WOODROW WILSON A RENEW DIRECTOR OF CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

By The Associated Press.
CHARLOTTE, Aug. 5.—Dr. Woodrow Wilson, ex-president of the U. S. and former student at Davidson College near here, today accepted an invitation as appointment as member of the Greater Davidson Campaign Committee, according to the announcement of Malcolm Lockhart, director of the campaign to raise $600,000 for the expansion and endowment of the Presbyterian institution. The committee, of which Dr. Wilson is a member is organized to present the needs of Davidson to its friends and alumni, and to build "A Greater Davidson for a Greater Southern Presbyterian Church."

Dr. Wilson has long retained a great interest in Davidson College, where he entered as a freshman in 1878, under the name of Thomas Woodrow Wilson that he used throughout his earlier years until he finally dropped the "Thomas" from his name. While president, he once visited the institution, and the college records show that he took a prominent part in college activities. Dr. Wilson was 17 years old upon entering Davidson, and it was here that he made his first public addresses and took the interest in political affairs of his country that characterized his later life.

Rev. Joseph R. Wilson, father of the famous president and prominent Presbyterian minister of Wilmington, N. C., was a member of the board of trustees of Davidson for a number of years, and was responsible for his son's matriculation at the institution. While at Davidson Dr. Wilson lived in Room 13, Chambers Hall, and in later life he has often joked about "13" being his lucky number. Room 18 in Chambers Hall being the first of a number of times that "13" was connected with his life. When Chambers Hall was recently destroyed by fire Dr. Wilson wrote that he hoped with all his heart "that funds can be raised to rebuild it," and one of the objects of the present campaign is the rebuilding of the historic old hall. The other object of the movement is to increase the endowment of the college to provide more teaching.

SOME MANUFACTURING STATISTICS ABOUT NORTH CAROLINA

According to the 14th census of the U. S. Manufacturers, are the following interesting facts are shown relative to Edgecombe county:

CALVARY CHURCH.

Children's church and instruction at 9:45 a.m.
Men's Bible Class uptown, at 10.
Holy communion and sermon at 11.
At this service the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Walter Mitchell, master of Porter Military Academy, Charleston, S. C. He is a distinguished man, and a good and able one, and his sermon on "Christian Education ought to be well worth hearing."

Community service on the Common, with other churches, at 6 p.m.
Service in the Colonial theatre at 8 p.m. This is the evening for the musical service, with many hymns sung from the screen and special music. I have secured a five reel religious picture that ought to be beautiful and helpful and heart-searching, from the description I have had of it. It is called "Father Tom," and is the story of a holy priest who spent his life in a little town like this doing good in Christ's name. Everybody is invited to this service, except three kinds of people: those who think the idea ought not to come, and are not invited, because it would be a sin for them to come; and grown men who will not contribute so much as ten cents to help me pay for the use of the building, and the tent of the picture, and the fee for the operator, are not invited, because they take up seats that might be occupied by worthier men: If there was room enough for all, those sort of people would be welcome too, if they need all the spiritual help they can get: but as the capacity of the building is limited, I wish that dead-heads would not come; and also, those who stay outside till the service is over, and then come in just to see the picture, are not welcome. Their way of doing is not reverent nor seemly, and besides they disturb serious minded people at their devotions.

DIDN'T LIKE THE DEMOCRAT PARTY

A traveling salesman passing thru one of our large cities, stopped at a swell hotel to spend the night. After going up to his room, he found his bed covered with bedbugs.
He went down to the office and told the clerk.
The clerk said, "Why you should not kick about that bed. President Wilson slept in that bed."
The salesman said: "I wouldn't mind sleeping with President Wilson but I don't care a darn about sleeping with the whole Democratic party."

TO SETTLE STRILES OF RAILWAY HANDS

By The Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Comparative calm prevalent in the railroad strike situation, today gave way to renewed activities of both sides for ending the walkout and making it more effective. New peace conferences are pending in Washington.

New strike threats came from the maintenance of way men and other union workers.

A conference with President Harding is being sought by the Big Four Brotherhoods for the purpose of presenting their views of the strike. Eastern roads have sent detachments of shopmen to the relief of roads in the mining district of Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, where new outbreaks of violence have been reported.

By The Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—With possible peace in sight in the coal strike, federal and state officials today are withholding action calculated to bring a speedy resumption of production, but continued preparations for such contingency, should the project of settlement plans fall through.

HIGHWAY ENGINEER MEETING OF STATE

There was a meeting here this morning in the court house of the State Highway engineers of this district.

These meetings have been called over the state, the main purpose of which is to get the workers of the commission together so as to learn each other and to assist in standardizing the work now in course of construction.

The engineers present were addressed by Mr. Frank Page, who impressed them with the great work before them and said that a continuance of this work was dependent to a great extent upon the way they performed their duty to the public. He appealed to those present to be sure and see that the taxpayers got a dollar's worth for every dollar spent and, while he believed in economy, he urged them not to be false economists.

Mr. Page urged his co-workers to be courteous to the public and show them every reasonable consideration. He put much enthusiasm into his hearers and his short talk will do great good. It was not what you would call a speech, but a heart-to-heart talk with his associates that went straight to the point.

In conclusion, Mr. Page told his audience that when the work was over and made a success, which he was sure it would be, the credit will be theirs and not his, because they were really doing the work.
Mr. Page is very popular with all the employes of the commission, and after hearing his talk no one need wonder why Mr. W. A. Hart, who was detained in the country this morning, made a few remarks to those present and told them that as he was to go to Bertie county this afternoon he could not remain with them as he would wish to. He complimented his force in this district and told them they were all going good work wherever he had gone.
As he closed his remarks, he invited all present to a barbecue dinner in the commons, and if they could not eat barbecue, he had watermelons as well.

MODERATE YOUNG LIFE SAVER IN FAIRVIEW SAVES THREE LIVES

By The Associated Press.
HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 5.—Harry McDonald, a 12-year-old lad living at Fairview, on the outskirts of Halifax, has to his credit three rescues from drowning, all within the past three years.
His latest feat was the saving recently of five-year-old Teddy Moller when the small boy fell thru a hole in a Fairview wharf. Young McDonald had to dive over the wharf and swim a distance of 20 feet among the piles. The young Moller boy was going under the third time and was unconscious when rescued, but McDonald clutched him and then holding to one of the piles directed the remainder of the saving operations. These were carried out with the aid of a cod line passed down from the wharf.
Questioned about his first life saving exploit, Harry said:
"Aw, it wasn't nuthin' at all. The O'Brien kid what lives on Stanley street, fell off a raft down by the shipyards and I went in and pulled him out."
The description of the second exploit when he rescued Arthur Metham was:
"He was my chum, so I had to get him back."
It was not until after his first two rescues that the young life saver learned to swim. In the first instance he plunged after the "O'Brien kid" into the water over his head, and managed some how to get him back to the raft. In the second he went to his chum's rescue partially supported by a stick.
Harry is described as a "regular boy" even to having the proverbial "valley-dog." One of Harry's ambitions is to become a Sea Scout.

HOW MR. W. EAGLES THINKS ABOUT COOP

In writing to the North Carolina Cotton Grower, Mr. W. W. Eagles tells just exactly what he thinks of the cooperative system of selling cotton. He says:
"The farmers of the South have never sold their cotton and tobacco. They take twelve months in the year to grow and prepare their crops and then dump them on the big companies and speculators whether they need them or not. This is done in sixty or ninety days. The manufacturers and speculators are gorged in such quantities that they can hardly handle the produce even at a low price. Cooperative marketing means the orderly, business-like selling of crops for twelve months in the year by the farmer at a reasonable profit for the farmer, and in such short-line quantities as the manufacturers need them. When these crops are marketed in this way, the farmer will receive much more for his crops."

Mr. Thomas J. Farrar has recently purchased from the Corbett Motor Company of Henderson a large automobile bus. This bus will accommodate twenty people comfortably and will make regular runs between here and Rocky Mount.
The schedule beginning Monday of next week will be:
A.M.: Tarboro to Rocky Mount at 7:50; Rocky Mount to Tarboro at 11:30.
P.M.: Tarboro to Rocky Mount at 6:00; Rocky Mount to Tarboro at 10:30.
This schedule will enable all people to go to Richmond and return the same day spending at least five hours in Richmond.
Travelers from Raleigh can reach Tarboro the same night by leaving Raleigh at 7:30 o'clock.
The bus is well built and is conveniently arranged so as to provide comfort for the passengers.
The cost of the fare each way will be 75 cents.

CHURCH FOLKS AND AFFAIRS

By C. B. RIDDLE.
New York is to celebrate next year the three hundredth anniversary of the settlers of the Walloons and Huguenots. The King of Belgium, the Queen of Holland and the President of France have been invited to attend the occasion.
Many of the religious organizations of the United States are sending messengers of good will to Europe to visit the church institutions there and to confer with church leaders.
There is a movement on foot for closer cooperation between the general bodies of the various denominations and the producers of moving pictures. The public has begun to think that there is too much criticism upon the part of the churches concerning certain pictures and not enough cooperation. It is pointed out by church leaders that the best way to eliminate bad pictures is to substitute better ones, and it is with this in view that those cooperating may find a satisfactory solution.
Church advertising is now being studied very closely by many who are interested in the subject. Some of the general church boards have created such an office as "publicity director" and making an experiment of general and specific church advertising. Those who have tried church advertising testify as to its results.
The sixteenth annual Sunday school convention recently held in Kansas City, Mo., registered nearly 8000 delegates. Marion Lawrence, who has been actively engaged with the convention for 23 years, retired at the Kansas convention.
Mr. Herbert Hoover in a recent report on the work of Russia to President Harding stated that the funds handled in the purchase of seed, grain and other food stuff and medicinal supplies amounted to $59,498,000. Mr. Hoover states that not a cent of this amount has been used for internal transportation, warehouses, distribution or equipment.
There is a movement going on among many of the religious forces of the world to give the prisoner a better and cleaner place to work and live. The church is seeking to administer to the criminal in a social as well as a religious way. Social justice is demanding that a criminal deserves good treatment and that his confinement is his suffering.

WOODHEAD HURLED GOOD GAME, STUART BUNCH LOSE AGAIN

Woodhead, former satellite with the Rocky Mount Down Homers, out-pitched Mark Webb yesterday afternoon at Bryan Park, and Farmville got away with another game, 4 to 1.
Webb's wildness and the inability of his teammates to hit with men on base were the cause for the second straight defeat at the hands of the Farmville clan, who won their fifth consecutive victory.
Umpire Whitaker also had an off-day, his efforts to keep his eye on the ball being poor, and causing two or three damaging blows to Tarboro.
Ferry, the fast little third baseman for the locals, was back in the game yesterday, but was banished from the park for disputing a decision before the game was over.
Stuart's Tar Babies apparently are in a rut too deep to overcome, thru a lack of hitting power, although the infield at times shows up poorly.
Continual changing of positions in both infield and outgarden seems to have worked a hardship on the Tar Babies. Boasting a larger roster possibly than any other club in the circuit and having two from a picked all-star team in the league, they are yet to demonstrate a stride of winning games. Fans generally seem to think that the original line-up of the locals would be more effective than the present order of affairs. However, they are confident of Mr. Stuart's ability to pick players for positions and believe his strategy will eventually prove fruitful.

IS THE PRESENT HOME LIFE A FAILURE?

WRITTEN FOR SOUTHERNER BY MRS. G. E. WEEKS
What is home?
Webster says, a place of abode.
Abode means a place of continued residence.
To many, homes are mere boarding houses, dormitories, junk piles, dance halls, gambling halls, places used for secret whiskey drinking and all other kinds of pandemonium.
It's also the predominant institution for fuses between husband and wife, and numerous other characteristics too extensive to enumerate.
The term "home" has been sadly abused.
There is lots of difference between the word "home" and the word house. Many live in houses, and are still homeless.
I want to enumerate a few causes of "home failure."
The first I will mention is this, "No work" for what kind of a home can you have without something to support it?
Other prominent causes are: Bad company, drink, brutal fathers, domestic troubles, bad books and cigarettes, fast women, gambling, boyish pranks, hunger, lack of home training, parental neglect, instruction in stealing by older people, cocaine and other drugs, fault finding, separation of parents, loss of parents by death, street playing and loafing.
There are many other things that could be added to this list, but space

Dr. B. W. Kilgore Speaks To Farmers

According to appointment, Dr. B. W. Kilgore of Raleigh spoke today in the court house at half past two o'clock to the cotton farmers of the county. He is well known to our people and his judgment on the agricultural lines is always good.
After preaching production for 30 years with the result that North Carolina climbed into fourth place among the states of the American union in the market value of farm products, Dr. B. W. Kilgore, director of the State Agricultural Extension Service, declared in an address here this afternoon that he had seen a new light two years ago, when the Old North State was ousted from this position by California, the home of cooperative selling, which climbed in a single year from fifteenth place to the position formerly held by North Carolina.
The success of modern business enterprises like the steel trust has been due to its organization on a large scale which enables it to command the best brains and the best talent and to market its products in an orderly manner, declared Dr. Kilgore.
The farmer is the biggest producer, the biggest borrower and the biggest buyer, Dr. Kilgore explained, but because he has been unorganized for selling, he has been forced to take the lowest price for what he makes, has the poorest credit facilities enjoyed by any business and pays the highest prices for what he buys.
Cooperative selling of cotton is bound to mean more money for the growers, he declared, and what helps the farmer helps the merchant, the banker, and the manufacturer. The necessity of paying better prices for cotton to enable the grower to have a better standard of living was emphasized by the speaker, who declared that it was the duty of every good citizen to support the cooperative movement.
If he had not believed that the cooperative selling of cotton is sound in principle and feasible in operation, Dr. Kilgore said he would not have staked his reputation, his character and the prestige that he has gained thru 30 years of faithful work for the farmers of North Carolina in advocating it.
He could have continued to look after his other duties without injury to himself and have had an assured future, if he had desired, he said, but he was not satisfied to lead that kind of a life. He believed that the cooperative marketing of cotton is right and he is helping because it is right, he declared.
Dr. Kilgore told the Edgecombe farmers that the success of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association this season is assured. It has 400,000 bales of cotton signed up, but its success can be increased by securing more members. The goal has been set at 600,000 bales.

THE SOUTHERNER'S SATURDAY SERMON

(Rev. Bertram E. Brown.)
Jesus called the Apostles unto Him and said unto them, I have compassion on the multitude, because they have been with me now three days, and have nothing to eat. St. Mark 8:2.
This sermon shall be on Christian pity. There are two spiritual qualities which must mark a true follower of Christ. They are tenderness of heart and righteousness of life. People who are not pitiful toward suffering, and who live in wilful sin, whatever other virtues they may have certainly have not the spirit of Christ and whatever religion they may have they certainly have not the Christian religion.
There are three kinds of suffering that always aroused the pity of Jesus when He was on earth in human form and which claim His pity yet:
1. Physical suffering: Jesus never looked upon any kind of bodily pain without quick and ready compassion. In no instance did sick persons ever come before Him that He did not meet them with tender pity, and immediate help. He touched poor lepers with loving hands and cured them; He opened blind men's eyes; He drove devils out of insane people; He strengthened the shriveled arm of a deformed man, and straightened the back of an old bent over woman. He was sorry for hungry people, and fed them; He was sorry for sleepy people. "Sleep on now, and take your rest, for your spirit is willing, though your flesh is weak." He said to His Apostles when He found them asleep at the post.
Any man who grows in to the life of Christ, finds himself with ever-increasing pity and tenderness towards all kinds of physical pain. He longs to help sick people, and to feed hungry people, and shudders at the infliction of pain on dumb brutes. The only time General Lee was ever seen angry, was at an artilleryman who was kicking a horse in the stomach, and he got off of his horse under fire one day to put a little bird back in its nest, from which a bursting shell had shaken it.
2. But heart ache is deeper than bodily pain. Jesus always was moved at the sight of human sorrow. When He stood with two sisters crying at their brother's grave, He burst into tears; He turned like a flash to Jairus when the servant came with the news that his little girl was dead, and said, "Don't be afraid; only believe"; He sat down and cried when He was going to Jerusalem the last time, over the poor blind city that was about to cry itself its King; On His way to death He stopped and begged the women who followed Him not to cry.
A Christian is careful about hurting people's feelings, and has pity on the petty griefs of little children, and does what he can to lighten the burden of this sad world's sorrow and shame and despair.
3. And Jesus was sorry most of all for wicked people, who are just people with sick souls. He cured sick people, and wept with sorrowful people; but far more than that, for sinful people, He died on Calvary.
A Fine Ventilating System.
One of the most commendable things about Mr. McCabe's theatre is the splendid ventilating system installed when the house was built.
During the hottest nights this summer all present were comfortable and the atmosphere at all times is pure and sweet. The hot impure air is drawn out and replenished by fresh air. This is done by the fan system that causes a circulation of wholesome atmosphere all the time during the performances.
Fire Drills Once Every Month.
Chief McCabe says that beginning this month there will be a fire drill each month.
The alarm will be given for this drill and no one need think anything if the news gets out there is a false alarm.
Chief McCabe is doing this to keep his men in practice.
Mr. F. M. Carlisle is in town to spend the week-end with his family.
