Corroborated

Big business forecasters declare there'll be a rise in the national economy this fall. We have felt the "dip" all along, but the Republican apologists have maintained that there has been no slack in the economy.

It helps wipe out the confusion when the big boys speak out and admit that there has been a slump, and it is encouraging to hear them say that business will turn upward this fall.

Now, if the powers will just come out and say that the little guy is in for smoother sailing, that'll really be encouraging. Regardless of what and who it is good to have the down-to-earth evidence corroborated by the big forecasters.

Going The Other Way

Congressman William S. Hill pointed out in the House of Representatives a few days ago that small business is the backbone of American economic life, and appealed to his colleagues to keep small business strong.

While Mr. Hill talks the country is rushing the other way. The motor industry is merging and small business is being gobbled up at a rapid rate. The present administration in Washington is building monopolies and creating industrial giants that are certain to dictate their own policies at the expense of economic freedom of millions.

Can't Do Business With Them

It is becoming clearer and clearer that the South can't do business with the Republican Party. Even a Republican in the South is treated roughly, holding a position little more advantageous than that of the red-headed stepchild.

H. F. Seawell, the Republican who in the race for governor of North Carolina in November, 1952, polled the largest vote ever polled by a member of his party, was recently kicked in the mouth. Mr. Seawell now admits that it is hard to do business with the Republican party.

North Carolina and the South possibly need a two-party system, but until the Republicans alter their ways and attitudes it is best for this section of the country to string along with the Democrats.

Small But A Gain

Seems as though standardization is being achieved in some sections of the fiscal jungle of Federal bureaucracy. Only three kinds of lead pencils are to be available instead of 11. There is only one type of easy chair now compared to six previously. The present choice is among five sorts of executive desk instead of 28 and among 17 kinds of mimeograph paper as compared with 172.

The changes mentioned, along with numerous others, are expected to save about 2.7 million dollars a year. The gain for the taxpayer may seem small in relation to the spending that goes on in terms of billions, but it is a gain, for all that. The taxpayer is in a position where he is grateful for favors of any size, sort, shape or description.—Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal.

Bargain?

The voters were told in 1952 that it was time for a change up Washington way. A change came, but the people have not been told about the size of the cost of the change.

Farm income in North Carolina dropped from $962,112,000 in 1951 to $827,996,000 in 1953. There are those Republicans who say the $74,116,000 change cost is a bargain.

And the entire bill has not yet been submitted by Messrs. Eisenhower and Benson and Company.

Doctor's Tactic

Denying he plans to scrap the Tennessee Valley Authority, President Eisenhower is employing the doctor's tactic. "It won't hurt," the doctor tells a little child as he makes ready to yank a tooth, take a stitch in tender skin or drive a needle into the hide.

The doctor while not feeling the pain recognizes its presence. It would seem that the President isn't aware of the scuttling that's going on and gaining momentum.

Looking After Their Own

The Republicans can be depended upon to look after their own even if the action leaves the little fellow squirming in poverty and want.

Drought stricken Texas was in line for relief, and relief was extended. Reliable reports show that King Ranch received more than $24,000. Possibly the multi-millionaire was entitled to what was given, but the hand-out proves that the Republicans look after their own.

What The President Said

Decatur (Ala.) Daily "If I am elected President, TVA will be operated and maintained at maximum efficiency. I have taken a keen appreciation of what it has done and what it will be able to continue to do in the future. Under the new administration TVA will continue to serve and promote the prosperity of this great section of the United States." That is the wording of a telegram sent by Candidate Eisenhower to editors of the Knoxville News-Sentinel and the Memphis Press-Scimitar just 2 days before the election in 1952.

We find it difficult to interpret the meaning of that telegram in the light of events which have transpired in the last year and a half. We believe President Eisenhower to be one of the sincerest people in the world. He would not stoop to political chicanery. Yet the wool is certainly being pulled over his eyes by forces which have been in public disrepute for the past 25 years.

Disappointing

Samuel Ervin, North Carolina's latest contribution to the United States Senate, is proving an early disappointment.

It is reported that he has lined up with the Republicans on the power issue, and is ready to follow Eisenhower in helping kill the Tennessee Valley Authority program.

Senator Ervin says he favors the plan whereby the Atomic Energy Commission is to buy power from a private utility even though the deal is being pulled without bids and at an added cost to the taxpayers of an estimated ninety million dollars.

For And Against

The Maritime folks are for and against parities—against where the farmer is concerned and for where they are concerned. They seem to forget it is just as important to produce food and fiber as it is to haul food and fiber across the seas.

Speaking for itself, the Maritime Commission, in its report on "Maritime Subsidy Policy," said:

"The parity concept of subsidy determination... is sound in principle and the best method which has been suggested so far as a basis for direct government aid (to the shipbuilding industry). There is little doubt that the inherent administrative difficulties involved in the determination of the amount of subsidy has discouraged new ship construction. The solution of these difficulties... would remove one of the past obstacles to the construction of new vessels."

The Commission takes the stand just when hundreds of vessels are tied up. Possibly, the shipbuilders need subsidies, but no more than agriculture, and that fact should be clear to all.

Ruled Himself Out

Senator Sam Ervin has during his short stay in Congress ruled himself out as a Democratic candidate to succeed himself in the United States Senate. He has turned his back on the people and kept close company with the opposition, turning his back squarely on the people.

It is too much to be expected but when the State Democratic Executive Committee meets it should look around for another candidate. The people of North Carolina, despite unsavory issues, nominated Kerr Scott, not to vote the way Senator Ervin has been voting but the way the majority of the people want him to vote.

It now looks as if North Carolina politics in Washington will be stalemated for another season with one Senator blotting out the vote of the other.

Senator Ervin may have been sincere in his voting, and the record would be in perfect order had a Republican governor appointed him to the position.
