ORGANIZATION WILL WIN

Back up the American Cotton Association. This great organization is the only association taking concerted action to help the cotton farmer and those interested in cotton. It is apparent to every thinking man that the bearish elements are trying to hammer down the prices. They are working the same old game of running the price down so that they can buy in cheap and then when the world realizes that cotton is scarce, cotton will go up again.

The American Cotton Association is in the fight to prevent this game of trimming the farmer. You should back it up to the limit. Every cotton interest in the South should stand squarely behind this Cotton Association, which is the greatest thing organized in the South since the Civil War. With the full aid and cooperation of cotton interests it will break the strangle hold of the speculative elements and will see that the producers receive a just and fair return.

Every local branch of the American Cotton Association should have 100 per cent membership. If you are not already a member join your local branch today. Get into the fight and back up these big men who are using their best efforts, their brains and their time, to see that you get a legitimate price for your cotton. Get behind the movement—help save the county.

Thirty years ago today Francis E. Warren was inaugurated first state governor of Wyoming.

Boston will entertain the women's national indoor tennis championship tournament next March.

The International Joint Commission began a hearing at Toronto today on the project for the St. Lawrence deep waterway outlet from the Great Lakes.

Many noted educators assembled today at Ann Arbor for the inauguration of Dr. Marion Leroy Burton as president of the University of Michigan.

THE LOCATION OF INDUSTRIES.

The first problem in any comprehensive plan for growth of a city or town, is commonly to decide in what locations factories should in future be built. City planning boards commonly get out maps of the place, and indicate a number of tracts which in their opinion are suitable for factory use. A failure to locate manufacturing industries suitably, has a most unfavorable development on growth of a town.

The secretary of the chamber of commerce in a growing city that has thus plotted out on a map its future development, was asked how they could force people to follow such a plan. "Community pressure does it all right," he said. "If a man wants to build a factory here, we show him where he would best locate, and we urge landowners elsewhere not to let him have land for that purpose. So far we have controlled it all right."

Residence neighborhoods in many cities are spoiled by undesirable factory locations. Residents who take pride in their places, are driven out by coal smoke and other conditions. Building a factory in a district already crowded usually means that slum conditions develop, as the result of drawing in a lot more people than can live there comfortably.

City planning boards usually urge manufacturing industries to locate a little out of thickly settled centers. Thus a factory district may become a pretty suburb, instead of a congested slum. Also if factories can be located near a railroad line it saves cost of hauling and tearing up of streets by heavy trucks.

Every growing town, and this applies to Tarboro, should plan for the new industries that it is sure to get, and try to locate them so their working population can live in comfort and acquire attachment to the soil.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes naturally dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
