SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

S. S. Lesson for May 18

BROADENING CHRISTIAN HORIZONS: SAUL'S CONVERSION

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:1-16. GOLDEN TEXT—I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision.—Acts 26:19.

The conversion of Saul is recognized as one of the outstanding events in Bible history. When two brilliant English lawyers, Lord Lyttleton and Sir Gilbert West, set out to disprove the truth of Christianity, they selected the resurrection of Christ and the story of Paul's conversion as the focal points of their proof.

The two events may well stand together as mighty evidence for Christianity, for only on the ground of regeneration can the change in Saul be accounted for, and only on the assurance that he met the risen Christ on the Damascus road can we account for his conversion.

I. Saul, a Bold Persecutor (vv. 1, 2).

As our lesson opens we find the brilliant and zealous young Jew, Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord. The persecutions in Jerusalem had practically wiped out the church in that city, but had scattered the disciples abroad, and thus the witness had been spread. The death of the godly Stephen, to which Saul had given his approval, had only increased his determination to destroy those who were "of the way" of Jesus.

Stricken down by a brilliant heavenly light, he finds himself talking to the Lord Jesus. He hears from His holy lips the solemn indictment of those who persecute God's people—"Why persecutest thou me?"

In a single sentence the Lord discloses of the persecuting zeal and the sinful skepticism of this proud young Pharisee, and Saul enters into Damascus not as the haughty persecutor, but as a man trembling and astonished. He spends three days shut in with his own soul and God, not seeing, not caring to eat, but entering into communion with God.

III. Ananias, an Obedient Disciple (vv. 10-12).

Ananias was the "I am here, Lord" type of Christian to whom the Lord could confidently commit His important business. All we know of him is what is contained in this chapter, but it is a very beautiful and enviable record.

The greatest of all Christian leaders, the apostle Paul, was led out into his life of loyalty and service to Christ by a humble layman. Repeatedly God's Word by precept and example stresses the vital importance of personal work on the part of laymen and women.

IV. Saul, a Chosen Witness (vv. 15, 16).

The fears of Ananias that Saul might still be a worker of evil (v. 13) were soon overcome by God's assurance that in the praying Saul He had prepared for Himself "a chosen vessel" (v. 15) to bear the gospel to the Gentiles and to kings, as well as to Israel.

The great witness of Saul was to be accompanied by great suffering. How often he (as they were in Paul's life) for God's glory. Saul knew nothing of that subtle hypocrisy known as being "a secret believer," at once he made open confession of his faith in baptism, and "straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues that he is the Son of God" (v. 20).

FAIRFIELD HAS IMPRESSIVE, SAD SCHOOL CLOSING

Ten Students Awarded Diplomas by the School Principal

The graduation exercises of the Fairfield high school closed Wednesday evening with the awarding of the diplomas to the graduating class.

The program was one of the most impressive ceremonies to be witnessed in this section during the finals at the different schools. It was woven around the theme "Youth and Its Place in the World Today."

There was no principal speaker, but each graduate spoke on some interesting and important topic. Some of the speeches made were "Scholarship and School Spirit" by Claxton Doughtie, "A Boy's Future" by Maxwell Blake, "Youth and Democracy" by Jacqueline McKenzie, "The Value of a College Education" by Betty Berry, "Why Every Boy and Girl in America Should Visit Washington, D. C." by Alvenus Payne, and "After Graduation, What?" by Grace Smith.

Inez Simmons was class valedictorian and Ira Cuthrell salutatorian. Students awarded honors for outstanding work in various fields were: Eugenie McKenzie, outstanding actor in Hyde County this year; Maxwell Blake, outstanding actor in the Fairfield school for the last four years; Geo. Hardesty (freshman), Eunice Gibbs (sophomore), Nelson Camp (junior) and Grace Smith (senior), outstanding scholars in each class during 1940-41; Inez Simmons, best all round girl; Claxton Doughtie, best all round boy; and Jacqueline McKenzie was mentioned for outstanding work while attending school at Fairfield.

The diplomas were awarded by Principal Robt. Littrell on a stage lighted by candles and draped with an American flag. Each senior lit a candle as they received their diploma. As they marched off the stage a bugleman blew his bugle, the audience sat awed.

Students graduating were Inez Simmons, Ira Cuthrell, Claxton Doughtie, Maxwell Blake, Delbert Cuthrell, Jacqueline McKenzie, Betty Berry, Alvenus Payne, Edna Sexton, and Grace Smith.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT TAKES OVER FRIDAY

Mr. Shelton is president of the South Piedmont Rural Education Association. He is very interested in rural education work, and since Hyde is largely rural he believes attending these conferences will help him in his work.

Mr. Shelton comes to the county highly recommended. He has taught school for the past fourteen years. He took under graduate work at William and Mary and received his Masters Degree at the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Shelton is 36 years old. He is married and has two children, a boy 8 and a girl 5.

NOLLIE W. SHELTON, principal of the Lilesville high school, who was recently appointed school superintendent in Hyde County to succeed P. G. Gallop, will take over his new job (tomorrow) Friday.

Although Mr. Shelton has not made any definite plans about taking over his work in Hyde, he is busy by attending conferences on thinking of starting his new rural education in Raleigh and Chapel Hill tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday.

TYPHOID CLINIC FOR HEALTH DEPT. ANNOUNCE DATES

To Begin May 20 and Continue Through June 12

The District Health Department at Swan Quarter announced this week that its annual summer typhoid vaccination clinics for Hyde County would begin May 20 and continue through June 12th.

Clinics will be held May 20, 27, June 3, and June 10 at Rose Bay at a. m.; Fairfield postoffice at 10 a. m.; Jarvis store at 11 a. m.; Engelhard Clinic building at 1 p. m.; Cahoon's store (Lake Landing) 9at 2 p. m.; New Holland at 3 p. m.; and Swindells Fork at 4 p. m.

On May 22, May 29, June 5 and June 12 clinics will be held at Ponzera at 1 p. m.; Scranton Filling Station at 2:30 p. m.; Sladesville at 3:30 p. m., and Brickhouse Fork at 4 p. m. Clinics will be held at the Swan Quarter health department every Saturday morning.

"In order to help prevent typhoid fever," says health department physicians, "it is necessary to be vaccinated against the disease at least every three years, and the customary three dose method is advised, the doses to be given one week apart. All children should be vaccinated as soon as they begin to eat and drink as do other children and adults. No person gets too old to have the disease, and having typhoid does not produce immunity against the disease. Any person can have typhoid fever two or three times."

Physicians advise that after vaccination, great care should be exercised in regard to eating and drinking. It is pointed out that the disease is caused by eating and drinking the typhoid germs that have come from the intestinal tract of some other person. Youngsters are warned against swimming in polluted streams because it is directly responsible for many cases of the disease.

Tar Heel farmers received $14,876,000 in 1940 in the form of government payments, reports the Federal-State crop reporting service.

More New Books Added to Collection Says Librarian

Columbia's public library is rapidly becoming one of the hand-somest buildings on the county's "little Capitol Hill" here.

NYA workers, on a project sponsored by the town, have completed painting the exterior of the building and this week are finishing up the interior. The roof of the building was painted green and the outside walls white, thus harmonizing nicely with the old elms under which the library is set.

The wainscoting on the interior of the library will be re-varnished and the walls and ceilings above be put up as soon as the workmen are finished.

New Books More new books, ranging from the latest popular fiction to Emily Post's "Etiquette," have recently been added to the library's collection. Librarian Sarah Fleming says. They are: "The Story of American Furniture" by Th. Hamilton Ormsbee.

"No Hearts to Break" by Susan Ertz. "Amateur Craftsman's Cyclopaedia." "Random Harvest" by James Hilton.

"Eveless Eden" by Allen Eppes. "One Foot in Heaven" by Hartzell Spence. "Remember Valerie March" by Katherine Albert.

"Stars on the Sea" by F. B. W. Mason. "Three Harbours" by F. V. W. Mason. "Hang My Wreath" by Ward Weaver.

"The Vanishing Virginian" by Rebecca Y. Williams. "The Earth is the Lord's" by Taylor Caldwell.

"Jennifer" by Janet Whitney. "The Giant Joshua" by Maurine Whipple. "In This Our Life" by Ellen Glasgow.

"I Rode With Stonewall" by Henry Kvd Douglas. "The Three Musketeers" by Alexandre Dumas. "Diana of the Crossways" by George Meredith.

"Theodore Roosevelt's Letters to His Children". "Stars Still Shine" by Lida Larimore. "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" by Mark Twain.

"The Old Curiosity Shop" by Charles Dickens. "The Readers Digest Reader." "Golden Fleece" by Bertita Harding.

"The River's End" by James Oliver Curwood. "Etiquette" by Emily Post. "The Rains Came" by Louis Bromfield. "Scaramouche" by Rafael Sabatini.

FESSENDEN PLAN GAINS SUPPORT THROUGH STATE

Many Newspapermen Contribute to Cause of Memorial to Inventor

The plan to construct a memorial to Reginald A. Fessenden, pioneer in continuous wave telegraphy, whose experiments and discoveries on Roanoke Island in 1902 were among the most outstanding in the history of radio science, is gaining momentum and support throughout the State, according to Victor Meekins, who is chairman of a committee of local people who seek to establish the memorial in 1942.

Carroll A. Wilson, Roanoke Rapids publisher, and highway commissioner from the first district, has joined the movement, and contributed financially to the cause, Mr. Meekins stated.

U. S. Senator J. W. Bailey, this week sends his endorsement of the movement, and has accepted a place on the National Advisory Council of which Governor Broughton is chairman. On this council are men high in the business and military life of the Nation.

Gordon Gray, well known leader and newspaper publisher of Winston-Salem has contributed financially to the movement, and also Josh L. Horne of Rocky Mount, newspaper publisher and a member of the Board of Conservation and Development.

Miss Beatrice Cobb, secretary of the N. C. Press Association, and committeewoman of the National Democratic Party has contributed financially. Mr. Meekins said.

Of great interest is the fact that H. R. Craddock, a Manns Harbor fisherman and businessman, without having been approached regarding the matter, made a financial contribution, and promised further aid, he continued.

Meanwhile, men prominent in the business life of the nation, particularly in the field of radio, continue to write in concerning their approval of the movement.

The plan is to dedicate a small park on the west side of the Island as a Fessenden Memorial Park. This site was a Civil War fort captured by Federal forces during the Civil War. It was used as a site for the Fessenden laboratories in 1902.

Mrs. Fessenden, widow of the inventor, died in Bermuda on April 17th, after she had given her approval for the project. The only son, Lt. Col. Reginald J. Fessenden of Connecticut has expressed great pleasure at the action of North Carolinians in honoring his distinguished father.
