Mrs. J. E. Morrisette entertains the Rook Club this afternoon at her home on Main street.

The Bank of Leggetts opens for business Wednesday next, Sept. 15, and is sending out invitations to the prospective depositors to visit the banking house on that date.

An error that has an amusing feature to it was made by us in the advertisement of the First National Bank yesterday. In offering prizes it was stated that there would be given in gold. The queer thing is that one of the prizes is for a dollar and a half which the bank now requires us to determine how it is to be given in gold. The correction is made in today's issue.

The reception this evening to the school faculty in the rest rooms over the First National Bank will be the opening feature of the social events of Tarboro. This reception is a public affair—every parent and others interested in the school being requested to attend, in order that all may meet and know the teachers who will be with us for the 1920-1921 school year.

The Community Sing will take place on the Commons on Sunday afternoon at 4.30. Everyone is asked to bring hymn books so as to be able to join heartily in the singing.

Friends of Mr. J. J. Lewis will regret to learn that he has taken a turn for the worse and is at present seriously ill.

Mr. Joe Mallette has just returned from a successful trip in the interest of Barnes-Harrell Company.

Mr. E. L. Daughtridge is said to have greatly enjoyed the barbecue he attended yesterday at Mr. Walter Best's home. It was the "best ever," he said.

Mrs. J. H. Jacobs is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morris Clifton, in Louisburg, for the next ten days.

Messrs. Robert Edmondson and Jack Warren leave Tuesday for Randolph Macon college.

Mr. Wesley Pittman left for Oak Ridge yesterday, where he will enter school.

Mr. D. G. Walston returned yesterday from his vacation, which he spent in Wilmington and other eastern points.

Mr. H. G. Brown, a well known farmer, of near Conetoe, who owns a seven or eight horse team, was greatly put out over the labor problem early in the year. All the colored help he could get wanted to raise tobacco, but neither he nor they knew much about this crop, so he refused and turned his attention to raising hogs. He now has the laugh on tobacco raisers for he has 200 fine hogs and the price for hog meat remains pretty steady, he says.

Mrs. W. L. Strickland returned yesterday from Scotland Neck where she has been visiting relatives.

Ethel Clayton will be seen starring in "The Ladder of Lies" at the Opera House tonight; also Fox News.

WHITAKERS BETTERMENT
Yesterday at the mayor's office, in Whitakers, the members of the Whitakers Betterment met with Miss Howell, of Nash county, and Miss Young of Edgecombe county, who gave a demonstration in the making of scuppernong grape juice.

FARM AND HOME COUNCIL
There was a very interesting quarterly joint meeting of the members of the Farm and Home Council this week in Miss Young's office to which a goodly number attended. Mr. Zeno Moore made a talk and then the discussion was around the poultry problem and the way to raise winter eggs. It was determined that it was necessary to save spring chickens, in order to get winter eggs.

CONETOE COOKING CLASS.
A picnic was held by the Conetoe Cooking Class at the Conetoe school house.

The girls were quite interested in the experiments in grape juice making, which was done under the supervision of Miss Young, after which they had lunch and drank the grape juice and generally had good time.

GIRLS FRIENDLY SOCIETY
The Girls Friendly Society met last night at the home of Mrs. Frank Hart. Mrs. Johnson was elected field secretary; Hattie Carr, secretary, to succeed Evelyn Prince, who is returning to her home in Goldsboro.

The society will meet with Mrs. Harvey Lewis. This meeting is service for others. Remember Mrs. Bonner's talk to you, members, and be faithful.

After the meeting Mrs. Bonner was presented with candy and flowers as a token of the appreciation of her work for the club. Mrs. Hart then served punch and candy.
