

cently been made. It is known that Feather River has been regarded with great favor the past two months, and particularly that branch of it generally known as the North Fork.

We learn from a gentleman just down from Bidwell's Bar, some interesting facts relative to recently discovered diggings along the North Fork. The road to these diggings is an excellent condition for fifty miles above Marysville, to a place known as Berry Creek. This is the first point on the road where the pickers and miners encounter snow. From this up to the Rich Bar, there is a depth of snow of from four to fifteen feet, rendering the passage very dangerous, the distance being about eighty miles.

Provisions are reported as being very scarce, particularly barley, which readily commands one dollar per pound. Large numbers of mules have perished along the route in consequence of the want of food, and exposure to the snow. The road is lined with their dead bodies for some distance.

In consequence of the scarcity and high rate of provisions, board has rapidly advanced at the Rich Bar. Eight dollars a day is demanded for board, and then the very poorest fare is served up.

The bar is covered with snow, about four feet in depth. Some of the miners are only making sufficient to pay their board, while others are averaging from 50 to 100 dollars per day. The gold is represented as being good locations staked off before the snow, are realizing by far the most.

There are from two to three hundred persons located on Smith's and the Rich Bar. In consequence of the heavy fall of snow, the travel from Berry Creek up, has been closed, but it will be reopened in the course of a week, unless there is a fresh fall of snow. There are now at Berry Creek about fifty mules packed with provisions, waiting to go through.

Plumber Times.

TEXAS OF RICH DIGGINGS.—The Sacramento Transcript gives the following late and interesting intelligence from one of the tributaries of Feather River: "It says: 'Mr. Small informs us that whilst there, the rumor was prevalent that ten miles of rich bank diggings had been discovered, but that he did not visit the point, as he was otherwise engaged. Those who were relied on the report, and general credence was given to the statement. It was represented that during the entire ten miles along the river bank, miners were averaging two ounces, whilst many others were doing far better.'"

NORTH FORK OF THE YUBA.—A gentleman just in from Downsville, up the Yuba River, informs us, that miners were doing very well in that vicinity, when he left to come to this city. A good many companies had constructed dams and put in flumes, and were making large average wages. In fact, companies have been doing some time in August last, and there is but little doubt that they will continue to do so, during the coming season.—Pacific News.

The Sacramento Index has the following:

New Discoveries at Nevada.—Our friend E. Mills, Esq., of Nevada, has shown us some specimens of decomposed quartz rock, very rich in gold, which had recently been discovered at the Coyote Diggings in the neighborhood of that city. It seems that the workmen engaged in digging the new tunnel, struck accidentally upon a stratum of decomposed quartz, varying from eight to twenty-four inches in thickness, and which, upon examination, was found to contain to the extent of about 50 dollars to the pan. The lead thus discovered, is on the North side of Deer Creek, about a quarter of a mile below the city. How far it extends has not been ascertained, but its exceeding richness has created a great excitement among the miners in the vicinity. Part of the formation is a friable earth of a snuff color, which crumble under the pressure of the fingers, and part still retains the character of crystallized quartz, although the crystals are very small. Some of the gold can be washed in the ordinary pan, but in most instances it is so fine as to require the action of a sluiceline. The specimen shown us, was promiscuously taken from the lead, and though comprising but two handfuls of earth and stone, contains about 1 oz. of gold. Truly, the riches of the Nevada country are inexhaustible.

Gold-bearing Quartz.—The Placer Times says: We saw yesterday some six or seven hundred pounds of quartz rock, which had been sent to this city for the purpose of making a thorough examination, as to the quantity of gold it contained. Pieces of gold could be seen in various places all through the body of the rock; and we are free to admit that an examination of this mass of quartz, pretty conclusively satisfied us that the working of rock of this kind by machinery for the gold it contains, will soon be an important branch of business.—We had been of the opinion, from what we had previously seen, that this species of mining would not pay in California until a very great reduction should take place in labor, but if veins of quartz can be found as rich in gold as the samples examined, it must pay a large profit, even at the present time.

Mining at Nevada City.—A party of miners in sinking a shaft into a hill for the purpose of obtaining gold from the Coyote diggings, struck a vein of quartz, which they have penetrated to a depth of some twelve or fourteen feet. This quartz we are told is extremely rich in gold, and the further the company has penetrated, the better it pays. Two crushing machines have been sent to Nevada city within the last few days, and the excitement has become so great, that others are to be taken there.

Quartz Gold.—There is little doubt of the accuracy of the supposition that the gold now found in the richest mines in California, were once combined with quartz, or some other gold-bearing rock. We are informed by Mr. E. Budd, says the Transcript, that the strata of earth at Nevada, found after sinking shafts from twenty to one hundred feet in depth, is composed almost entirely of pulverized quartz; and in many instances perfect chrysolite formations can be found where the miners are washing. The two facts, that we find large amounts of the two materials—gold and quartz, now combined in the solid rock, and large quantities of like materials in the same strata of earth, in small particles, form strong evidence that the gold of California has, by an irruption, been taken from its primitive position.—San Francisco Courier, March 5.

The San Jose Balance says: A great many persons who have left the mines and come here, have turned their attention to agricultural pursuits. A large number of farms, from 10 to 150 acres, have been put under cultivation. Barley, onions and potatoes are the staple productions, while the raising of poultry is beginning to attract the attention of those who take pride in seeing and tasting the wing of a duck or chicken. The dry weather has, in some respects, checked the growth of grass and other herbage, but has been decidedly favorable to plowing. It is quite warm and pleasant here during the day, yet the nights are rather cold and frosty. Ice was observable the other morning on the surface of the water nearly as thick as a window pane.

Messrs. Stillwell, Prentice and Evans, of Sacramento City, have in their possession a lump of pure gold, of unique shape, weighing upward of 51 ounces. It was dug up in the town of Sonora. One of the firm intends to visit England on the occasion of the World's Fair, and exhibit it in the Crystal Palace.

A man who had just arrived at San Francisco from the mines, was robbed on the 4th of March of six thousand dollars.

A man was lately fined one hundred dollars for being drunk and disorderly in the streets of San Francisco. The Court says: A good "smart" murder might have been committed last week for that money.

The Recorder of San Francisco lately sentenced a Mexican to ten days hard labor in the chain gang.—When the Umbra began to understand the sentence, he asked to be let off on the payment of ten dollars in cash. It had been so long since a ten dollar piece had jingled in the city treasury, that the magistrate committed the punishment at once, for the coin.

A beautiful California Lyon was killed by Capt. Martin, near San Jacinto. It is a whitish color, over two feet in height, and measuring between seven and eight feet from tip to tip.

The Sacramento City index, speaking of a chain gang which has lately been organized in that place, calls it "an institution."

The marshes between Sacramento city and Marysville are covered with the finest duck and wild geese. The miner unstraps his rifle from his shoulder as he passes, and soon bags a sufficient number to make a hearty meal for his party.

The interest on her bonds, paid by Sacramento City, amounts to nine thousand dollars, weekly.

The bond of Gen. Vallejo has been passed by the Legislature, so nothing remains but to fulfil it to secure the future seat of Government for the city, yet to be of Vallejo.

During the eight months that Hon. Lorie Parsons has been Dist. Judge, he has disposed of 1,800 civil cases, beside over 100 criminal. The business has been faithfully attended to, and with as much punctuality as the nature of the case would admit.

It is said that the growing of rice on the low lands of the San Joaquin is about to be tried.

Miscellany.

DEATH OF GEORGE SCHLEY, ESQ.—The painful duty devolves upon us this morning of announcing the death of Mr. George Schley, one of our oldest and most highly respected citizens, who departed this life at his residence in this city yesterday morning, at half past seven o'clock in the sixtieth year of his age.—Georgian.

LIFE INSURANCE.—We are informed by the Plymouth News, that Joseph Alexander, Esq., late of Tyrell county, insured his life in the N. C. Mutual Insurance Company for $5,000. Mr. A. has recently died, and the amount insured been promptly paid over.—This instance illustrates, at once, the benefits of life insurance, and the ability and willingness of this company to meet all its just requirements.

GREAT FIRE.—$70,000 Worth of Property Destroyed.—The village of Palmer depot, (near Springfield, Mass.) was almost entirely destroyed by fire on Wednesday night last. Loss $70,000. Insurance about $35,000.

James Caldwell, Esq., the proprietor of the White Sulphur Springs, Va., and formerly for many years a merchant in Baltimore, died suddenly in Greenbrier county, Va., a few days ago.

The Southern Repository and Col lege Review, is the name of a new Quarterly Journal proposed to be published at Emory and Henry College.

DRIVERS.—The Bank of Cape Fear has declared a dividend of 4 per cent.

DEATH.—In this City, on Wednesday night, the 9th inst., after a lingering illness, Rufin Tucker, Esq., aged 55 years.

The deceased was long known in this community as a Merchant, and an enterprising business man. He had been, for many years, an exemplary and devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He died in the faith of the Gospel, and with bright prospects of a blissful hereafter.

"Death is another life."
Raleigh Standard.

HEART-RENDING TRAGEDY.—It becomes our painful duty to record a most heart-rending tragedy that was enacted in our village on yesterday. The parties engaged in it, were Mr. Elisha W. Harris, Dr. Platt Croom and Mr. Pleasant May. Mr. Harris was killed. Dr. Croom was shot, his wounds, however, are not considered dangerous. Mr. May was also badly, though not dangerously wounded.—Greensboro, Al.

Communications.

FOR THE ASHEVILLE MESSENGER.

Modern Oratory.

Mr. Euron.—There is in these days, among young speakers both in the pulpit and at the bar, a very remarkable fondness for oratorical flourishes, and eloquent flights of thoughts, by which they are induced to indulge in a strain of high sounding words and empty declamation, and render themselves objects of ridicule and laughter to their hearers. Suppose I give a few specimens of this "transcendent nonsense," which have taken place recently in our town. A minister, some time ago, when describing the blessed state of the Christian after death, after saying many glowing things, remarked: "Ye, my brethren, shall be partners of (here he paused a while, as if his mind was sinking under the weight of its own mighty thoughts, but finally said) the 'Universal'." There now "Gemes" take that and hold your jaws with both hands, till you can pronounce these big words. Can you beat that Mr. Editor? Partner means "one who partakes or shares with another, an associate." Then the universe is to be one party, and we are to be the other; what then is to be enjoyed? Partners of the universe—mirabile dictu. How utterly dusting it is, to see young Ministers, losing sight of the simplicity of the gospel, and endeavor to make a display of learning and genius, while they are almost entirely destitute of both. Some of our Ministers seem to think that the only way to become great, is to imitate some who have had some eminence as speakers; hence the prevailing practice of a piping among a majority of our "Divinity sprouts." I have now in my mind, a minister of some considerable talents and popularity, who is the most consummate ape my eyes ever beheld. He has gotten the idea, into his head, that the Rev. Mr. — is a great man; and all that is requisite for him to be a great man too, is just to make himself a second edition, if not "revised and improved," yet at least equal to the original; hence he preaches his chosen texts, treats them in the same peculiar manner, speaks in the same tone of voice, clears his throat, combs his hair, walks, talks, cats and sleeps like this same Rev. —. He also fixes himself in the same attitude when seated under the fireside, adopts his peculiar manner of working his lips in conversation, &c. &c. Is not this a shame to the name of a man? Now I have no objections to one man imitating the virtues of another, but this has nothing to do with the things above enumerated. The specimen of oratory under consideration, was the result of an attempt upon the part of a "weaker brother" to imitate a man of talents. I do not say these things from a want of regard for ministers, for if I were not too modest, I would say that I am one of that profession myself; but I say them because they are facts.

But I must give you a lawyer case. A man who has a nominal practice among us as a lawyer, remarked the other day in the court house as follows: "Gentlemen of the Jury—the counsel on the opposite side would have you to believe that the defendant is as pure as the pearly streams that flow from your mountain hills." Ouch! merely! don't be frightened "Gemes," I haven't any more "sich." This I know is horrible stuff, but I thought it ought to come in, Justice to this jack leg lawyer. Now, sir, if you can exceed this in the way of ecclesiastical or legal men, just try your hand.

I had a thought I would write a little poetry on these cases, but from the specimens I have seen in your paper, I am afraid I can't shine among so many distinguished sons of the muses; and must just "zip it up."

CLOANTHUS.

April 17.

For instance, Billy Pickens.

*Yes, a preacher here once said: "Well, scale the walls of Jericho, and land in the arms of Belshazzar."

FOR THE ASHEVILLE MESSENGER.

The following are the Officers of High Brighton Division, No. 122, Sons of Temperance, for the present Quarter:

J. C. Norwood, W. P.; J. A. Ballaw, W. A. R. B. Bagle, R. S.; J. N. Boun, A. R. S. Peal, E. S.; P. D. Jones, F. R. S. Wakefield, C. J. R. Sherrill, A. C. A. L. Taylor, L. S.; C. O. Conly, O. S.

Asheville Messenger.

"Be just and fear not."

ASHEVILLE, N. C.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1851.

"With such powerful and obvious motives to us, affecting all parts of our country, there will always be reason to distrust the patriotism of those who in any quarter may endeavor to weaken its bands." WASHINGTON.

"When my eyes shall be turned, for the last time, to behold the Sun in the Heavens, may I not see him shining upon the broken and dishonored fragments of a once Glorious Union." WEBSTER.

"The Union must and shall be preserved." JACKSON.

"It is no North, no South, no East, no West, but the Union, the Union, the Union." CHASE.

"The Constitution, the Union, and the Law, or War to the Knife." MASSACHUSETTS.

"For a State Convention."

"For a National Convention."

"For a Mail Road from Boston to the Tennessee River."

EDITORIAL.

TO EVERYBODY.

The subscriber expects to leave Asheville in the latter part of May, and will be several days in Charleston, Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. Persons wishing to procure any thing whatever, from any of those places, may have it attended to with the utmost fidelity and articles immediately forwarded, or if small, brought by himself.

JAMES M. EDNEY.

555 if

For answer to inquiries, we can say that we will purchase, ship, and write letters to that effect, any article, vehicle, musical or mechanical instruments, books, farming utensils and machinery of every kind, dress goods or wearing apparel, jewelry, regalia for Sons, Cadets, Unions, Odd Fellows, Masons, or anything else that may be wanted from adding the purchaser's name, the amount of money, or order for 3 per cent, for trouble. Persons wishing to send must have sent to us their orders by the 15th of May.

Job Printing of every kind done in the best style at short notice, and cheaper than ever. Try us.

Western Addresses, for sale at this office, at $1 25 per hundred, 8 pages, handsomely printed and folded. 555 if

HISTORY.

Structure, and Statistics of Plank Roads.

This is the best work we have ever seen on this subject, compiled by Kingsford, Skinner & Clark. Illustrated by diagrams, plates, questions, answers, &c. &c. It is neatly gotten up, covered and title paged, and contains 40 pages. For sale at this office. Price $2 1-2 cents. Only a few copies left.

TO DIVISIONS.

We feel proud to state to Divisions all over the State, that we have been honored with, and shall put to press in a few days, one of the ablest and most admirably written treatises on the social organization of the Sons of Temperance, title page.

That has yet appeared from any source; and out of the multitude of popular essays written by distinguished gentlemen, such as Wm. Ware, there is, perhaps not one that will rank higher, or merit a more general circulation than this. It is written and revised by his own hand, and is a most masterly and finished production.

To this will be added a brief, but perfectly accurate biographical sketch of his parentage, birth, education, family, travels, pursuits, &c., including his labors and success in this State, down to his late visit to this place, which will be highly interesting of itself. The whole will be printed on good type, fine paper, handsomely stitched, covered and title paged, and forwarded to Divisions on the following exceedingly low terms: 100 copies will be delivered in Raleigh or any where this side, free of charge, for $4 50, and to all adjacent Divisions in E. Tennessee, S. Carolina, &c., on the same terms, and to all who take or order it from our office, at $1. Single copies 61-4 cents. Every Division in the country ought to order a sufficient number to supply every member with a copy.

To this end we hope immediate action will be taken, and orders forwarded as for the number wanted, so that we may know what amount to issue. Divisions can make no better use of their funds, than by appropriating a small amount to this object. Let every one supply themselves with 50 or 100 copies. Those wanting, must order immediately, if they wish to procure this little treasury of knowledge, and the biography of one of America's most distinguished and gifted orators. Address

JAMES M. EDNEY, Asheville, N. C.

Freedom of Speech.—A great excitement has recently occurred at Milwaukee, where a reformed mobbing a Methodist church, where a reformed Monk was lecturing. The rioters tore up the railing, benches, &c., smashed the lights and demolished extensively, and threatened to burn the Church and tavern where he staid. The Catholic Priests condemned the riot, in 1829, force was ordered out, and peace partially restored.

H. N. F. Hazard and Wm. Norton are in our jail, the first for killing Mr. Chandler, of Yancey, and the second as accessory.

Rev. John Reynolds has become the Controver for the mail route from this place to Limestone Springs, or (Loves) Tennessee, and the route from this place to Galley's Creek.

Ab. Chum has become the Contractor for the Stage route from this place to Greenville, S. C., and from this place to Mountain, by Jack's.

James Young is the Contractor for the horse mail from this place to Clarksville, Ga. twice a week.

Blanton & Co. are the Party who are to take the route from this place to Raleigh.

Rev. John Reynolds has become the Controver for the mail route from this place to Limestone Springs, or (Loves) Tennessee, and the route from this place to Galley's Creek.

Ab. Chum has become the Contractor for the Stage route from this place to Greenville, S. C., and from this place to Mountain, by Jack's.

James Young is the Contractor for the horse mail from this place to Clarksville, Ga. twice a week.

Blanton & Co. are the Party who are to take the route from this place to Raleigh.

ASHEVILLE NEWS.

Three weeks since, the "Asheville News" commenced its career with an article of three and a fourth columns, to which we replied the following week: that we had the News containing a series of non-sensical articles, neither in the character of an argument, answer, or rejoinder. So far as the News article was concerned, this has been but little or nothing bearing upon either, and therefore leaves us but little to reply to; as that paper has neither defined its own position, answered a single argument we offered, or taken any notice of but one question we propounded, we feel ourselves under no sort of obligation to make any further comments, or to answer any questions propounded by it. The News takes special pains, to give us extracts from our articles, (except those pieces containing about five lines) as they are read, and we are obliged to give what we have said. We shall endeavor to give in a few words, the roots in this moral, graceful, courteous and refined specimen of polite literature—the rare combination of wit, talent and moderation. It denies our friendship to the editor who signs the article under consideration, and brings the following powerful argument to bear upon us, viz: when he bought the paper, we said to our readers, "We are not going to give you the News." Now is not that professedly what we have done? The next we hear of ourselves is that we have on the "order of non-sensical" articles, "the blood and thunder" that the first man we ever saw! It is a matter of the most profound astonishment, how a young man, just starting into the world with a noble ambition, high self-esteem, overflowing aspirations, and a high sense of honor, gallantry and chivalry, could have so permitted a group of vulgar, prosy, and uninteresting articles, to be published in his paper, and that from the fact that there is in town.

"A university that shapes his ends, Rough hew them as it will." We could not possibly have reconciled the article to his gentlemanly character, and we are glad to see that the original and most distinguished development of the fact is, that an editor is "a target" ready at all times and in all places, to be shot at and thereby still more and more strange doctrine is, that an editor of a paper is actually responsible for non-sensical articles published in his paper. We are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood. We had then 107 and suppose the News had over two thousand. Another very important development is this: the News says, "We are not responsible for what we have printed in our paper." We can only say we are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood. We had then 107 and suppose the News had over two thousand. Another very important development is this: the News says, "We are not responsible for what we have printed in our paper." We can only say we are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood. We had then 107 and suppose the News had over two thousand. Another very important development is this: the News says, "We are not responsible for what we have printed in our paper." We can only say we are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood. We had then 107 and suppose the News had over two thousand. Another very important development is this: the News says, "We are not responsible for what we have printed in our paper." We can only say we are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood. We had then 107 and suppose the News had over two thousand. Another very important development is this: the News says, "We are not responsible for what we have printed in our paper." We can only say we are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood. We had then 107 and suppose the News had over two thousand. Another very important development is this: the News says, "We are not responsible for what we have printed in our paper." We can only say we are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood. We had then 107 and suppose the News had over two thousand. Another very important development is this: the News says, "We are not responsible for what we have printed in our paper." We can only say we are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood. We had then 107 and suppose the News had over two thousand. Another very important development is this: the News says, "We are not responsible for what we have printed in our paper." We can only say we are not a member of a question that we never should have thought of adding any name. After relieving the mind of this discovery, he propounds this inquiry: "Do you not recollect the case of the 'Globe'?" That rather facetious composition, which the gentleman will tell us, is the "Globe" of the News? The News alludes to "contending to circulate a separate pamphlet." This is a ridiculous and the most mischievous of all that can be said. Extra sent us a manuscript with instructions to print a given number of copies, and send such and such numbers to different places, and persons, and to be sent to the printer, to any one visiting our office, and to be sent by us, or by the printer, as directed. We published it, mailed and handed out the money for the whole work, and the trouble, is that dishonorable? We should be delighted with a few more jobs of the same sort. As to its "secularity" the gentleman who wrote it is responsible for it, and is ready to substantiate his charges, if he is not a business of ours. O, but you were "sent" to us by the printer. Well, we would have been glad to do that. We have nothing to do with that, and subscribers, and we expect to write letters, publish notices, and ask for them as long as we have a paper. We have no idea what it was "proved to be false by 25 of the most respectable citizens of that county," nor do we know the county, but we "think under" to two "jury" a lawyer and a preacher, right or wrong. It is not our business to be a "Globe" of the News, and we are glad to see that it is now has 600. We recollect a boat that ran into our office after starting, that it had the largest circulation that any paper ever had in the town and neighborhood