Democratic Nominees.

The Southerner stands four-square for the entire democratic ticket which the voters of the county will be asked to cast their ballot for on November second; therefore, the names of the nominees will be carried in these columns until the day of election so that all may familiarize themselves with the men who stand for the best form of government in America:

WOMEN SHOULD REGISTER.

There has never been a time when the women of the south have failed in a single duty, nor will they in regard to registration when the matter is thoroughly explained to them. They did not want the suffrage, at least most of them did not, and now they feel as though they were treading on forbidden ground to attempt to assume the prerogative that recently was for man alone.

Yesterday a lady, who had no desire to vote, but realizing it her duty now that the law had given her the right, was very forceful in her desire for all other women to take the matter seriously and to do their duty by registering during this, the last week.

Suggesting that many are unaware of the importance of women exercising the right of suffrage this year, this lady desired The Southerner to request that committees be formed to call upon all the women in Tarboro, and vicinity, and acquaint them of the need for their registration and to register them in their homes without asking them to come to the precincts.

Mr. Don Gilliam, chairman of the Edgecombe County Democratic Executive Committee, states that he has appointed such committees who have assured him they will call upon the women during the week with the registration books and be prepared to explain the situation to them.

This, then, covers the point of convenience and especially gives the women an opportunity of discussing the matter individually, which is, we have been assured, all that is needed for the women of Edgecombe county to fall in line and perform a duty that is earnestly urged.

Entertainment to Bridal Party.

Miss Eloise Wiggins will entertain the bridal party at her home tonight to which a number of invited guests will also attend.

Details of the evening's pleasure have not been announced, but it is stated that the affair will be quite a pretty event.

Mr. Don Gilliam is moving into his new and attractive home today.

LOCAL ITEMS AND SOCIAL NEWS

The bridge at St. James street, leading to the Hart Cotton Mills, is closed for rebuilding, and the bridge at Wilson street, a concrete structure, is open to the public.

Mr. E. McWhorter motored back from Newbern this morning. He drove the car belonging to Mrs. Ashford, who, with her daughter, was enroute to Chapel Hill to see her son, Mr. Charles Ashford, who is in the University.

Mr. G. P. McNeilly returned yesterday from Richmond and reported that Mrs. McNeilly was progressing very nicely.

Miss Dicie Edwards is home from St. Mary's to spend the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Edwards.

Mr. A. T. Nicholson and son motored to Rockingham to spend a few days with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Pender, Jr., Mrs. Divine and Mrs. May motored from Rocky Mount last night and spent an hour or two with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pender.

The country people are making some caustic remarks over the Main street parking ordinance, and it is said that criticism is heard in all parts of the county over the refusal to allow cars to stand on Main street.

Expressions of regret were heard all over town at the news brought by Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, of Washington, that Senator Overman was indisposed and would be unable to speak here this afternoon.

It was interestingly argued on the streets this morning that those who had found no difficulty in paying their bills even to the extent of $1000 checks are now holding off paying anything. If they but realized that $5 or $10 would help the other fellow out there would be more circulation of money and all of us could pay a little.

Optical delusion was the cause of two automobiles to be hurried out of town toward Mildred thinking there was a fire in that direction. When about a mile out of town no illumination could be seen, except the lights of Tarboro, so all decided it was the reflection of the town lights upon a dust screen.

Juvenile school opened yesterday with fifty-eight enrollments. The new school room has been completed so the school started off with three teachers instead of two as formerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Thad Hussey motored to Richmond this morning to attend the Carriage Makers convention which convenes today.

Rehearsals are now going on for the entertainment at the home of Mrs. James Pender on Friday at 8 p.m. There will be a most excellent program of music, song and dance.

Mrs. B. E. Brown, Mrs. T. J. Farrar, Messrs. Smith, Whitlark, Jones and Pennington are all practicing the

Quite a number of the younger set have been invited as well as other friends of the family.

Four tables of cards have been arranged for and other entertainments provided.
