Filming Of History Will Commence Next Week

Fort Raleigh Reconstructed, Indian Village Built, Old English Ship Completed, And Work Of Making Costumes For 200 People Nearly Done

On Tuesday, September 20, will begin the filming of those events which three centuries and a half ago marked the beginning of the English colonization of the United States.

The old fort, known as Fort Raleigh, has been partially reconstructed on its original site, and the Indian village, which will play an important part in the stirring episodes to be pictured, has been completed except the covering of the Indian huts.

Edenton's part in the historical-educational drama will be the portrayal of the coming of the Ralph Lane Colony, the first colonizing expedition sent by Raleigh after the return of the explorers Amadas and Barlowe.

After hearing the glowing report of Amadas and Barlowe about the New World, Raleigh obtained an act of Parliament confirming his discovery.

King Wingina of the arrival of the English fleet and Manteo sent to the mainland. During his absence Sir Richard Greenville, with a number of his men went on an exploring trip to Asquodoc and Secotan, where he was feasted by the Indians.

The English carelessly left a silver cup lying about. This cup was stolen during the feast. The English when in their boats ready to leave discovered the loss and going back demanded the cup.

The natives to return it as they had promised, the English burned the village and trampled down the growing corn. This incident was the beginning of unfriendly feeling on the part of the Indians and the subsequent disasters to the colonists.

The men set to work to build themselves a fort and cabins in which to live. They explored the surrounding country. Manteo stayed with them and was of great assistance in keeping them warned against intended hostilities of the Indians.

The old friend of the English Granganimeo had died shortly after his visit to the ships, also his old father another, and Wingina the King never very friendly, became extremely hostile and began to secretly plan to destroy the colony.

By this time Lane had discovered that Roanoke Island was by no means an ideal place for a colony. He was expecting a re-inforcement from England, so he divided his men, sending some to Chesapeake Bay and planning to take the others to the mainland up Chowan River to meet

Francis Drake Comes

A few days later a messenger brought the news that Drake's fleet was anchored off the coast. Drake sent two offers to Lane. He would leave a ship, pinnace, boats and provisions or he would take the whole colony back to England.

'Twas Narrow Escape For Wilson Sanders

Twelve Year Old Boy Badly Crushed Saturday When Run Down By Automobile—May Recover

Wilson Sanders, twelve-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sanders of this city, is in a Norfolk hospital, with his right arm dislocated at the shoulder and the shoulder joint crushed and splintered, with a freshly set left-shoulder joint, and with a broken rib, a slightly cut forehead and a much-bruised body.

Wilson on his bicycle was run down by an automobile at the corner of Pool and Matthews streets Saturday evening shortly before six o'clock. The car was driven by Joe Collins, colored youth who acts as chauffeur for Dr. F. C. Cooke, negro dentist. The car was Dr. Cooke's and it was not the first time that it has figured in an accident.

The boy was on Pool street and riding toward Matthews. He was going at a pretty good clip. The chauffeur was on Matthews street driving west. The city hall obscured their view each of the other until they were within a short distance of the intersection.

The two saw each other apparently at about the same time. The chauffeur threw on his brakes and the car skidded past the corner. The boy apparently tried to check his speed and at the same time turn in the direction in which the automobile was going, but his wheel went from under him in making the turn and he fell directly in front of the car and was pinned under it, between the front wheels, as it came to a standstill.

Onlookers at the fire engine station rushed out and lifted the car from the boy's broken body. Blood was streaming from a cut in his head. The bone of the right arm stuck out through the torn flesh. The joint, subsequent examination by physicians showed when Wilson had been taken to his home on East Burgess street, had been turned completely over, so that the upper part of the joint, which one may feel when he places his hand on another's shoulder, was down on a level with the armpit.

Physicians worked over the young sufferer for long hours, while loved ones waited, racked between fear of the worst and hope for the best. Fearing internal injuries, physicians decided that it would be best to take the boy to Norfolk to a hospital, where an X-ray examination could be made.

The dislocated left shoulder joint was set before Wilson left home, but the torn and shattered right shoulder cannot be set until the inflammation has been in some measure overcome. It is not believed that the operation can be undertaken before Wednesday.

News Monday morning was that the boy was getting on as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Joe Collins, the negro chauffeur, is under $1,000 bond, pending the outcome of the boy's injuries.

ARBUCKLE UNDER MURDER CHARGE

World's Most Famous Fat Man In San Francisco Jail In Connection With Movie Actress's Death

San Francisco, Sept. 12 (By The Associated Press)—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, who was placed under arrest here on a charge of murder late Saturday night in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, still continues to refuse to talk or see visitors except his legal counsel. Twenty witnesses will go before the grand jury here tonight for a preliminary investigation, and a coroner's inquest into the cause of Miss Rappe's death is called for Thursday.

Miss Rappe, who is a well-known movie actress, died Friday after having been taken from Arbuckle's apartments in a local hotel last Monday following a party, in a critical condition. Physicians said that death was due to peritonitis superinduced by an internal injury. She was 25 years old, was born in Chicago, and first attracted attention in that city in 1913, it is said, by advice to young women to create original methods of making a living.

"Fatty" Arbuckle is 34 years old. He was born in Kansas, and gained his first motion picture experience as an extra man for companies producing slapstick comedies. Afterward he formed his own company, and has produced many film plays. Because bail is not allowable to a person charged with murder in California, Arbuckle was locked in jail pending the outcome of the investigation into Miss Rappe's death.

The showing of films featuring Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle were cancelled here today, following similar action at Medford, Mass., and Memphis, Tenn.

Sells Stolen Goods And Gets Caught

Colored Boy Sold First Loot To Metrey Woman And Went Back After More

For receiving stolen goods, Mrs. Mary Metrey, who keeps a small store on Poindexter street, was fined $25 and costs in recorder's court here Monday morning. The evidence was that she had bought two boxes of cigars from a small colored boy Saturday at one dollar a box, which the boy had stolen from the store of Will Morris, on Matthews street.

The colored boy is a son of Henry Spencer, the negro who was shot and killed last Christmas eve by Policeman George Twiddy in a prohibition raid on the Spencer home. The boy went back to get another box of cigars from the Morris store and was caught. He was too young to be tried in recorder's court, and will be given a hearing in juvenile court before Judge E. L. Sawyer. The small penalty imposed on Mrs. Metrey was by reason of the small value of the property.

John Pool, colored, was sentenced to twelve months on the roads for an assault upon his wife. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs, conditional upon the good behavior of the defendant for the next two years.

Frank Chambers, Emmett Brickhouse and Stanley Brickhouse were fined $10 and costs each for affray.
