Bank Shows The Way, Honor Well Placed

Great Public Spirit Shown By Mr. M. G. Mann of First National Bank; Kind Words for Mr. Zeno Moore, the County Demonstration Agent.

(Wilmington Star.)

Talking about your War Finance corporation, and farm loan banks for financing farm development and promoting production and progress there is one eastern North Carolina bank which has shown the way how every North Carolina bank can do it and be all the stronger for it. The caption of this editorial is taken from the University News Letter, published at the University of North Carolina, and here is what Prof. E. C. Branson, North Carolina's eminent economist, says in that valuable publication:

"The First National Bank of Tarboro has placed on the farms of its county during the last three years 38 head of purebred Jersey cows at a cost of $10,000; 25 head of purebred Hampshire pigs at a cost of $2,500; 125 head of high-grade sheep at a cost of $2,200; has sold at wholesale to farmers $5,000 worth of various seeds, and distributes monthly 1,000 copies of farmers' magazines."

To M. G. Mann, vice president and active manager of the First National Bank of Tarboro, is due the credit of inaugurating that constructive policy of his bank. That enterprising and progressive North Carolina bank has invested more than $20,000 in promoting new farm opportunities in Edgecombe county. The First National Bank of Tarboro promoted the livestock industry in its county and became the means through which nearly 250 purebred animals were placed on the farms of the county as the basis of an animal husbandry industry.

In laying the foundation for the livestock industry that Tarboro banker not only manifested great public spirit but led the way in constructive banking. Safe and constructive banking can be conducted in North Carolina, and that is the kind of financing mostly needed for state development on broader lines.

A bank actually lends when it makes promotion activities a feature of its operations. The First National Bank of Tarboro never made a better investment than when it invested in a plan to introduce new features to farming in Edgecombe county.

Mr. Zeno Moore, the able and progressive farm demonstration agent of Edgecombe, is in Wilmington attending the annual meeting of North Carolina county agents, and he can tell a wonderful story about the practical way in which his home bank has stood back of his important work. He can also make a revelation concerning the manner in which farmers under his lead have burbanked cotton, and produced one of the most prolific and superior varieties of cotton in the cotton growing states.

TEN MILLIONS FOR COTTON GROWERS OF NORTH CAROLINA

The North Carolina cotton growers have gotten all they asked for from the War Finance Corporation. They asked for 10 million dollars, and they got it. The North Carolina delegation was in Washington City yesterday. This amount will be amply sufficient to provide for the necessities of the 27,000 cotton growers of North Carolina.

These advances will be for the orderly marketing of cotton this fall. Edgecombe farmers should know what has been done for them and now there is no reason why any cotton producer in the county should refuse to sign up for his cotton and get into the game.

DEATH OF MRS. DELLA J. NEAL.

Mrs. Della J. Neal died last night at half past nine o'clock at her home on Trade Street in the 86th year of her age.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Neal fell at her home and broke her hip and since that time she has been gradually weakening.

Mr. John B. Hyatt said that on last Sunday night Mrs. Neal had a sinking spell and when he reached her home he found that she was dying and her death was without pain or a struggle. During her last sickness Mrs. Neal has suffered but little, and her death was not unexpected.

She leaves a sister, Mrs. Henry Shirley. The funeral services will be held this afternoon at the home by Rev. Bertram E. Brown of Calvary church of which Mrs. Neal was a member. The interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Neal was a most lovable lady and her life was of that sweet kind that shed gladness all along her way. She was a very modest retiring woman and was hugely esteemed by all who knew her.

POMERENE TO HAVE FIVE CANDIDATES IN U. S. SENATE RACE

By Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 13.—Six candidates, including Senator Pomerene himself, want to become United States senator from Ohio at the conclusion of Senator Alcee Pomerene's term next March 4.

Four Republicans and two Democrats have entered for the nomination at the Ohio state-wide primaries on August 8. Senator Pomerene's lone opponent is former Congressman John J. Lentz, of Columbus, president of the American Insurance Union, who was defeated for the nomination by Senator Pomerene 6 years ago. Pomerene's friends have said they are not taking the Lentz candidacy seriously, and that they expect the senior Ohio senator to be renominated by a large vote.

In the Republican camp, the main contest, politicians say, appears to be between Congressman Simeon D. Fess of Yellow Springs, who is chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee, and Charles Dick, of Akron, former U. S. senator from Ohio and author of the Dick National Guard law. Fess is considered strong advocate of national prohibition and a supporter of the Harding administration. Dick was defeated for renomination six years ago and his entry into the present campaign caused a surprise in political circles.

Opposed to Fess and Dick are Jno. W. Arnold of Columbus, former lieutenant governor, and David W. Wood, a civil war veteran and an inmate of the Ohio Soldiers Home at Sandusky.

Although chief interest in the primary appears to be centering in the contest for the Republican nomination for governor, the Democratic gubernatorial fight is attracting considerable attention.

Despite the claims of friends that he should have had no opposition because he was the defeated candidate two years ago, former State Auditor A. Vic Donahay, of New Philadelphia, is opposed by three other contestants. Those opposing him for the nomination are James G. Johnson, of Springfield, a justice of the Ohio supreme court; Thomas J. Duffy, of East Liverpool, head of the state industrial commission, and A. P. Sandies of Ottawa, for several years secretary of the state board of agriculture.

However, Sandies' name may not get on the ballots because of an alleged technicality. While his petition filed with the secretary of state bore his name, investigation disclosed that the petition was signed by his secretary while he was out of the state on a speaking tour. His name has been ruled out by the secretary of state, but his friends are urging him to appeal to the courts.

Donahay, a former member of the legislature and a delegate to the Ohio constitutional convention in 1912, won the Democratic nomination for governor two years ago, but was defeated for election by Harry Davis of Cleveland in the Republican landslide of that year. Both he and Duffy claim strong labor support.

The Kiwanis Club is preparing for a big meet tonight at their hall on Main street. This is their regular monthly meeting and at this meeting all the directors and players of the Tarboro baseball team will be invited guests. A good program has been prepared and all who attend may expect to have a most enjoyable time.

CHICAGO, July 13.—B. M. Jewell, head of the striking railroad shopmen, today sent a telegram to President Harding replying to the president's proclamation on the strike situation and opening a new phase of grievances of the striking shopmen.

The telegram, signed also by the presidents of the six shopcrafts, said the men walked out because wages fixed by the Labor Board were in violation of provisions of the Transportation Act. Because of the violation of the Labor Board's decision and the railroads, striking shopmen insisted that no interruption of commerce or interference with mails had been caused by any unlawful act by the shopmen.

No definite reply to the shopmen's strike representatives to the railroad executives had been received at noon today. The executives said they would notify Hooper of their answer "later."

DALLAS, Texas, July 13.—Report to the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad office here today stated that one man was wounded and a dozen others, some of them deputy United States marshals, kidnaped from the road's shops at Denison by a mob of one thousand. The captives were taken to the woods and beaten.

CREWE, Va., July 13.—Russell Wiggins, a Norfolk Western yard office clerk, was killed and an unidentified man wounded when some one shot into a crowd of picketing clerks at the station here last night.

OROVILLE, Calif., July 13.—Numerous strikebreakers and guards were injured, several of them seriously, when about 75 men speeding into town early today in automobiles charged the Western Pacific roundhouse here. The attacking party then motored away. Four guards are missing, believed to have been kidnaped.

NEW ROAD PROJECTS FOR EDGECOMBE COUNTY

In the N. C. Highway Bulletin is a list of new road projects, the following being included:

Project 126, Tarboro to the Pitt county line, 8.35 miles on the Williamson road; project 127, Tarboro to the Halifax line, 12.1 miles; project 128, Tarboro to the Pitt county line, 17.4 miles on Farmville road; project 129, from road No. 12 near Crisp to Wilson county line, 8.1 miles.

By way of explanation of these projects the Bulletin says:

"Something over 350 miles of new road work was authorized by the commission at the May meeting to be let to contract as soon as the necessary details of engineering can be carried out. A larger percentage of the authorized projects will be of sand clay and topsoil construction due to the fact that with contracts already under way and those to be let in the immediate future the limit has been reached in the production of materials necessary for hard surface construction and more mileage of the lower class of construction will be necessary to maintain an economic balance."

RAILWAY CLERKS WILL GO OUT IN FEW DAYS

PREFER MARRIED MEN FOR FARMS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—If you want a job on a farm your chances of getting it are slightly better than 50 per cent if you are married, and then slightly less than 50 percent if single, says the Department of Agriculture. If you are married and have children your chances are around 45 percent.

The Department's statistics show that of 1,201 farm jobs advertised in eastern farm papers from 1920 to 1922, single men were wanted in 387 instances, and married men in 416. In 396 cases the social requirements were not stated. Of the advertisements for married men children specifically were not wanted in 54 instances. Children were wanted or permissible in only 14 instances.

Many farmers who hire laborers have no dwellings to let and consequently cannot employ married men, the department found. If the farmer has a dwelling for a laborer's family he prefers that it should be occupied.

S. mails.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. ANNE CARR

On Friday a.m. at 2:10 o'clock the death angel entered the home of Mrs. W. A. Williams in Oklahoma City and took from them their beloved mother, Mrs. Anne Carr. The body was shipped to Tarboro for burial, arriving on the noon train Monday. It was taken to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Williams. The funeral was held in the Primitive Baptist church and was conducted by Elders C. F. Denny and Ernest Cobb of Wilson.

The remains were interred in the Greenwood cemetery to await the Glorious Resurrection Morn.

The pallbearers were Messrs. H. B. Whitlock, A. T. Walston, W. E. Page, H. L. Williams, Cicero Price and David Carlisle.

Mrs. Carr was 77 years old, a consistent member of the Primitive Baptist church. She loved her church and always filled her seat when able to go. Since leaving Tarboro some eleven months ago, she has not had the sweet privilege of hearing any Primitive Baptist preacher, there being no church of that order in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Carr was a most devoted mother and grandmother and friend. To know her was to love her. She leaves behind two daughters and two sons, Mrs. W. A. Williams and Howard Carr of Oklahoma City, Mrs. P. A. Lewis of Wilson and Frank Carr and several grand children to mourn her loss. We have the blessed assurance that she is with Jesus and His angels.

No tears up Yonder; God hath spoken. No sins, no curse, no clouded way; No heavy laden, no heart broken; Eternal life, eternal day! No soul unblest that idle embowers, No longing there unsatisfied, No falling leaves, no fading flowers, No hope deferred, no joy denied, No farewell there! O blessed morrow; No going out again to roam, No child of sin, no child of sorrow, For there is love and there is home, No tears up Yonder, all are nearer than here the nearest friend could be. No dearest love will there be dearer, But more than all is Christ to see.

By Associated Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., July 13.—Prohibition was declared to be a civic asset by officials of Chambers of Commerce in some of the leading cities of the country in statements sent to the Union Signal, the official publication of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and made public by that organ today.

The Union Signal quoted the following officials:

James S. Cady, secretary of the Minneapolis Association: "Prohibition has proved an economic asset in our community. It has promoted thrift and has been beneficial generally to the interests of our city."

Vance C. Cries, secretary of the Springfield, Mo., Association: "Prohibition has been helpful to the community for the reason that the oncoming generation has not had the access to liquor that was had by the young men and boys of four or five years ago. In other words there would seem to be less opportunity by far for the members of the next generation to become addicted to liquor habit."

Nelson Marshman, associate secretary, Springfield, Mass., Association: "I believe that prohibition has proved to be an economic asset to this community and that it has promoted thrift among our people. A statement from the various savings banks shows that more people have savings accounts and that the balances are larger."

"The charitable organizations of the city tell me that taking into consideration the recent business depression, there are fewer people receiving aid than during the time before prohibition. The former saloons in most cases are being used for other lines of business.

"Prohibition has been, I believe, very beneficial to the general interests of our city."

William A. Searle, secretary-manager, Camden, N. J., Chamber of Commerce, took a pool of representative citizens. (Two bankers, a clergyman, and insurance man, Salvation Army leader, a Y. W. C. A. secretary, chief of police, a large manufacturer, the director of the bureau of charities, and his own.) The questions and answers follow:

Has prohibition proven an economic asset to your community? Yes, 7; no, 2; uncertain, 2.

Has it promoted thrift among your people, as indicated by an increase in savings banks deposits and depositors? Yes, 6; no, 1; uncertain, 4.

Are fewer people receiving aid from charity organizations as a result of prohibition? Are there fewer delinquents and dependents in your institutions? Yes, 6; no, 2; uncertain, 3.

Are the buildings formerly occupied by liquor concerns now used for other lines of business? Yes, 10; no, 0; uncertain, 1.

In your judgment has prohibition been beneficial generally to the interests of your city? Yes, 9; no, 1; uncertain, 1.

"Uncertainty in regard to question 2 and 3 was due to the fact that unemployment and other factors enter into the question in a way too confusing to permit of a satisfactory answer," Mr. Searle said.

DISSOLUTION OF HAGUE CONFERENCE FRIDAY

By Associated Press.

THE HAGUE, July 13.—Actual dissolution of The Hague conference on Russian affairs probably cannot take place before tomorrow, as the session of the subcommittee on credits has been postponed until then and no meeting is planned for today between the Russian and non-Russian delegates.
