One Club Of Subscriptions May Decide Winner Of Auto

Narrowing Down of Race Means All Contestants Are Busy With Efforts To Win Handsome Ford Sedan. It's Anybody's Race Now And Contestant With Most Perseverance Will Win

My! But wouldn't it be awful to lose the Ford sedan by the margin of just one club? Yes, indeed, it would be, and that is just what some contestants are going to do, unless that "one" club is secured and that before many other decreases take place. The difference between securing it this week, and securing it next week, is represented by thousands and thousands of votes, which makes it quite plain that now is the right time to acquire as many votes as possible. It has been made obvious, by three decreases in the vote earning power of subscriptions, that by working now, you get more for your work.
Before May the 27th, five subscriptions earned a total of 625,000 votes. Today, less than three weeks since, the same five subscriptions

Fourteen Years Spent In Building Monument

Shows Washington At Battle Of Princeton Watching His Men In Retreat

Princeton, N. J., June 9. (By The Associated Press)—The Princeton Battle Monument, commemorating the battle of Princeton, is from the hand of F. W. MacMonnies, of New York, who created the much discussed Civic Virtue statue in front of the New York City Hall. He has been working on it since 1908, the period of the war excepted. It is located on Nassau street, in front of the old Princeton Inn, and was erected by The Princeton Battle Monument Committee, which raised $300,000 for the purpose.
The memorial is a large relief with General Washington as the main figure, thus combining the ideas of the heroic, of fame, and of victory. It represents Washington at the battle of Princeton, January 3, 1777, watching his men as they retreat, General Mercer, who was killed in the battle, lying dying at his feet. The lower part of the monument consists of several minor figures portraying several forms of heroism under difficult circumstances of the battle, Dr. P. S. Grant, of New York, posed for General Mercer; Dr. Allen Marquand for the soldier who is rushing forward, and Charles Dana Gibson, the illustrator, for the figure of the soldier who is supporting the fallen general.

Potato Report Service Will Begin On Saturday

George E. Prince, representative of the United States Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, has arrived, and will begin the Government market report service for potatoes shippers of this section Saturday morning. Mr. Prince will receive reports on the movements of the crops, the condition of shipments, and the market quotations from the principal centers. He will make this information available to growers and shippers each day immediately after the telegrams are received.
For the first time in the recent history of the crop, these reports will be received here on the day to which they refer. Monday's quotations and movements will be made public on Monday, instead of on Tuesday, as has heretofore been the case. Mr. Prince will also send out reports on the condition and quantity of shipments on the Elizabeth City market.
Persons interested in obtaining this government market report service should get in touch with Mr. Prince at the Community Building, where his headquarters will be until the close of the season.
For the benefit of readers interested in the potato situation, The Advance will publish from day to day, as fast as they are received, the Government reports which Mr. Prince receives and sends out.

SAYS OLDER MEN MAKE BETTER LOVERS

The showing of "Morals" the current feature picture at the Alkrama today, has revived the ancient debate as to which makes the better lover, the youth or the experienced man.
The leading man playing opposite Little May McAvoy is William P. Carleton, distinguished actor of forty years' experience. He makes love "gorgeously," say the girls who have seen the film.
"It's me for an old man's darling!" exclaimed one young thing as she came out of the theater. "When a girl marries she needn't make it exactly a case of May and December. But a man who is along at the late September or October period certainly makes a better protector than a kid boy just the same age as the girl."

Motorcycle Races For District Fair

Management Of Fair Association Planning To Hold Biggest And Most Entertaining Fair Ever

Racing fans will learn with real delight that besides the excellent horse racing program already arranged, a series of motorcycle races will be given during the District Fair, to be held at this city October 10-13. Buxton White, secretary-manager of the Albemarle Agricultural Fair Association, was completing arrangements this week with Vance Tilley, of Raleigh, whereby Mr. Tilley will furnish four fast motorcycle racers for the fair. Besides these four, it is indicated that there will be local entrants for the motorcycle races.
Tom Cannon, veteran race starter for the Southern Atlantic seaboard, and one of the best known racehorse men in the Eastern United States, has been engaged for this year's District Fair. Mr. Cannon served as starting judge at last year's fair, to the satisfaction of everybody concerned.
The Albemarle Fair Association is already signing contracts for exhibition space in the Fair Ground auditorium and exhibit hall, and indications are that the demand for this space will exceed the supply, according to Secretary-Manager White. One committee is busy going over and revising the Fair premium list, striking out obsolete awards and substituting others for which there should be competing entries, but which have been omitted from previous lists. Another committee is selling stock for the proposed agricultural exhibit hall, and considerably more than half this stock has already been subscribed.
Arrangements are still in progress for the ladies' rest room, which the Fair Association hopes will be built and in readiness by the opening day of the fair. Negotiations are under way for a carnival and free attractions on an unheard-of scale here, and no effort will be spared to make this the biggest, most entertaining, and most representative District Fair ever held at Elizabeth City.

Traffic Violators In Court In Full Force

Ralph Pool is called to witness stand to give name and address of bootlegger he wrote about.
Jim Whedbee, J. G. Bateman, Raymond Brothers and D. V. Pritchard, charged with operating motor trucks without license as required by law, were taxed with the costs of hearings in recorder's court here Friday morning. All accepted the verdict of the court except Mr. Pritchard, who noted an appeal to Superior Court, and was placed under a bond of fifteen dollars.
Horace Gregory, charged with speeding, was fined ten dollars and costs. A second charge of reckless driving was dismissed.
The case of John Trueblood, charged with violation of the traffic ordinances, was continued to Saturday morning.
Ralph Pool was called to the stand at the close of proceedings, and was asked to give the name and address of the alleged bootlegger from whom he obtained the interview. "Bootlegging No Longer A Profitable Business," which was published in a recent issue of The Advance. The witness testified that he did not know the man's name or address, and after court made the following statement:
"Shortly before Christmas, I was out riding in my flier late one afternoon, in the vicinity of North Road street, when I was stopped by an individual I did not know. 'Do you want to buy something to drink for Christmas?' he asked. 'I've got something extra special, at twelve dollars a gallon.' 'No, your price is too high,' I replied and drove on.
"About ten days ago, while again out driving in the same part of the city, I overtook a man whom I recognized as the one who had approached me before Christmas on the liquor question. He spoke when I caught up with him, and I offered to give him a ride. He climbed into the car and rode on. Presently, he made the remark that he had quit selling whiskey. I asked him the reason, and he said that there was no longer any money in it for the retailer. He talked on, and, realizing that the public might be interested in what he was telling, I rode around with him for an hour or more, until I had obtained the statements set forth in that lately much-discussed article in The Advance. I did not ask the man his name or address, and he did not volunteer the information.
"I make this complete statement because so many people have asked me about my source of information for the article. Even the Federal Prohibition Director, R. A. Kohloss, has written for information. The article appeared in The Advance of May 31, and there are still a few extra copies on hand at the office which may be secured while they last, at five cents a piece."

THE REAPPOINTMENT OF W. P. G. HARDING URGED

ELKS WIN AGAIN IN SPEEDY GAME

In A Pitchers' Battle And Pinner Aided By Evans, Gets Decision Over Sawyer

In one of the best played and most exciting games of the season, the Elks defeated the Red Men Thursday afternoon by the score of 1 to 0. The Elks scored their lone marker in the first inning when Beveridge, first man up, hit to pitcher and advanced to second when Sawyer threw wide to first. He took third and scored a moment later on infield outs.

Sawyer of Mill Dam pitched his first game since joining the Red Men and pitched a fine game. He was steady throughout and was never in danger after the first inning when his own error paved the way for his defeat. The Elks could do little or nothing with his delivery, and he displayed a coolness in the pinches which was creditable. Besides his own good hurling, he was supported in remarkable style by his infield which was not slowed up by the heavy diamond. Two double plays at critical times helped him out of embarrassing situations.

Pinner was in the box for the Elks and for the first time in two years, he was backed by gilt-edge support. He kept his few hits scattered except in the seventh inning when two singles over the infield, and a fluke hit, jammed the bases with one down. At this juncture, Evans relieved him in the box and ended the game by striking out Owens and Bufflap.

TELEGRAPHERS WILL HARDLY BE INCLUDED

Chicago, June 9 (By The Associated Press)—The railroad telegraphers will probably not be included in the third wage reduction order of the Railroad Labor Board. The telegraphers number approximately 81,000. Although Board members made no direct statement on the next cut, rumors persisted in predicting a smaller cut for clerk forces than those affecting shopmen.
Cincinnati, June 9 (By The Associated Press)—The executive committees of six railway shop crafts unions in each of the country's three divisions will convene at Chicago on June 24 preparatory to canvassing the shopmen's strike vote which is returnable June 25. It was announced here today by B. M. Jewell, head of the federated shops crafts.
