Talk of the District Fair makes one appreciate the fact that 1921 is slipping away.

Business is better already for those who keep after it. But times are still hard for the man who is waiting for things to get better.

Congresswoman Robertson says women want war. Perhaps she's right about it, generally speaking. But now and then you find a woman who has preferred to remain single.

In spite of the insanity, blindness and death resulting from the drinking of blind tiger liquor, chronicled in the daily papers, there still seem to be plenty of folks willing to take a chance.

The Advance finds business better, thank you; and believes that the man who goes out after it instead of waiting for it to come to him can say the same thing—if he doesn't stop going too soon.

The man whose chief thought and principal topic of conversation is the way the women dress, the chances are, is himself either a ninny or a mollycoddle. More important than what women wear is what men think.

Saturday's showers were twice blessed, breaking, as they did, a long and trying drouth on growing crops and at the same time giving town and country alike relief from the dust plague that had beset us for some days.

It seems that Secretary Hughes and President Harding, in their negotiations with Germany on the subject of a treaty of peace, are as oblivious of the Senate as ever Woodrow Wilson was. Well, well, administrations change and even Lodge and Hi Johnson seemed to be changed by them.

A three hundred year feud was settled the other day when chiefs of the Iroquois and Huron tribes of Indians met, smoked the peace-pipe and went out on the hunt together. Many of our own neighborhood feuds might be settled as easily if we could get together and talk things over.

The Advance would be the last to take from any boy, no matter what his color, the chance to turn an honest nickel or dime; but the cloud of boot-blacks that beset the pedestrian with their cries of "Shine, Shine," is little short of a nuisance. Some way ought to be found to keep them from annoying people without debaring them from plying their trade.

AGONY COLUMN

EVERY NOW AND THEN SOMEBODY ASKS ME WHY I DON'T GET OUT A PAPER LIKE CARL GOERCH OR LIKE BRAXTON DOES AT KINSTON

AND THE ANSWER IS PLAIN THE SUN JOURNAL IS GOERCH AND THE FREE PRESS IS BRAXTON AND THE ADVANCE IS PEELE

AND OUR PAPERS CAN'T BE ANY MORE ALIKE THAN WE ARE

GOERCH AND BRAXTON ARE BETTER LOOKING THAN I AM BUT I DON'T BELIEVE EITHER OF 'EM HAVE MORE SENSE THAN I HAVE

THEIR PAPERS ARE BIGGER AND AT FIRST GLANCE MAKE A BETTER SHOW AND THEY PRINT MORE ADVERTISING THAN I DO

BUT I'LL BE DOGGED IF I CAN SEE ANY BETTER REPORTING OR ANY MORE LOCAL NEWS IN EITHER OF THEM THAN THERE IS IN THE ADVANCE

AND BY THE TIME THE ADVANCE IS AS OLD AS THE SUN-JOURNAL OR THE FREE PRESS THE ADVANCE WILL BE AS BIG AND PRINT AS MUCH ADVERTISING AS EITHER OF THEM

IF I COULD TAKE THE ADVANCE TO NEW BERN NOBODY'D WANT IT THERE EXCEPT A FEW SOREHEADS

AND I HAVE A SNEAKING NOTION THAT IF GOERCH COULD BRING THE SUN JOURNAL TO ELIZABETH CITY FOLKS WOULD STILL PREFER THE ADVANCE

ANYWAY EACH OF US IS BUSY WORKING OUT HIS OWN SALVATION ACCORDING TO HIS OWN IDEALS AND I THINK WE'LL ALL SUCCEED IN WHAT WE ARE STRIVING FOR TO SOME EXTENT AT LEAST PROVIDED THAT EACH OF US CONTINUES TO PUT HIMSELF INTO HIS PAPER AND DOESN'T TRY TO BE SOMEBODY ELSE

I THANK YOU

Do you realize how vital a necessity is coal? If there were any possibility of your food supply being forestalled you would soon take steps to insure a supply. Coal is entitled to the same consideration, and now is the time to take the necessary precautions. DON'T wait for winter. Pennsylvania Anthracite—Stove, Nut or Egg—Buckett and Pocahontas Lump.

SAYS SHE WAS NEVER BETTER

West Virginia Woman Well Again After Suffering 15 Years—Gained 15 Pounds

"Everyone at my house is a firm believer in Tanlac, for it has relieved me of my awful troubles and built me up fifteen pounds in weight," said Mrs. M. F. Barnett of 1814 4th Avenue, Euntington, West Virginia.

"For fifteen long years my stomach was in such a disordered condition everything I ate fermented and caused gas to form which bloated me up terribly, made my heart palpitate like it was going to jump out of my body and gave me the most awful cramping pains. I had no appetite and most of the time I couldn't retain anything on my stomach.

"This gas bothered me so at night I had to prop myself up with pillows in order to breathe, and as my nerves were also in a terribly upset condition I was never able to get a good night's sleep. I had awful pains in my back and sides, was badly constipated, had severe headaches and spells of dizziness. I felt bad all the time and almost too weak and tired to move.

"Well I finally decided to give Tanlac a trial and I felt a wonderful improvement before I had finished my first bottle. Since taking four bottles my appetite is so good I can hardly get enough to eat and my stomach never bothers me a particle.

"The pains have all gone from my back, I am no longer constipated and those headaches and spells of dizziness have left me completely. My nerves are perfectly calm and I sleep like a child all night long. All that weak, tired feeling is gone and I feel as well as I ever did in my life.

Brighten Your Home

Brighten up those dull corners. Paint and Varnish will often transform the room that is your "eye-sore" to the most attractive in the house.

Taking The Bunk Out of Advertising

In criticising advertisers who use national magazines we do not decry the value of magazines, nor do we imply that all magazine advertising is ill-advised.

Advertising is simply printed salesmanship. Its purpose is to sell merchandise.

Magazine circulation is necessarily scattered, reaching obviously and necessarily but a very small percentage of the people in any community.

Comparatively few manufacturers have anywhere near 100 per cent distribution. Therefore comparatively few advertisers can afford to place the bulk of their advertising only in magazines.

It is the practice of some companies to impress the dealer with the tremendous magazine program and suggest that the dealer get his share of the national demand thus created by advertising the manufacturers product in the local paper.

That may be all right if the manufacturer can get away with it, but why should the retailer spend his money to pull the manufacturer's chestnuts out of the fire?

Retailers and wholesalers can do much to take the bunk out of advertising if they will insist that the manufacturer confine his primary advertising to his channels of distribution.

The logic of demanding concentrated advertising at the point of sale, that is to say, the selection of mediums that reach the greatest number of peoples in a specific community where the manufacturer has induced the trade to sell his merchandise, is irrefutable because it is obvious common sense.

When you are asked to put any manufacturers' line on your shelves—

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear daughter, Mildred M. Stokes, who departed this life two years ago, August 15, 1919.

Today recalls sad memories of our loved one gone to rest, And those who think of her most are those who loved her best.

She little thought when leaving home that she would ne'er return; That she would soon sleep in death and leave us here to mourn.

Our home is sad and lonely without her smiling face; No one can fill her vacant chair and none can fill her place.

Dear Mildred, thou art gone to rest, and this shall be our prayer—"That when we reach our journey's end thy glory we may share."

FIRE BAKES PEARS ON TREE AT CHAPEL HILL

Chapel Hill, Aug. 15.—Baked pears as natural might have been eaten at Bob Strow's when three splendid pear trees had their fruit baked upon their limbs, when two garages, a child's playhouse and a wood house were burned just back of the bungalow on Mr. Strow's place near town.

About 6 o'clock the fire alarm was turned in, and some one telephoned Mr. Strow at his office in the post office that his garage was on fire.

"Impossible," he said, but anyway, to get in his car and drove as fast as he could out to his home. The fire company was the same team, but the fire was beyond the last town apartment. College boys and town people worked manfully with buckets of water, and with brushes beating out the fire as it spread, but from the first it was seen it was impossible to save the buildings themselves. As it is so unusual any, all efforts were made to keep the fire from reaching the nearby houses, Mr. Strow's own home, and a bungalow belonging to him, but occupied by a fraternal.

The loss was small, about $500, but there was no insurance. More than an acre of the surrounding woods was burned, the fire running up and firing the dry leaves on the trees like tinder. The fire was probably caused by a carelessly thrown lighted cigarette from the hand of a passing teamster.
