Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 10

(By The Associated Press)—The Yankees stabbed the barb of defeat into the Giants' sides this afternoon and walked off the field with the third victory for the American League champions. Nehf pitched well, allowing six hits against ten by Hoyt.

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 10 (By The Associated Press)—Waite Hoyt, the Brooklyn high school boy, faced Arthur Nehf, the Giants' left hander, in the fifth game of the world's series today. Schang received Hoyt's slants, while Manager McGraw sent Elmer Smith in to catch for the Giants.

Y. M. C. A. AIDED COLORED YOUTH

General Secretary Of Chicago Tells Of Good Accomplished In Adjusting Rural Negro To Industrial City

Chicago, Oct. 10 (By The Associated Press)—Fourteen colored Y. M. C. A.s have been built in many cities during the past eight years and efforts are being made to erect several more. L. Wilbur Messer, general secretary of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., reports. Total cost has been $1,980,000.

These buildings were put up with the help of Julius Rosenwald of this city. Under a standing offer of $25,000 toward each new one he has contributed a total of $350,000, and his offer has still a year and a half to run.

Paid-up membership in the negro associations numbers 22,000 and they reach many more, Mr. Messer said. That in Chicago, the first and largest, had about 2500 men and boys members last year. It was at Mr. Rosenwald's suggestion and with his help that the plan was tried here and his gifts to other cities continues to be made through the Chicago Y. M. C. A.

George A. Arthur, a slightly built colored man, is in charge of the Chicago colored department. Colored management is the rule through all 14 of these departments. Mr. Arthur had made a success in business before he resolved to pioneer in this field, and Mr. Messer reports he has conducted his department "with success and credit" and that there is "no more loyal Y. M. C. A. in Chicago."

The budget of Mr. Arthur's department this year is $89,000 and the colored people pay about $7 per cent of it. Adjustment of the rural negro of the South to the industrial North is a more difficult problem than that of the immigrant, according to Mr. Arthur. He adds that the colored Y. M. C. A.s have been the chief factor in their communities in promoting this readjustment, because they were the only institutions that had the necessary equipment, methods on leadership already at hand.

The final score in Sunday's game stood:

DAVID B. SIMPSON DIES SUDDENLY

Passes Away After Illness Of Less Than Two Hours At Home On North Road Street

David Braxton Simpson died suddenly at his home on North Road street Saturday evening at fifteen minutes to eight o'clock. Death was due to cerebral hemorrhage, the result of high blood pressure, from which Mr. Simpson had been a sufferer for some time.

Death, however, was unexpected and a severe shock to family and friends. For several months Mr. Simpson had seemed in unusually good health and Saturday evening at six he was down town, apparently as well as he had ever been, talking to his wife. Fifteen minutes later news of his seizure came to her at Mitchell's.

Mr. Simpson was at home in the sitting room when the attack came on. After his seizure he managed to walk out to the back porch, where he tried to support himself until his boys, Paul and Braxton seeing him sinking, could assist him to a chair, and, when he was unable to sit up, neighbors who had come in laid him on a couch. He spoke once or twice; and after he had been laid on the couch asked for a glass of water. Mrs. Simpson reached home at six-thirty and he recognized her; but was unable to speak. At 8:15 he died. He was 44 years old.

So passed without suffering and as quietly as he had lived David Braxton Simpson, one of the most unassuming of men, and yet a man of purest Christian character. "If I were asked to name the three best men in Elizabeth City," said one of his neighbors a few days before his death, "one of them would be D. B. Simpson."

Mr. Simpson is survived by his widow and his two sons, Paul, aged fourteen, and Braxton, aged twelve. There are two brothers, Henry T. Simpson of Salisbury and B. A. Simpson of Woodleaf; and two sisters, Mrs. L. C. Hellig of Salisbury and Mrs. S. D. Smith of Spencer.

Mr. Simpson's mother was sister to Rev. George Washington Ivey, noted North Carolina circuit rider of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, who traced his ancestral name back to the days of William the Conqueror. Mr. Simpson himself was a devout communicant of Christ church of this city.

The funeral was conducted from the home Monday afternoon at four o'clock. Rev. G. F. Hill, rector of Christ church, officiating, assisted by Rev. H. E. Myers, pastor of City Road Methodist church. The members of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of Christ church, of which organization Mr. Simpson was a loyal member, acted as pallbearers; music was rendered by the Christ church choir, and the Junior Order attended in a body.

Attending the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Smith, L. C. Hellig and Henry Simpson of Salisbury; Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Robinson of Washington, D. C., brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Simpson; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Powell, brother-in-law and sister, and Kenneth C. Robinson, brother, of Norfolk; J. J. Civilla, brother-in-law; Mrs. J. H. Clarke, aunt, and Mrs. Neal Williams, cousin, and Mrs. Augusta Crutch, niece, all of Washington, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Robinson of Cape May, New Jersey, brother and sister-in-law. Sickness in the families prevented one brother, B. A. Simpson, and one sister, Mrs. Hellig, from attending the funeral.

Here to attend the funeral of her husband's brother-in-law, D. B. Simpson, Mrs. K. C. Robinson of Norfolk, 36 years old, dropped dead in the dining room of the Simpson home Monday afternoon at 15 minutes after 12 o'clock. She arrived here in her usual health, had made no complaint of any feeling of illness through the morning and was busy in the dining room when she sank to the floor in a faint and never regained consciousness. A physician hurriedly summoned found her heart still beating but it failed to respond to a hypodermic stimulant and shortly after the doctor's arrival life went out.

She is survived by her husband, Kenneth C. Robinson of Norfolk, who is a brother to Mrs. D. B. Simpson, and by a nine-year-old son, by a former marriage.
