

WOODROW WILSON NEXT PRESIDENT?

An Interesting Letter From a Citizen of Raleigh Who Has Just Seen and Heard the Scholar Statesman.

"The student in politics" will be resented by the interests; and the seeker after truth, if so be, is not always the strongest candidate in any election except one which follows some great disaster.

A reformer is not the most representative man, if the scriptures be true nor the easiest to elect—unless the "Stuarts" govern the country and the need for a Cromwell is manifest.

The evils which Mr. Wilson seeks to cure have become engrained in the body politic until the remedy is only a little better than the disease.

Mr. Wilson stands for reform of the public service corporations—which means a change in their character and constitution—and has phrased a definition well enough to make some of the Northern periodicals take notice.

He says that the courts have erred in treating governmental functions farmed out to corporations as property in the ordinary sense of the word.

In the exercise of such powers they are and can logically be nothing more than the agents of the people, and the only pretext for the use of such powers is the benefit of the people whom by accepting their trust they have undertaken to serve.

The abuse of the powers of government is the sure road by which the great corporations have ridden into wealth and monopoly and political power.

Mr. Wilson does not state the ills the people are fighting better than Mr. Bryan and perhaps he does not know who are the public enemies as well; but he has not been a candidate and if Bryan says he is the best man for President we will all endorse him—I mean the one and two-horse farmer and those it touch with him when I say all.

Wilson is certainly a well equipped man and has long been considering the problems which have been growing more insoluble for a quarter of a century or more, and for which I see no solution except the second coming of the Lord Jesus.

W. J. PEELE.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas on Wednesday, May 30, 1911, death was permitted by an all wise Providence to remove from our midst our brother, A. J. Davis, and while 'tis hard to understand how our Heavenly Father, who is too good to be unkind and too wise to err, to allow death to take one in the prime of life, seemingly before his usefulness had ceased; yet we humbly bow in reverence to the mandates of our God, believing that we shall understand when "we shall know as we are known."

Therefore be it resolved by Achoree Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., of which Bro. Davis was a member:

First. That our lodge has lost a worthy and consistent member, and his family, a kind father and devoted husband.

Second. That our sincere sympathy be extended to the family of our deceased brother in this their sad bereavement, and that they shall be the recipients of not only our sympathy but of our assistance in any way whatsoever needed.

Third. That these resolutions be filed by our secretary and these become a part of our permanent records.

Fourth. That the secretary forward a copy of these resolutions to the widow of our deceased brother, reminding her that her companion is "not dead but sleepeth," and that we all shall meet again in the eternal world.

Fifth. That the local newspapers be requested to publish these resolutions and a copy be sent to N. C. Odd Fellows for publication.

Fraternally submitted,

Make This Test.
How to Tell if your Hair is Diseased.

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 per cent. of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexal "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it does not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

It is because of what Rexal "93" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexal Store, The Standard Pharmacy.

ARE YOU A WOMAN?

Baltimore Md.—Mrs. W. H. Ison at 1419 East Madison street writes: "For several years I suffered off and on from womanly troubles until finally I was taken down and could do nothing. The pains I experienced I shall never forget. I lost weight until I was only skin and bones. I believe I would be in my grave if I had not tried Cardui." Are you like Mrs. Ison weak and discouraged because of some painful ailment? Cardui will help you. Try it today. Any druggist will be glad to sell you a bottle.

HEZEKIAH'S GREAT REFORM
II Chronicles 30—June 11
"Man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart."—I Samuel 16:7.

KING HEZEKIAH of Judah has a wonderful record as a man of God, a reformer, a patriot, yet he was the son of a bad father, who in turn was the son of a good father, who in turn was the son of a bad father. The alternation between good and bad for four generations illustrates the fact that, although heredity has much to do with every member of our race, nevertheless, there are counter-balances in nature.

We are all members of Adam's family, and as such we are all sharers in the general weakness, mental, moral and physical, which for six thousand years has descended upon us. St. Paul refers to this, saying, "By one man's disobedience sin entered into the world, and death as the result of sin; and thus death passed upon all men, because all are sinners."—Romans 5:12.

The downward or sinful tendency inbred in our very constitution is so strong that none is able fully to overcome it. The best that any of us can do is to set our wills in opposition to our inherited weaknesses and to fight courageously against them. The Apostle assures us that if it were possible for humanity to fully gain such a victory over its fallen self as to bring itself back to perfection, then doubtless God would have provided that way of salvation.

Hezekiah the Reformer
The King's father had introduced idolatrous worship—erecting altars and groves to the worship of Baal. God's temple was strewn with rubbish. Under the direction of the King, the Levites began a cleansing work. It required eight days to carry out the rubbish from the court, etc. Then the priests, who alone were authorized to enter into the Holy, or temple proper, were directed to cleanse the temple itself.

But as a preliminary work, before the cleansing of the court or the temple began, the King directed that the priests and the Levites sanctify themselves afresh to the Lord and His service. How appropriate! How in harmony with the words of the Prophet Isaiah, who lived at that time and who was the King's counselor—"Be ye clean, that bear the vessels of the Lord's house"—Isa. 52:11.

But let us not forget the instruction of St. Peter upon this subject. Comparing the priesthood of Israel with the institutions of the Christian church, St. Peter gives us the thought that the priests of olden times do not find their antitypes in the clergy of today, but in God's saintly or sanctified people, whether in or out of the public ministry.

Thus St. Peter says to all of the consecrated Church of Christ, "Ye are a Royal Priesthood, a Holy Nation, a peculiar people, that ye should show forth the praises of Him who has called you out of darkness into His marvelous light."

The Divine Blessing

The conclusion of the feast was a Divine blessing upon all the people, through the Priests and Levites. So there goes out a Divine blessing from the Lord's sanctified people—from all the consecrated of the household of faith—to the people in general—to their neighbors, their friends and visitors from afar. Let such be our influence among men.

In this connection let us remember the power of the tongue, of which the Apostle said, "Therewith praise we God, and therewith curse (or injure) we men." Let our tongues and all our powers be used in blessing the people as well as in praising our God.

The King wisely began his reformation at the temple and gave the priests and Levites the first share therein. It was later that the idols of the city of Jerusalem were gathered and hurled into the valley of Kedron, and it was after the fervor of the Passover occasion that the seal of the people in general rose high, and they went forth all over the land, destroying the idols, the groves of Baal, and every symbol of disloyalty to God.

And so today: Everywhere the light of our day is showing more and more of the meanness, selfishness, corruption—some of it centuries old, and some of it bred of special privilege and opportunity. The call for reform is heard on every hand, although sometimes but feeble. The proper place for reform is, as in Hezekiah's day, with the sanctification of the priests and the Levites themselves.

IMPERSONATING SIMS REEVES. DO WOLVES CHASE TRAVELERS?

How Quick Witted Man saved a Riot.

The late Sims Reeves was billed to appear at Newcastle, and a large house was assembled to hear the great singer. For some unexplained reason he did not turn up. Other vocalists were put on and received coldly. The house began to grow impatient, and the manager was in despair. Just as a serious crisis approached a personal friend of the be-lated tenor resolved to save the situation. Knowing that he bore some physical resemblance to Sims Reeves, he left his place in the stalls, raised round to the stage door, and hurriedly gaining the stage, walked to the footlights, bowed, and was greeted with a tumult of applause.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said; "I offer you my humble apologies for the delay. (More cheering.) But a Power which controls the destinies of us all had— Here the singer seemed overcome with emotion. "Ladies and gentlemen, I have just had a narrow escape from an awful death. (Sensation.) My nerves are naturally much unstrung. I throw myself on your indulgence. (Great cheering.) In a few moments, however, your patience will be rewarded. (Cheering.) Will you kindly allow the others to proceed with the concert, as at this moment, Heaven is my witness, I cannot sing a note?"

Further exclamations broke forth and the speaker retired to the wings, where he was received by the manager, who was breathless with emotion.

"I only told them the truth," explained the impersonator; "for as I was rushing out from the front of the theatre, I was nearly knocked down by a cab, and, as Heaven is my witness, I cannot sing a note."

"But suppose Reeves doesn't turn up?" queried the manager. "How are you going to get us out of this scrape?"

Ten minutes later the famous tenor appeared, and explained that he had unluckily overslept himself after dinner at a strange inn. He proved in splendid voice, and quickly caused his audience to forget any discrepancies between his own appearance and that of his audacious impersonator.—From the June Strand.

CAUSES 95 PER CENT OF DISEASES.

Advice Concerning Stomach Troubles and How to Remedy Them

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent of all the ills of the human body have their origin in the stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from the Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency, assiduity on use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure hearty appetite aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask your to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or malice. They come in three sizes, prices 5c 50c and $1.00. CARDUI WORKED WONDERS

McMinnville, Tenn.—Mrs. Ocie Jett, of this place, says: "I don't believe I would be living today, if it hadn't been for Cardui. After treating me twenty-seven days, my doctor advised an operation, but I would not consent. Instead, I took Cardui and now I am doing my work—even the washing. Cardui worked wonders in my case. I am in better health than for five years." Cardui is a strengthening tonic for women. It relieves pain tones up the nerves, builds strength You need Cardui. Try it.

Sometimes, Says This Writer.

Concerning wolves I was much interested trying to discover whether these animals (which, though seldom seen by daylight, are very numerous in Labrador) chase or attack the lonely traveler or hunter, a pastime, that according to the report and the illustrated papers, their cousins of Europe undoubtedly indulge in. Who can not recall a picture of a flying droschky and its bearded driver, with a passenger shooting a revolver over the crook of his arm at the pursuing wolf-pack?

But of the Labrador—near the settlements, at any rate—the wolf bears a fairly good character in this respect. The only instance that I know of when wolves attacked a man I have on the authority of Bishop Martin, of Nain. A settler had killed some seals on the edge of the ice and returned to his home. Later on he went back to bring in the carcasses, taking with him only a spade, as the place was not far from the station.

While he was engaged in shoveling off the snow which had collected on the bodies of the seals, four wolves came down upon him and seemed threatening. He was rather helpless, having no gun with him, but he defended himself by cutting at the neck of one of the animals with his spade. Then keeping his spade towards them he held them off with the spade as he retreated in the direction of the shore and the settlement. The fact that they meant an attack seems to be proved by their following him for some distance, but he escaped.—From Across Unknown Labrador" in the June Wide World.

WHEN BANISTER, THE ACTOR, SAT ON THE WOOLPACK.

Borrowed Lord Chancellor's Robes

On one occasion a gentlemanly-appearing individual walked boldly up the steps of St. Stephen's, passed the various officials, turned into the House of Lords passage, and in a self-possessed manner entered the robing room.

"Lords Normandy's robes." The attendant looked surprised.

"But, my Lord—" he began. "I know it's absurd," said the stranger, "but the tailor cannot finish my robes in time, and I must attend this sitting. Lord Normandy was so kind as to offer— You understand?"

"Oh, certainly, my Lord," responded the rober, obsequiously.

The crimson and ermine was produced and donned, and the pseudo-peer strolled into the House, where a few peers were waiting, administered a series of affable nods right and left, and finally took his place on the woolpack. For full thirty seconds he sat there, while those present tried to collect their faculties. Then he slowly arose and, remarking to the clerk, "how stupid of me! I now remember I have an appointment elsewhere," retired from the chamber. In the robing room he remarked, "Thank Lord Normandy, and tell his lordship I have just recalled a pressing appointment with the King."

"Yes, my lord. What name?"

"What name?" echoed the other, in assumed astonishment. "What name? Really my good fellow you must be careful—very careful. It does not do to forget yourself in this assembly. But I will overlook your slip this time. Good morning."

That evening it was known at the Beefsteak Club that Banister, the actor, had won a bet of £50.—From "Cheek" in the June Strand.
