Virtually all important commissions to the Peace Conference were meeting today as the result of instructions from conference leaders that work of the body be hastened as fast as possible. The Council of Four continued the consideration of the German counter proposals.

DECLARES WON'T SIGN

London, June 7.—Germany's inability to meet the financial demands of the peace treaty and the inability of the Allies to make her pay are insisted upon by Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, German Minister of Finance, in his interview with the Daily Mail's Belgian correspondent.

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS JUNE 24TH

Chapel Hill, N. C., June 4.—June 24th is the date for the opening of the 32nd session of the State University Summer School which will continue through August 8th. Prospects are bright for one of the best sessions in the history of the institution. Applications for rooms are pouring in on every mail and all available dormitory space is being rapidly filled. The prospects are that the registration will surpass that of any previous session. Both the University and town are making every effort to take care of all who desire reservations.

The regular catalogue containing the final plans and announcements in regard to courses, lectures, high school teachers' institutes, entertainments, and other special features, has recently come from the press. The book is handsomely illustrated with campus scenes and buildings.

The plans for the coming session include several novel features and additions. There are to be many new courses, besides those offered in the past. A High School Department to enable high school students to make up lost time, and special entertainments in the way of lectures, recitation of Professor F. H. Koch, are educational movies, and dramatic productions, the latter under the direction of the other attractive features. The department of education is particularly strong in new courses.

Other new courses that should prove of especial interest are those in Health and Sanitation and the Red Cross Courses in Home Nursing and Dietetics. The course in Health and Sanitation will be conducted by Dr. Charles S. Mangum of the University Medical School. Those in Home Nursing and Dietetics will be conducted by Misses Louise Hazelhurst and Helen Osborne of the Red Cross Headquarters, Atlanta.

The departments of instruction include course in education, agriculture, botany, chemistry, commercial geology, geography, health and sanitation, history, home economics, Home Nursing, Latin, library, science, mathematics, music, physics, rural economics and sociology, Spanish, writing and zoology.

In addition to the courses announced above, there will be regular high school courses for students wishing to make up deficiencies in their high school preparation. Regular classes have been organized in history, English, mathematics, Latin and science. Coaching classes will be conducted for other studies of high school grade. Students will thus have an opportunity to get instruction in almost any subject of high school grades and thereby make up work lost on account of the war and the influenza epidemic. Many high school students have already indicated a desire to remove such conditions preparatory to entering college or advancing in their school.

The Summer School if from year to year enlarging the scope of its work by opening other departments and offering additional courses, many of which count for credit toward the A. B. and A. M. degrees. This year more courses than ever will be given which lead to University degrees.

A demonstration school will be conducted throughout the term. Regular class work covering the first seven grades will be carried on. Teachers pursuing courses in primary school methods and grammar school methods will be required, under the direction of the instructors, to observe the work of the grades, to prepare to teach assigned lessons from approved lesson plans, and, so far as possible, to carry out in actual practice the principles presented and studied in class. All observation and practice teaching will be done under the direction and supervision of expert critic teachers.

A teachers' bureau will be maintained during the Summer School for the benefit of teachers desiring a change of position. Many applications for teachers are received every year by the bureau and many superintendents visit the Summer School for the purpose of employing well qualified teachers.

Few teachers realize that the expense of attending the Summer School is so small. The actual expenses for those who room in the dormitories and board at Swain Hall not counting, of course, the cost of transportation, books, and materials, are for the six weeks $40 for teachers and $45 for others.

WILSON LADY WRITES A NEW POPULAR SONG

Wilson, June 5.—A new popular song hit, which is now going the rounds of the music world, is the handiwork of a Tar Heel writer. The song is "Take Me Back Down There Once More," and the writer is Mrs. Ora Hester, formerly of Raleigh, but now a resident of Wilson. She is the wife of Mr. R. B. Hester, well known tobacconist, and mother of H. C. Hester, of the Evening Telegram.

The song, which is being successfully introduced, smacks of the Carolinas, and is unique for its originality and simplicity, which appeals to the heartstrings of those who appreciate and love Southern music.

Mrs. Hester is an experienced musician, being an instrumental and vocal teacher of reputed ability. She has been especially successful as a pianist. Mrs. Hester has written a number of song poems, and has several other songs which will be off the press in the near future.

The music was written by one of the foremost composers of popular songs in the country—Leo Friedman, who was responsible for the music to "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland," "When I Dream of Old Erin," and others.

The words of the song deal with a typical Southern darkey, who has strayed from his native pasture, and while on his way back home expresses his sentiments in terms that cannot be mistaken. The chorus is as follows:
"Take me back down there once more,
To that Carolina shore,
Where the pine trees am agrowin' there galore.
For right down the S. A. L. is a town I love so dear,
Take me back to dear old Dixie Land once more."

Dr. H. T. Aydtlett of Greensboro, but for many years of Elizabeth City, is visiting friends here.
