HYDE COUNTY MAN SAYS CUCUMBERS WOULD PAY

J. S. Mann Says We Have Many Acres That Might Be Turned To Good Account

That cucumbers might offer people of Dare, Hyde and Tyrrell a profitable crop, and help to create a market at home is the opinion of J. S. Mann, prominent citizen of Middleton, Hyde County, who with his two sons, spent the week end at Nags Head and visited Manteo.

ed citizen interested in the welfare of this section.

Mr. Mann believes cucumbers, which bring up to a dollar and a quarter a bushel, can be grown at a profit. He has tried it out on a small scale, and sold his cucumbers under handicaps. He had to truck them a hundred miles to Washington. He believes a plant at Engelhard, or Manteo, could handle cucumbers from Tyrrell, Hyde, Dare and Currituck counties, and that an immense business would bring dollars to this section. "I believe there are many opportunities here we haven't dreamed of," said Mr. Mann. His sons are J. E. Mann of State College Extension Service,
