EXPEDITION TO STUDY ESKIMOS

Will Be Sent Out From Johns Hopkins University To Discover New Theory Of Health

Halfax, N. S., Sept. 23 (By The Associated Press)—Problems of dietetics, nutrition and sex among the Eskimos will be studied by an expedition to be sent out next May by the School of Hygiene of Johns Hopkins University. The plans were outlined here by Dr. Victor E. Levine, professor of biochemistry and nutrition at the Creighton School of Medicine, Omaha, who visited Halfax early this month on his way to Battle Harbor, Labrador. Dr. Levine said that he had been sent as an advance guard to go with a party from Battle Harbor into the Eskimo country for a preliminary survey, particularly with regard to climatic conditions. He said that the main expedition next year would be solely one of scientific research and that it was planned to penetrate parts of the Eskimo region hitherto unvisited by white people. The Eskimos, he said, are the healthiest people in the world when not contaminated by white people. Because of this fact the members of the expedition hope that they may discover some new theory of health as put into practice by the dwellers in the northland. Dr. Levine and his party will return in November, 1922. The main expedition will spend next summer and part of the winter of 1923 among the Eskimos.

It's Annual Indian Day In Chicago

Celebration Is For Purpose Of Teaching American Youth Truth About The American Indian

Chicago, Sept. 23 (By The Associated Press)—Chief Oshkosh, a Winnebago Indian, recently returned from France where he has been teaching forestry, heads the Indians participating in Chicago's celebration of Indian Day today. Two years ago the Illinois legislature designated the Fourth Friday in September as an annual Indian Day, and this is its second observance here. Ceremonies will be held in Chicago's forest preserve under chairmanship of Ransom E. Kennicott, its chief forester. The Chicago Historical Society has joined with the forest preserve district, and the Boy Scouts will assist. A number of Indians have been invited by the district from reservations in Wisconsin and Oklahoma, and from Nebraska. "The youth of America are being brought up on the cigar sign Indian," said Miss Caroline M. Melvaine, librarian of the Historical Society, "and have no conception of the dignity and importance of the American Indian. The society is interested in Indian Day from the educational standpoint. We want to see develop a more just and true conception of the original American Indian."

Palestine Now Sparsely Settled

London, Sept. 22 (By The Associated Press)—There are now barely 700,000 people in all Palestine, a population much less than that of Galilee alone in the time of Christ, says Sir Herbert Samuel, the British High Commissioner there, in a report just made public. Ten thousand immigrants arrived in Palestine in the seven months between September, 1920, and May, 1921, he reports. Sir Samuel attributes the scarcity of the population to lack of development. The financial condition of Eastern and Central Europe, and internal difficulties within the Zionist organization of the United States, says the report, have prevented the Zionist movement from providing, as yet, any large sums for enterprises of development or colonization. As a consequence, while there had been much pressure to admit Jewish immigrants, there had been little expansion in the opportunities for employment, he declared. The water supply for Jerusalem having been found to be insufficient, the government is bringing into use some ancient reservoirs of vast capacity, named the pools of Solomon, but of unknown date, possible Herodian, situated eight miles away. The garrison of the country has been reduced to 5,000 combatant troops, imposing a charge of £2,500,000 on the British exchequer, or at the rate of £2500 for every fighting man.

EVERYBODY IS ASKED TO HELP

Early Next Week Bags Will Be Distributed For Housekeepers To Contribute To Welfare Work

Early next week paper bags will be distributed to Elizabeth City housekeepers. These bags will bear the name of the Elizabeth City Welfare Council and the date on which the bags will be collected. It was planned at the last meeting of the Council to carry out this plan. Everybody is asked to help. The bags merely are a reminder. Much more than they can hold is needed. Garments of all sorts for the winter, shoes, clothes for school children, sleeping garments for the sick, there is no end to the great aching need in Elizabeth City as the Welfare officer goes about her work day after day. These garments will be kept in the Red Cross store room and used as needed. It is hoped and believed that everybody will co-operate.

ITALY RESENTS CLASSIFICATION

National Pride Wounded At Being Placed Below Great Britain And France In League

Rome, September 4 (By The Associated Press)—Much indignation has been aroused in Italy by the proposal that, in determining the expenses of the League of Nations, Italy should be assigned to the second category. The Italian's national pride has been hurt by the suggestion and columns have appeared in the press protesting against the idea of relegating the country to a position inferior to other great powers. According to the suggestion, Great Britain and France would be placed in the first category while Italy and Japan would occupy the second. The price of being registered in the first category is 2,300,000 francs a year while those of the second pay but 1,600,000 francs a year. The Epoca gave expression to its feeling in this manner: "The affair is exceptionally unpleasant. Italy which has so potentially contributed to the victory cannot see herself assigned to the second category, as people who spend little are assigned to a restaurant of the second class."

SEAGULLS SAVED DAKOTA CROPS

Destroyed Grasshoppers Which Were Menacing Harvest—Monument To Birds In Salt Lake City Temple

Salt Lake City, Sept. 22 (By The Associated Press)—Report from North Dakota that seagulls recently appearing in McLean County had destroyed grasshoppers which threatened to ruin the crops, called attention here to a similar incident in Mormon pioneer life in Utah. Today a notable monument stands in the Mormon temple grounds in Salt Lake City in honor of the birds that saved the early settlers from threatened starvation in 1848. It is a pillar about 100 feet high surmounted by a bronze seagull. At its base are inscriptions detailing the reason for its erection with illustrations by Mahonri Young, the Utah sculptor.

The first pioneers trekked across the plains into Salt Lake valley in 1847. Brigham Young stipulated that there should be intensive cultivation of the land, crops were grown and the farmers looked for a bountiful harvest the next year. Then crickets in huge armies swooped down upon the crops. The farmers tried to eliminate the pest without success. Transportation at the time was difficult, means to obtain foodstuffs from distant points were limited, and the situation looked critical. When practically everyone had given up hope of saving any part of the crops, the seagulls, termed by old Mormons as the "messengers from heaven," appeared. They did not touch the grain but warred on the crickets and in a short time had ridden the fields of the pest. There are no records to show from whence the birds came. The seagull is Utah's sacred bird. It is unlawful to kill it. Many of the people of this state hold it in affectionate memory and during the summer thousands give of their bread to the birds that may be seen in large numbers at Saltair, a resort a few miles from here on the Great Salt Lake.

Case Against Winder Continued To Saturday

Juror Seized With Epileptic Attack Shortly After Court Convened Friday Morning And Second Seizure Followed Shortly After Noon—Court May Have To Order Mistrial

The defense was almost on the point of resting its case Friday morning, the last witnesses were being examined, when, without warning, G. W. Brown, one of the jurors, had an epileptic seizure and slumped forward in his chair in convulsions. The witness was removed to an anteroom and the court took a recess until eleven o'clock; hoping that by that time the juror would be able to resume his seat in the box. But eleven o'clock came with but little improvement in his condition, and the case was continued until Saturday morning, counsel on both sides asking the court not to order a mistrial as long as there was any hope of completing the trial. Since noon the juror has had another seizure, and his physicians believe it hardly probable that he will be fit for jury duty by Saturday morning. The defense put on no evidence at the hearing before the recorder and showed its hand for the first time Thursday afternoon when, the State having rested its case, Percy W. McMullan asked the defendant to take his place on the witness stand. Denies Girl's Story Taking the stand in his own behalf, Mr. Winder made emphatic and categorical denial of the story told in the recorder's court last April by thirteen year old Hattie Puckett and repeated by her without substantial change on the witness stand in Superior Court at the opening of Thursday afternoon's session. The girl's story was that on a certain afternoon in the latter part of last March she went, after school, to Mr. Winder's office to try to sell him a ticket to the Elks Minstrel Show then about to be given in the city, and that while she was in his office sitting in a rocking chair Mr. Winder made improper advances to her and forcibly and against her will abused her person and violated her chastity, so frightening her by his conduct that she was too confused and surprised to cry out. Mr. Winder admitted that the girl came to his office on the day in question and said that she had been a frequent visitor there. The rest of her story he not only denied; but declared that the girl made advances to him begging him to buy a ticket while she straddled his legs. Winder testified that he paid no attention to her posture and that she left his office without harm to her person and without any misconduct whatever on his part. "Hattie Puckett never had any attraction for me; I want that distinctly understood," he declared. When Solicitor Ehringhaus in cross examination chided him for permitting the child to "straddle his legs" as the witness described it unrebuked Mr. Winder exclaimed: "Why, sir, that girl has no more regard for a man than she has for a goat." He explained that he meant by this that she "cared nothing for what men thought of her." He based his opinion, he said, on her continual visiting in the offices of E. E. Clark and the artist, G. B. Matthews with whom, he said, she seemed on most intimate terms, spending considerable intervals in these offices, particularly that of Mr. Clark, with the
