

ARMISTICE TERMS ARE GIVEN OUT

Washington, November 11. — The German armistice terms include:

- The cessation of hostilities.
- The evacuation of invaded territories including Alsace Lorraine, and Luxemburg.
- The surrender of vast amounts of guns and equipment.
- The evacuation of the left bank of the Rhine.
- The surrender of vast amounts of rolling stock in the occupied territory.
- The abandonment of the Bucharest and Brest treaties.
- Unconditional surrender of all German forces in East Africa and reparation for damage done.
- The surrender of scores of submarines and larger war craft.
- The concentration of aircraft at stipulated points.
- The evacuation of all Black Sea ports.
- The restoration of all allied and merchant vessels.
- The duration of the armistice is thirty days.

Washington, November 11. — President Wilson this afternoon told Congress and the world the terms Germany accepted when she signed the armistice.

These terms pictured her surrendering absolutely to General Foch, with her armies beaten, her Government overturned, her former Kaiser and master in flight.

Congress and a small crowd heard the President's burning words, but enthusiasm ran riot.

Washington, November 11. — At six o'clock this morning, United States Eastern Time, the greatest war in history came to an end.

The State Department officially announced early today that German Plenipotentiaries had signed the United States and the Allies' terms of armistice at Foch's headquarters at five o'clock, French Time, this morning and that hostilities ceased at eleven o'clock.

While the armistice halts hostilities it does not formally end the war. At the same time the terms laid down by General Foch are such as will prevent Germany from renewing hostilities. The war, therefore, may be regarded as definitely over.

The great problems of the peace conference and the gigantic work of returning fighters to their home lands now remain as matters for consideration.

As to the first of these problems Brussels is mentioned as the most likely point for the formal peace negotiations.

As to the second, it may be said that the General Staff has already completed its plans for demobilization.

To-day, America freed from the ravages of war and unscathed by the destructive hand of the hordes of Huns, looked across the seas to find the battle fields of France and Belgium quiet for the first time in four years, and the giant guns which for fifty one months had belched poisonous gas and bursting shell silent.
