THE FURNITURE MAN WITH A CONSCIENCE

Largest Furniture Organization in Coastal Carolina

Repeating the message that brought overwhelming response

One of New York's foremost department stores has helped to put thousands of men and women back to work. This service to wage-earners was so unusual and outstanding that Mr. Legum on a recent visit to New York decided to study the methods of this great store. Mr. Legum's investigation showed that this big store sacrificed a large portion of its normal profit by offering the public values that were incomparable. The response to these values were so great that this New York store has increased its volume of sales by four or five times the amount of merchandise they would ordinarily expect to sell. The store, therefore, was in a position to place large orders — The for lack of orders resumed work. Idle men factories that in some cases were closed down and women were called back to their jobs. Now, A. J. Legum, Coastal Carolina's largest local furniture organization, has put into effect the same value merchandising plan with a store-wide sale event that will make furniture history in this section.

In an effort to move a great volume of merchandise, everything at A. J. Legum's store will be sacrificed, regardless of any normal profit. Buy now at prices that put people back to work.
