While Mays and Douglas Stage Pitchers Battle In Fight To Break Tie — Metropolitan Fans Expect Contest To Run Full Nine Games

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 12 (By The Associated Press)—The Giants won a nerve racking pitchers' battle from the Yanks this afternoon by a score of 2 to 1.

The spitballer Douglas won the decision by a hair line over the underhanded flinger Mays. Ward's error of an easy grounder after two were out in the seventh and Snyder's two-base hit laid the American Leaguers low. The series now stands: Giants, 4; Yankees, 3.

Polo Grounds, N. Y., Oct. 12 (By The Associated Press)—The Yankees depended on Mays today to give them an edge in the world's series with the Giants. Schang was behind the plate. Phil Douglas went to the mound for the Giants and Snyder caught.

Tied at three games each after a week of warfare, the opposing teams were keyed to the highest pitch. It was expected that the winner of the seventh game would indicate the world's series winner.

Metropolitan fans think that the contest will go the full nine games. Babe Ruth was held to the grandstand by five different hurts, any one probably sufficient to keep many players out of the game.

Clear cold weather prevailed. A heavy rain early this morning ceased before the fans started to the Polo Grounds.

Store Room Is Open For Inspection

The Welfare Council meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Tuesday night was the most encouraging meeting yet held, for at this meeting reports were made of the success of the recent collection of garments in the welfare bags, and those who had not seen the splendid results achieved were literally overwhelmed by the sight which met their eyes when the Red Cross storerooms were opened for inspection.

There are four rooms in the suite and each room is filled with clothes, good clothes, for men, women and children. That the Welfare Council has accomplished this much in the short time since its organization means much to those who are in need and will be helped from the storeroom.

Indeed, already, almost two hundred garments have come from the storeroom under the supervision of the welfare officer, and a number of little children have been enabled to enter school who could not have done so otherwise.

The only regret of Tuesday night's meeting was that more were not present. The welfare officer will open the Red Cross rooms from 4:30 to 5:30 every afternoon for a week, beginning today, and at this time visitors are cordially invited to visit the room and see what has been accomplished by the generous co-operation of the people of the city. The view will gladden every heart and encourage everybody to further effort for the community.

Not only will the needy of the town be helped but Mrs. Maggie Blount of the County Welfare Board has already arranged to help some of the children in the country who are out of school because they need clothes to wear.

Mrs. Lewis, welfare officer, stated at the meeting that wherever there is a man in the needy family it will be necessary for him to appear before Juvenile Court Judge Sawyer, and state his case, but where there are only women and children in the family she will make the investigation and see that the needy are supplied and that donations are made wisely and justly.

CHEROKEE CHAPTER MEETS

Predict Twenty Five Cents For This Season's Cotton

Prominent Cotton Brokers Of New York Warn South Against Being Deceived By The Insidious Propaganda Of Eastern And English Interests

School Election In Salem Is Successful

Remainder Of Township Will Be Included In Weeksville High School District

The special tax high school election held in Salem Township Tuesday carried by a safe majority, and the first step toward better educational facilities in the part of the township not already in the Weeksville high school district has been taken. Of the 152 persons who registered for the election, 97 voted for the school, 44 failed to vote, and only eleven voted against the special tax. In other words, 29 votes more than were necessary to assure the majority needed were cast for the high school.

The schools of Salem Township outside the original Weeksville high school district will continue in operation through the present school term; but by the next session it is probable that a new and entirely modern high school may be erected, depending of course only upon whether the necessary funds may be available.

In 1915, when Newland Township voted for the establishment of the present high school there, the people of Salem voted down a similar issue in their township. Three and a half years later a special tax election held in a district formed partly of each Newland and Salem Townships, was carried. The election held Tuesday includes the remainder of Salem Township in this district, which has heretofore been known as the Weeksville high school district.

The County Board of Education will meet in a special session Monday morning at ten o'clock to consolidate the new Salem district and the Weeksville district, and to set a date for the election on the school site.

Simmons, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, the House rules committee heard representatives of negro organizations in support of resolutions providing for Congressional investigation of the order. William Trotter, of Boston, declared the Klan an "organization which interferes with the personal liberties of the people."

New York, Oct. 12 (Special)—Under the caption of "The South Should Awaken To The Present Insidious Bull Propaganda" Oliver & Houghton, cotton brokers of 59-61 Pearl Street, made public today a statement of unusual significance. This is the firm which came in for considerable attention last August because of their exclusive prediction that a big upward swing in the price of cotton was imminent. Their statement of today follows:

"Right now the South is confronted with the problem of avoiding gigantic financial losses despite the fact that it holds all the high cards. To us it looks as if there is a little game being worked by certain eastern and foreign combinations who are 'Bears' merely masquerading in 'Bull' clothing. Beyond all question of doubt the cotton crop of this year, combined with the carry over, is not anywhere near enough to meet world requirements. These people know this just as well as we know it, but they do not wish to pay a legitimate price if they can avoid it. If the South will but sit steady and call their bluff every time it will win as sure as fate. Otherwise, otherwise!"

"There never was a more despicable and questionable piece of bunk pulled off than was recently witnessed right after the last Government Condition Report was issued. It was sheer ruthless slaughter-unjustified and cruel beyond words. The 'interests' had carefully, cunningly and persistently fed the public with a condition of under forty' propaganda. When the condition was announced as 42.2 they purposely and maliciously broke the market 193 points (2 cents per pound) in less than three minutes. Now, in all reason, what difference did this slight increase in the predicted figures make? None, absolutely, none! The actual facts were that the second smallest crop since the civil war was assured, yet it was made to appear as though something dreadful had happened.

"Now, listen carefully! Here is their little game. They run the market up two or three hundred points, hold it there for a brief time, spread a great deal of Bullish information to induce outside buying thus making the market technically weak, and then in an unguarded moment hammer the price down suddenly and shake out the timid holders. This has been done over and over again during the past two months purely for the purpose of leading the South to believe that it is cherishing a delusion in hoping for much higher prices, and that its cotton better be sold between 19 and 29 cents while the opportunity is offered. In this manner the South is being discouraged and its faith and confidence in its own inherent strength is being undermined—even destroyed. We say to the Southland in all seriousness—'Hold on! Be not deceived! You have a literal gold mine in your possession. Your fleecy white staple can and should be turned into fat bank accounts. Do not be misled and wheeled out of your heritage by those who 'spin not, neither do they sow,' yet who, like hungry jackals, are waiting for you to drop your highly valued cotton into their greedy maws. Be steadfast and patient a little longer. Make them pay and pay no heed to any price under twenty-five cents per pound."
