

STANISLAU AND LEMBERG NOW RUSSIAN OBJECTIVES

(By United Press)

London, Aug. 10 — According to early morning dispatches from Petrograd the Russians were within three miles of their objective Stanislau at the end of yesterday.

The Austrians are expected to make a determined stand at this point on the east bank of the Bistritza. If they can be driven from these positions, however, the fall of Stanislau is certain, and likewise, the withdrawal of the Teutons northward to the banks of the Dniester.

The right wing of General Letchitsky's advance on the Russian front has reached Monstarzyka on the Nisoff railway, twelve miles northeast of Stanislau, according to today's official advices from Petrograd. The advancing center is reported as within three miles of Stanislau and as approaching the city from the eastward.

Leaving the capture of Stanislau to the center and left wing of his army General Lechitsky is attempting to cross the Zlota and Lipa rivers in a drive against Lemberg on the north bank of the Dniester. In falling back on Stanislau the Teutons have blown up the bridges across the Bistritza and are preparing for a stand on its left bank.

PROGRESS ON WESTERN FRONT

The allies made further progress northwest of Pozieres when the Austrians yesterday penetrated the German trenches along the enemy's front for two hundred yards, according to a report from General Haig. All the local objectives recently gained have been consolidated and strengthened he says.

In spite of fog and rain the French report some progress during the night on the Somme front. Their lines were advanced in the region of Hem woods and one hundred prisoners and six machine guns were taken. Along the Verdun front during the night unusual quiet reigned the intermittent roar of artillery breaking the stillness now and again, but the infantry remaining in active through the entire night.

WILL EXCHANGE PRISONERS

England and Germany have reached an agreement on the exchange of all war prisoners above the age of forty-five, regardless of numbers, Lord Cecil announced to the House of Commons today. The British Government ought to make arrangements for the exchange of all prisoners of military age, Lord Cecil said.

From Rome come reports that, following up their recently gained advantage, the Italians have now taken the Austrian aviation station six miles east of Gorizia. They are in close contact with the Austrians on the right and are attempting to cut off and surround the retreating troops.

King Victor Emanuel is said to be at the front and great demonstrations are reported from Rome where the people think the capture of Gorizia is but the beginning of a great move southward culminating in the capture of Trieste.

Hughes After Farmers Vote

(By United Press)

Fargo, North Dakota, Aug. 10 — Charles Evan Hughes, Republican Candidate for the Presidency, apparently convinced from the effect of his campaign in the east that he has a hard fight ahead of him in order to beat Wilson, is out to capture the farmer's vote in the Northeast.

The Presidential candidate was given a royal welcome here, and made a strong bid for the support of the Farmer's Non Partisan League of North Dakota. The farmers from the surrounding country arrived here in automobiles to hear the candidate expound the doctrines of Republicanism and the crowds have been large.

Despite the intense heat of the Northeastern summer the Candidate sticks to the regulation white shirt and standing collar. They soon will in the prevailing weather, too.

OF INTEREST IN DARE AND ELSEWHERE

The following account of a recent meeting at Manteo by Rev. A. A. Butler, formerly of Hertford and now of Whiteville Grove, will be of interest to many friends:

"From Monday, July 3, to the following Friday night, it was my pleasure to be with Pastor J. W. Watson and the Manteo saints in a meeting.

"The usual things and others were of course, in the way; but notwithstanding we had a good meeting, all things considered. Just about everybody in and around Manteo seems already to belong to 'some church' and as is usually true, many of them seem to think that it makes no sort of difference at all as to which one they belong. This, however, is not true of many of the Baptist people I met there. They have not forgotten the strong foundations laid by the sainted T. G. Wood, and they have been built upon by Marshall and others, and upon which pastor Watson and his accomplished wife are now building so wisely. The saints at Manteo are beginning to realize what a favor the Lord bestowed on them when He sent this quiet, unassuming, but cultured man of God into their midst.

"Some years ago it has been now Watson took Ms. M. A. Degree at Wake Forest. He has been content to keep it as much of a secret as possible, and to labor always in a quiet way, and some times in-out of the way places; but he has always been a true, faithful preacher of the gospel. It will take eternity to reveal what men of his type have been worth to the Kingdom. In their labors and sacrifice, which are many and varied, they are not comparable to the storm cloud with its thunderings, rain, much hail and little rain, and usually followed by much desolation, and some times destruction; but such men are rather comparable to the quiet, sober shower, with little wind and no destructive hail, leaving each acre that it touches refreshed and enriched, and better equipped for the production of an abundant and beneficent harvest. I shall always have pleasant memories of my visit to Manteo, and the historic Roanoke Island."

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT SOUTH MILLS

To The Advance:

We want to express through your columns our joy in the meeting just closed in order that friends near and far may know and rejoice with us.

The series of meetings at the Baptist church closed last Monday evening, and closed all too soon. But Brother Love had to go to another engagement.

Many little differences were buried, and there were many conversions. Baptism will take place next Sunday morning. So far there have been twenty one additions and expect a number of others.

Our Sunday School has grown from an average of about forty to more than a hundred.

The Methodist pastor and people attended and assisted in our meeting and brotherly love prevailed. We are working and praying toward the end that when the revival closes at the Methodist church there will be few if any of our friends unsaved.

We feel that the Lord sent brother Love. He was just the man for us and he has taken our hearts home with him.

Rev. N. H. Shepherd.

HAIRING TALES OF OFFICERS' MUSTACHES

By Hal O'Flaherty

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, July 25 (By Mail)—Many hallowing tales are going the rounds about army officers' mustaches now. They fairly bristle with wit.

Hundreds of pamphlets have been written in answer to the universally asked question: "Why is an officers' mustache?"

Under the title of "Hair Apparent" one article today declares that compulsory service has produced a hair-raising problem, as the young officers are naturally interested in keeping a stiff upper lip.

Mustaches may be grouped under three heads, or noses: Military, magnificent, and morbid. The military brand is very curd. It resembles either a tooth brush, an eyebrow, or a semi-semi-quaver. Charlie Chaplin are barred. The Guards, who set the standard for lip adornment, cannot that variety while it was yet a burning.

The magnificent mustache, not much in vogue now, obscures the wearer's identity. Like the stomachacher, it is a fashion of bygone days, discarded because of its heavy fringe.

The most admired face foliage of the moment is the mustache morbid. It combines the best of the military and magnificent yet possesses a charm peculiar to itself. Early in life it represents a venial sin, a smudge upon a clear surface. It is cultivated with abandon and while many would prefer other types the only thing they can do is grin and wear it, avoid mirrors and excitable babies and wait for a gas attack when respirators make all mustaches equal in the sight of the men.

The property loss as a result of the storm is estimated at two and a half million dollars. No such storm has ever occurred in the entire previous history of the state.
