A FRIEND OF DARE OFFERS GOOD HINTS

Some Constructive Criticism Offered in a Helpful Spirit

Ray W. Humphrey, prominent attorney of Ellwood City, Pa., who likes to come to Manteo and to hunt and fish drops us a line this week, and in it he offers some timely suggestions that might well be taken into consideration before the fishing season begins.

"I have enjoyed your paper which I have obtained regularly and note with interest your activity in trying to make Manteo a more desirable place in which to live, as well as an attractive fishing and visiting resort. Recollections after a time usually become more sound, and if I am not presuming too much, may I make a suggestion which I believe is a most constructive criticism offered with the best intentions.

"My only criticism was the condition of the waterfront behind the stores over which prospective fishermen must travel in order to get boat accommodations. The odor and the sight behind those stores was anything but inviting and attractive. I would suggest that it would be most beneficial to those of the village of Manteo desiring to benefit the business of attracting fishermen that two things should be done. First, that that portion of the beach behind the stores be kept in a more cleanly condition and second, that a more accessible and pleasant walk with steps be constructed from the street back to a more desirable landing. Such an improvement would not be expensive and would add a lot to the desirability that would be created in a fisherman's heart to go back again. I remember very distinctly the conditions we found at fishermen's resorts on the coast of Virginia and with very little effort and practically no expense they were far more attractive.

MUSIC CLUB MEETS TO DISCUSS STRAUSS MUSIC

Mrs. Williamson also gave a talk on sacred music with regard to the inspiration and sources from which the composers of certain hymns and sacred music were inspired and reviewed an article by H. Augustine Smith in the Music Club Magazine, on "The Church Hymn Book."

CHEVROLET SELLS 51,966 CARS DURING JANUARY

Continuing the advance that has been apparent ever since introduction of its new 1939 models, Chevrolet sold 51,966 new cars and trucks at retail in January, W. E. Holler, general sales manager, announced here today. This compares with 39,469 units in January 1938, and is an increase of 12,566 units or 31.7 per cent.

In the same month, Mr. Holler announced, Chevrolet dealers sold 114,375 used cars, or 8,925 more than in January 1938. Combined new and used car sales for the month were 166,341 units, as compared with 144,919 a year ago.

For the past three months, Mr. Holler pointed out, there has been a steady rise in the monthly percentage of increase over sales for corresponding periods in the 1938 model year. In November, the advance was slightly more than 6 per cent; in December it was 25.4 per cent; and in January, 31.7 per cent.

Generally improved business conditions, plus the public's enthusiasm over the 1939 Chevrolet, featuring new type knee action and the exclusive vacuum gearshift with steering column control, is credited with the sharp upturn, Mr. Holler said. "The heavy volume of used cars," he added, "is especially gratifying. It shows that in spite of the increased new car business, this end of the dealers' operation is under complete control, so that dealers are in splendid position to move new cars and trucks."

FOUR TO EIGHT THOUSAND CLAIMS WITH UCC A WEEK

Initial claims for benefits with the Unemployment Compensation Commission increased about 95 per cent in the first five weeks of 1939, as compared with the last five weeks of 1938, or from an average of 4,440 a week to 8,654 a week, figures compiled in the central office in Raleigh show.

Except for the Christmas period, the claims increased gradually from about 4,300 a week to about 6,500 a week during the last five weeks of 1938. The first two weeks in January, 1939, showed 11,253 and 12,204, respectively, while the next three weeks showed 7,492, 5,623 and 6,700 claims. The weekly continued claims averaged 27,145 a week for the last five weeks in 1938 and 37,778 a week for the first five weeks in 1939.

This first-of-the-year increase is due in part to the fact that numbers of claimants drew benefits for the maximum of 16 weeks last year and still have credits which they can draw after the second benefit year starts, and it started in January for numbers of claimants, Chairman Charles G. Powell explains, stating that seasonal unemployment and the Christmas holiday let-up in business probably entered into the increase.
