URGES BEAUTIFY STATE HIGHWAYS

Charles Lathrop Pack Says North Carolina Has Opportunity To Set Great Example For Other States

Washington, Oct. 7.—The State of North Carolina has an opportunity to set a great example to the other states of the Union, with roads of remembrance and the beautification of her highways, in the opinion of Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry Association. The state convention of the North Carolina Highway Association at Greensboro on October 10 will be of the greatest importance to every county in the state, according to Mr. Pack, whose father was long identified with North Carolina. There are 600 miles of highway to be built. "In the program for good roads before the state of North Carolina," says Mr. Pack today, "the state has a wonderful opportunity. Since the State Highway Commission has power to give appropriate names to state highways why not plant them with memorial trees county by county.

The campaign of the American Forestry Association for memorial tree planting and for roads of remembrance was started the day after the signing of the armistice. Here is a work in which every citizen can have a real part. The plan has been taken up everywhere. The Association will be glad to send a tree planting bulletin and a tree day program to any one who asks for it. We are registering all trees on a national honor roll.

"There should be a tree planting organization in every county and the work pushed under the supervision of the highway commission. Educational possibilities in the schools are unbounded for every school child in the state can have a part in the tree planting program being sent out by the Association.

"The American Legion has indorsed memorial tree planting and there is not a town in the country where room cannot be found for one more beauty spot. Thousands of towns in the country are proving it every day and turning those spots into memorials in honor of the men and women who served in the World War. The American Legion is keenly interested in the project for one of the last public acts of Col. F. W. Galbraith, Jr., as commander of the American Legion, was the planting of memorial trees for his comrades in arms at the intersection of two great highways, near Dayton, Ohio.

"From there he went to Indianapolis, the headquarters of the American Legion, and issued a statement urging the state departments to push memorial tree planting everywhere. A few days later he was killed in an automobile accident.

"The trees planted by Col. Galbraith are at the intersection of the National and Dixie Highways at the little town of Vandalla, northwest of Dayton. The Legion is now making plans for continuing that tree plant-

Barge Line Now Has Tariff Rates Ready

Company Is Reorganized Under New Name With Felix Jackson As Manager

Following the resignation of Franklin T. Morris as general manager of the Baltimore, Philadelphia & Southern Transportation Company, operating a line of power barges from Philadelphia and Baltimore to Elizabeth City, Washington and New Bern, Felix Jackson, the president of the company, is now general manager as well.

Incidentally, the name of the company has been changed to the Inland Steamship Company, and the management announces a complete set of published tariffs for Elizabeth City, along with a revised barge schedule for the line. Barges are now booked to leave Philadelphia on Monday and Fridays at three p. m., Baltimore on Tuesdays and Saturdays at three p. m., and Norfolk Thursdays and Mondays at the same hour. They are scheduled to arrive at Elizabeth City on Tuesdays and Fridays at six o'clock in the morning, leaving at eleven a. m. and arriving at Washington on Wednesdays and Saturdays at three in the afternoon. The final destination, New Bern, is reached on Thursdays and Sundays at one o'clock p. m. Schedules on the return trips of the barges will be announced later.

A. C. Metcalf, formerly local claim agent of the Norfolk Southern Railroad, is traffic manager for the Inland Steamship Company at this city. He has offices in the local Chamber of Commerce offices, and will be glad to furnish complete information to shippers. The rates of the barge transportation line are materially lower than through rail rates for the points served.

Advance Carriers Take Trip To Fair

Are Given Admission To Grounds, And Passes To Bright Light Shows

The thirteen city carrier boys of The Advance were given a free trip to the Fair Friday, through the courtesy of the Fair Association and West's Bright Light Shows, and were treated to a day of fun and excitement at the grounds. The Fair Association gave the boys a free pass into the grounds, and Frank West, manager of the shows, then took them in tow and escorted them through the various amusement features. They were then left to their own devices, and those who returned in the afternoon reported a general good time.

The boys gathered in front of The Advance office at ten o'clock in the morning, when they were taken in a body to the grounds by Dempsey Saunders, of the firm of Corbett & Saunders, assisted by a member of The Advance staff. A noisy, excited crowd of boys were, all keyed up to the possibilities of the day's fun; and the numerous questions they asked were final proof of the interest they took in the event.

ing along those highways in honor of the commander for a mile on each route. The suggestion of the American Forestry Association that these trees be dedicated to Coy Galbraith has met with instant response in Montgomery County, for in the years to come these highways will become great "roads of remembrance" that will stretch across the continent from south to north and from west to east. President Harding has heartily indorsed memorial tree planting. The American Forestry Association will send to any organization for temporary use the trowel Mrs. Harding used in memorial tree planting for the Association.

BOND SCHEME TO GIVE RELIEF

To War-torn Nations, Re-awaken Confidence And Enable Stricken Nations To Pay Their Way, Says Fraser

Los Angeles, Oct. 7.—The Ter Meulen Bond Scheme for the relief of war-torn nations and new states will melt "frozen credits," allow creditor nations to extend materials help, revive the productive powers of countries upset by the war and will restore normal overseas trading, said Sir D. Drummond Fraser, of London, organizer of the plan for the League of Nations, in an address delivered here today before the American Bankers Association.

He emphasized the following points: It will re-awaken the dormant confidence in the ability of importers in war-stricken countries to pay their way.

Governments may keep expenditures within their revenue. Revenue producing assets of borrowing countries may be mobilized for the purchase of essential imports which in turn will restore the buying power of those countries. Lending countries of which the United States is the most important may secure, with a collateral bond, a safe outlet for exports.

The scheme does not attempt to stabilize exchanges. These were dislocated because war stocks were replaced at excessive prices in certain countries before the recovery of their export trade. Conditions of trade in these countries must be restored to normal. When they have been restored the exchanges will take care of themselves, he said.

Sir Drummond warned the bankers that restrictions of the credit of European countries means an inevitable shrinkage of exports from the United States or other creditor nations and a continued stagnation of foreign trade.

Sir Drummond suggested the formation of National Export Corporations in each of the leading countries—United States, England, France, and Italy and others, backed by a pro-rata guarantee of the governments, banks and other financial institutions and said that such concerns, if properly managed, should allow for normal foreign trade in a simple and effective manner as the banks now handle domestic trade.

Thousands of people were in attendance Friday afternoon for the automobile races, one of the unusual attractions of the 1921 Fair. And, then, Friday was School Day, and hundreds of the city's school children were added to the day's throngs.

In practically every respect the 1921 Fair has lived up to or exceeded its advance reputation—something unusual for local fairs to do. The consensus of public opinion is that this Fair has greatly exceeded all previous similar events in this city or section, and those who have attended have come away well pleased with what they have seen.

General comment on Thursday's races was altogether favorable, and Leslie Armstrong's little pacer, Billy Dale, attracted particular attention. Many of those who saw the horse's easy victory in the 2:12 race declare that he is the fastest pacer on the grounds.

West's Bright Light Shows, the Fair's amusement feature, will continue to hold forth Friday night, and on Saturday morning the shows will leave for Dunn, to operate at the fair there next week. The attractions and amusements have been conducted on a decidedly higher plane than some other similar show aggregations that have been here in recent years.

Ziegler's Band, on the job in the grandstand every afternoon during the Fair, has added much to the enjoyment of the Fair crowds by the good music rendered. Especially have the spectators been pleased with Waldorf's improvisation of "That Doggone Dog," a popular local hit composed by George Parker, better known as "Flat," of "Flat's Orchestra."

Thursday night's throngs at West's Bright Light Shows were the biggest night crowds that the shows have drawn thus far. The shows have been popular all the week, and have been able to make up in some measure for their ill fortune at the Williamston Fair Week before last, when they lost thousands of dollars by reason of small crowds attending.

Prosperity Wave Is Approaching

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 7 (By The Associated Press)—Optimistic predictions that a wave of prosperity is slowly but surely approaching on the incoming tide of better business were made at the closing sessions of the American Bankers' Association here this morning.
