That was a very impressive argument used by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale on the American Legion Radio Program "Back To God" just before President Eisenhower spoke. It showed how our liberty rests upon faith in God. When Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Roger Sherman, and Robert Livingstone were drawing up the Declaration of Independence they wrote "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable

Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness." They wanted to base liberty upon a foundation which They knew the history of the world showed the loss of liberty over and over again.

If they said men were endowed with liberty by the majority vote of the people then they knew a majority vote could take it away from a minority. If they said men were endowed with liberty by vote of an assembly or parliament could take it away.

So they chose to base liberty in man's Creator, God. Then nothing in this world could take it away. Hitler had to set up a pagan god of war in the place of the Creator of the Scriptures before he could exterminate men in concentration camps. Stalin had to teach Atheism before he could force peasants into collective farms and Siberian coal mines. Men can not hold to faith in God

Time To Wake Up

It is about time for the people to wake up in this country, to see through the smearing tactics employed in high places in the administration. Despite a solemn warning, the smear artists continue the nefarious business, all the while threatening the interests of the country.

Brownell, Summerfield, and others have charged treason in one way or another. It has been alleged that 2,200 "communists" had been fired from the State Department. It now turns out that respect for the dead was trampeld into the dust, that some of those who were "fired" had died of natural causes. Others had quit one department to be readily accepted in another. Others chose to get out of government because of the totalitarian methods employed by those who are wrecking the country while parading as its saviours. Just how many disioyal persons are in the group of 2.200 cannot be learned, and if an answer is to be prepared by the smear artists the truth will never be known.

There was the Fort Monmouth sensation, and the truth has not yet caught up with the pack of lies. The liars don't bother to explain that they overshot the truth, or to try and act in the name of fairness and truth. They merely keep rolling along, making more charges, telling more lites. And theyare doing it with blessings from the high hierarchy. .

We go on talking about our A bombs and H bombs, knowing full well that there are few or no established battle lines where they can be dropped. The manufacture of conventional weapons is being curtailed when only conventional weapons can prove of value in the Indo-China fight.

But with a balanced budget, they say everything is going to be all right over there and over here, too.

BY FRED DODGE EXT: "Who lives content with little possesses everything."-Boileau

At a Sunday School picnic, little Johnny was stung by a wasp, fell in the water, was badly sunburned and had a terrible stomach-ache. On his arrival home, his mother asked him what kind of a time he had.

"Mother." he said earnestly, "I'm so glad I'm back that I'm glad I went."

Happiness is a visitor. It comes and goes. Contentment will live with you as long as you let it. The small boy expected to be happy on the picnic. Misfortune ended that, but happiness returned when he reached home. We cannot be everlastingly happy through all of life. A thousand influences which we cannot control, will prevent continual happiness. However, experience shows us that we can be content. With the aid of contentment we can lock the door against the withering chill of unhappiness. It helps us to fling wide the door to the welcome warmth of happiness when she comes to visit. Contentment is a pass-key placed in the hands of those who have the wisdom to know themselves; to accept with good grace that which they cannot change and to remember that all sunshine and no rain would create a desert.
