied, and the heart must be satisfied.

Principles Of Living

Our principles of living depend a great deal upon discipline. Parents first teach their children the difference between right and wrong. Through it we learn to respect others and show respect for ourselves.

Observance of our moral principles is also based upon discipline which directs and assists us to maintain those formalities that adorn our behavior. Each of us has good and evil desires and in order to keep them in check we must employ discipline.

We may safely conclude from all this, that if we observe the right kind of discipline and solemnly follow those noble principle of brotherly love, truth and justice for all, we will thereby make this world a better place in which to live.—Scottish Rite Sun.

Out Of Order

Cleanliness is next to Godliness, but out in Chicago they have more television sets than bathtubs. A report shows 1,360,000 television sets and 1,260,000 bathtubs.

60 Second Sermons

BY FRED DODGE

TEXT: "Conceit may puff up a man, but never prop him up."—Rankin.

A political spokesman was addressing a group of Negro voters when one of them, who tried his best to follow the speaker's reasoning, finally left the hall. Outside a friend asked him.

"Who whar' de speaker?" "Ah don' rightly know," was the reply. "ah jes' didn't git de name. But he suhtainly did 'preciate hissself powerful highly."

It is one thing to "preciate" yourself highly and another thing to strut. No man really amounts to anything unless he does appreciate himself. But the man who feels that he must always let folks know how highly he thinks of himself, betrays his own weakness.

The Letter-Box

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

To The Editor: Dear Sir: On behalf of the Edward's Military Institute Band and Junior Barracks' Crack Platoon I wish to extend thanks and appreciation to the citizens of Williamston for their courtesy and consideration shown us during our visit on October 28, 1953.

The parade itself was one of the nicest and best organized in which we have had the pleasure of participating. Every position was well marked and everyone knew exactly what they were supposed to do; all of the floats and units were very colorful and well placed.

In addition to this, however, the open hearts of the people of Williamston made each of us feel that we were right at home. We sincerely thank each person who had a part in the day's activities.

Philip G. Incoe, Major, Commandant, Salem, N. C. November 10, 1953.

tal, was released Monday, it was reported. Damage to the car was estimated at $1,200 by Patrolman Jack Arthur who made the investigation.

Ronnie Modlin, 19-year-old Jamesville youth, suffered a severe head injury about midnight Saturday when the car in which he was riding with Gene Williams turned over on Highway 54 between Jamesville and Gardner's Creek. Suffering a several-inch cut in his head, Modlin was removed to a Williamston hospital by Bobby Clark for treatment.

His condition was reported much improved this morning and he will be going home shortly. Williams said he dropped off to sleep, ran off the road and lost control of the car.

Shortly after Saturday midnight, Onward James, 21-year-old colored man, lost control of the 1950 Ford owned by Leodus Whitehurst, and turned the machine over on a dirt road in the Free Union section of Jamesville Township. No one was injured, according to Patrolman Carl Gilchrist, who made the investigation and who estimated the damage at $400.

No one was injured and very little damage resulted in a car-school bus accident in the Farm Life community Monday morning.
