Watch Repairing

Should a watch be neglected until stops before taking it to a jeweler to be repaired?

No! Why?

Because it permanently injures a watch to thus neglect it.

Should a watch, then, be regularly examined?

Yes, at least once a year it should be looked over by a competent watch-maker.

Will this lengthen the life of a watch?

Yes, a great deal. A drop or so of oil when needed is as essential to the welfare of a watch as to any other machine—more so in fact.

To Have a Watch Put in good shape where should it be taken?
