FOURTH GAME GOES TO BOSTON

Scores Completest Victory Of Series In Smashing At- tack On Dodgers

	R.	H.	E.

Score by innings:

Brooklyn	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

Brooklyn, October 11—Stung into driving action to uphold the honor of Boston, Bill Carrigan threw the Red Sox machine into high gear this afternoon and pulled the throttle wide open.

Tuesday's game turned the table. The Dodgers had outt Boston thru out the series, and on Tuesday outplayed them in the field and on the bases. Under the terrific Brooklyn attack the Red Sox inhaled, puncture proof and air tight, developed bad leaks.

Jack Coombs and Ivan Olsen, kings of nerve, both of them, had put the Dodgers back in the running.

Knowledge that his star fingers can not hold down the Dodgers battling averages Carrigan told his men that he wanted them to romp off with a victory today and finish of the series in Boston tomorrow.

He meant business. At the end of the first inning the score stood 2 to 0 in favor of Brooklyn.

By the second inning, however, the Red Sox engine was gathering speed and at its end the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of Boston.

PROBLEM RAISED FOR AMERICA

STRONG FEELING AGAINST ACTIVITIES OF U-BOAT AT SUCH CLOSE RANGE

(By United Press)
Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 11—Secretary Lansing left for Washington this morning after a long conference with President Wilson last night on the problem raised by the activities of the German U-53.
While the submarine seems to have complied with all the stipulations of the United States, the larger question is whether the United States can tolerate further submarine activities outside her ports, menacing commerce and constantly endangering the lives of American men, women and children. There is a strong undercurrent of feeling against any such practice which might be contemplated by Germany.

Submarine Issue Is Unsettled

(By United Press)
Berlin, October 11 — The main committee of the Reichstag has authorized the budget committee to re-assemble when the Reichstag convenes tomorrow for a discussion of the foreign policy during the remainder of the war.
This action apparently assures a continuation of the debate of the submarine policies of the German government before the budget committee.

The efforts of the Von Tirpitz party to force a resumption of submarine warfare will be defeated as a result of the conference now being held in secret sessions of the Reichstag committee. It is now generally believed. The Tirpitzites, however, hope to force a public discussion of the whole question.

Ernest Basserman, gray-haired National Liberal party leader and one of the most important figures in the Reichstag, declared today after the question had been aired in the Budget Committee meetings, it will be fully discussed in open sessions.

"We wish to live in peace and friendship with America," said Basserman, "but undoubtedly there is bitter feeling here because American supplies of ammunition enables our enemies to continue the war."

"If America should succeed in forcing England to obey international law, restore freedom of the seas and proceed with American energy against England's brutalization of neutrals, it would have a decisive influence on the political situation between the two countries."

Mr. Scott Has Narrow Escape

Mr. C. T. Scott of this city missed death or serious injury by a narrow margin this morning when the automobile which he was driving was run into by a runaway horse and wagon.

Mr. Scott was driving north along South Martin street. As he started across Church street the runaway went over the front part of the machine, cutting the running board in two, punching a hole in the radiator, and smashing the front hood up generally.

The runaway belonged to a colored man by the name of Sam Jenkins of Woodville. As Jenkins was driving into town along Church street his harness broke and the wagon ran up on the horse. As the animal jumped the girth parted and Jenkins was unable to hold the horse.

AS IN BETSY SO IN WALES

HUMAN NATURE VARIES LITTLE THOUGH METHODS ARE SUITED TO THE TASTE

(By J. W. PEGLER)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, Sept. 22 (By Mail)—The scrappiest, swattest part in the world—that is the boast of the Rhondda Valley, in the coal fields of Wales.

The world is quite a chunk of territory but the valley is ready to back up the boast with grimy-toll hardened fists.

Saturday night in the public bars the matches are made and all Rhondda Valley's male population turns out in the dawn of Sunday to battle or watch in the hills that cup the Valley. Every week-end from New Years' to Christmas, and on through the Holidays the program goes on.

This is about how it happens: Bill Williams ambles down to the pub for his Saturday evening's after a hard week's work and a pretty good supper at home. He is at peace with the world and inclined to keep it, but only on certain terms.

Down the bar is Floyd Jenkins. He is a lot like Bill; has worked hard all week, just tucked in a satisfactory supper and is peaceable on the same conditions.

Bill surrounds a covey of flowing bowls and gives voice to some radical opinions on conscription or politics.

Floyd is a radical, too, but just the other way. Of course he can't stand by and hear his firmest convictions run into the ground, so he wallops Bill on the nose.

Friends intervene and the bell-gongs draw on liberal night-caps before winding their way home.

The same incident has been repeated in perhaps a score of places.

Bill doesn't hate Floyd; he pitiles him in his wrong convictions and so they are going to battle for a principle.

Sunday morning they meet and fight to a knockout—out in the open whatever the weather, with no ropes no gloves and only the grass for their map.

If Bill wins he is undoubtedly right about conscription or whatever it was he was expounding.

The other logicians settle their controversies in the same way.

Jimmy Wilde, the knockout fly-weight champion, came from the Rhondda Valley and learned his fighting up in the hills. The miners are proud of Jimmy and back him to the limit. He, in turn has done his part by slumberizing a lot of good fighters from flyweights to featherers.

Yes, Freddie Welsh comes from Rhondda, too, but the miners gily mumble th fact when they mention it all.

Freddie is popular in his old home town with the inverse popularity of a German butcher.

ther," says Mr. Scott. "I myself would have been directly in the horse's path and he was too close and coming at too high a speed to have missed me. I missed death by the closest margin."
