DOUBLE VOTES ALL NEXT WEEK IN ADVANCE'S .VOTING CONTEST

ast Call to Arms For Those Who Want to Share in the Distribution of the Advance's Valuable Prizes.

immencing Monday August the O and continuing through Sat- ENCACEMENT OF September the 2nd., the contest unager will give double votes for all business, new or renewals, which the contestant may secure. Here is au opportunity for you to place your name at the head of the list, with but little effort on your part, but you cannot secure the coveted position without at least trying, for in this day and time, subscribers do not bring their money to you: you must an and ask for it. Do you know of any easier way to make nearly one Etheridge of West Church street to half of a thousand dollars for yourself than this one? It is certainly worth the effort required of you, so, why not start now - today, and secure a few sucscriptions to the Advance? Surely you are not going to sit (diy by, and see these valuable premiums go to some contestant who thes not done an hour's work! The sole object of this contest is Elizabeth to help build up the circulation of the Advance and we are trying to make it worth your while to help us: the double vote offer will not be repeatgoodly number of votes to your credit during this period. Call in here at the office and let the manager help you to map out your campaign. The contest will soon come to a close and the time for regret will be at hand for those who feared to take hold at the right time. Josh Whit outb oace potly remarked "the time to get pie is while the pie is yours, but your time is limited. We submit in relative position act cording to their votes, the names of those contestants who have manifest

HEAVY LEAD PIPE WENT WHIZZING BY-HIS HEAD

Unknown Parties Make an Attempt at a Dastardly Assault on Mr. L. B. Thornton, Night Watchman at Cotton Mills.

To have six feet of lead pipe come O" whizzing at you from out of the dark | MR. H. C. KRAMER ness, is a rather unpleasant experience. But this is what happened to Mr. L. B. Thornton, night watchman at the Elizabeth City Cotton Mill.

Yesterday morning about three o'clock after Mr. Thornton had made his round of inspection and had returned to the superintendent's of fice, some one knocked on the door. Mr. Thornton was not in any partieular hurry to answer the call and the next moment a plece of lead pipe-two inches in diameter come earing through the window blind just above Mr. Thornton's head, strik ing the window sill. The pipe narrowly missoe Mr. Thornton's head. Had it stinck him it would have killed him instantly.

Mr. Thornton got busy with his gun at once, firing -through the wrecked window. The assallants fled, and Mr. Thornton opened fire from the door, and probably shot one down, as he observed two men running and saw one fall. But that one quickly regained his feet and kept on running. Mr. Thornton is sure that he shot one of the assailants as blood was found on the ground next morning.

The guilty parties are suspicioned and arrests may be made.
