Men Soon To Go To Work

Believed That Neither Roads Nor Shopmen Can Reject Administration Plan

Washington, July 31 (By The Associated Press)—President Harding was said today by close personal friends and advisors to have received assurances from Chairman Cuyler of the rail executives, Vice President Atterbury of the Pennsylvania, and B. M. Jewell, head of the strikers, that they would support his proposal for an immediate ending of the strike.

Cuyler Denies It

Philadelphia, July 31 (By The Associated Press)—Chairman Cuyler said, "It's not true" that the railroad employers have given assurances that they will support the President's proposal for ending the strike.

Chicago, July 31 (By The Associated Press)—Strike leaders are arriving from all parts of the country today for Tuesday's meeting called to consider President Harding's plan for settlement of the railway strike and hopes are expressed that the men will be back at work before the end of the week.

The position of the striking shopmen was expressed by A. O. Wharton, labor member of the Labor Board, who declared, "If either the railroad executives in New York or the shopcrafts policy committee in Chicago should reject Harding's peace proposal, the group that rejects it would face the full responsibility for continuance of the railroad strike and all that might result therefrom."

Hooper At Washington

Washington, July 31 (By The Associated Press)—Chairman Ben Hooper of the Labor Board, arrived here today from Newport, Tenn., for a conference with the President on the strike situation.

Japanese City Has Money And To Spare

Kobe, Japan, July 31.—The city of Kobe finds itself in the enviable position of having a surplus of three million yen from its 1921 municipal budget. The city has always budgeted liberally and collected taxes to cover the estimated expenditure to the last yen. Therefore the happy state of the city's finances.

TOWNSHIP CONSTABLE EMMETT DIDN'T TAKE NEXT STEP

Thirty days on the roads for assault and thirty days for carrying a concealed weapon was the double sentence imposed on Fred Harris, colored, in police court Monday morning in connection with a difficulty which the defendant had with Township Constable Emmett a little over a month ago. Mr. Emmett testified that the negro was raising a disturbance on Walnut street and that when he threatened to put Harris under arrest the darky drew a gun and with more emphasis than elegance threatened to 'let daylight through the constable if the latter advanced another step. Unarmed, Mr. Emmett took counsel of discretion and went home for his own gun. When he got back his darky was gone. Harris had not been seen in these parts since until Sunday, when he came home to visit his folks and was arrested.

Rear lights, or rather lack of them, on motor trucks continued to take toll of the earnings of truck drivers or their employes. William Morgan and Frog Miller, both colored, were taxed with the costs, amounting to $4.45, for this offense.

J. B. Hickman was taxed with the costs for turning his car around on East Main street.

STAR SHOWS RIDING SKILL IN PHOTOPLAY

Admirers of Pauline Frederick—her number is legion throughout the world—who have never seen her ride before are going to be greatly astonished when they see her in her latest starring vehicle, "The Sting of the Lash," produced by R-C Pictures Corporation and scheduled for screening at the Alkrama Theater tonight. In this production she does some riding that would have taxed the ability of an old range hand.

Awning Fire Might Have Been Real Blaze

Walking down toward the river shore between seven and eight o'clock Sunday evening a number of people were amazed to see smoke and flames apparently bursting from the building occupied by the D. R. Morgan Company and the Prin-Coe-Cola Company on Water street. Little Susie Crank was one of the first to see the smoke and it was she who hurried to a telephone and called the fire company to the scene. By that time a crowd had gathered and it was discovered that only the bottling company's awning was on fire. The awning was tightly rolled up against the building and was damp besides. It is supposed that a cigarette carelessly tossed up from the street fell upon it and lodged, starting the smoke and finally the blaze. Given a little more time the building would probably have caught. The damage as it was amounted to about $10.

WANCHESE NEWS

Wanchese, July 27.—Miss Sarah E. Towe left Tuesday to return to her home at Garysburg, after spending several days here the guest of Miss Mary Scarborough. Miss Towe is the daughter of Rev. William Towe, a member of the North Carolina Methodist Conference and at one time pastor of Dare Circuit, just across the Sound from here. Mr. Towe, during his pastorate in this county, was a great singer and was praised very highly as a music teacher.

After being away a short time visiting relatives and friends at Rodanthe and Salvo, Bradford Payne returned to his home here Tuesday afternoon feeling highly honored, having received such courteous treatment from the people of the lower banks during his short stay there.

Miss Tracie Cahoon has been very sick at her home here for the past week but is now improving.

W. C. Twiddy, sales agent for the Dayton Moneyweight Scale Company of Dayton, Ohio, with offices at Elizabeth City, was here Tuesday in the interest of the company.

Ira Thomas, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howard, of Norfolk, is here visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Davis.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent Friday when a crowd of girls and boys, numbering more than twenty-five, in honor of Miss Eugenia Sykes, of Berkeley, Va., who is here visiting friends, went over to Bodies Island beach on an excursion at which bathing was the most important sport featured. They report that the entire Coast Guard crew at that station went in bathing with them, which made them feel well protected while in the surf.

Alonzo Midgett, salesman for A. F. Toney & Company, Elizabeth City, was here Tuesday on business.

Clooke Saunders, Captain Benjamin Daniels, Billy Tillett, Luther Midgett and Reggie Tillett were at Manteo Tuesday night.

Tom Creel, one of the leading business men of Manteo, was here Tuesday on business.

Miss Laura Davis and her music pupils with a few special friends spent part of the afternoon Wednesday at Fort Raleigh bathing. Miss Davis has been promising her class a trip of that kind for some time but not until this week had she found it possible to make good her promise.

The crowd consisted of ladies only with the exception of Ellis Davis, and the only reason for his presence there was to drive the motor truck in which they were making the trip.

Mrs. Sarah Frances Daniels returned to her home Wednesday from Manteo where she has been spending several days with her two sons, Monnie and Alonzo Daniels. Mrs. Daniels reports a very pleasant trip and seems to like the town very well for a short time but for a home she chooses the country every time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hooker left Monday morning on the steamer Trenton with their daughter, Elizabeth, for Norfolk where the latter will undergo an operation at Sarah Leigh hospital. Mrs. Hooker will take treatment there also.

Mrs. J. W. Poole and family are spending several days at Nags Head.

RALEIGH BANKER QUOTES ST. PAUL

E. B. Crow Tells Farmers All Will Suffer Unless They Learn Value Of Co-operative Marketing

Halifax, July 31.—The Bible and co-operative marketing of cotton go hand in hand, declared E. B. Crow, prominent Raleigh banker, in an address in the interest of the cotton sign-up drive. Like St. Paul on the road to Tarsus, the Raleigh financier got a vision when he went to California last year, and that vision is to build a civilization in North Carolina that will take women and little children out of the cotton fields.

After making a thorough investigation of co-operative marketing in California, Mr. Crow said that he returned home determined to do his part to establish a similar marketing system in this State. The Raleigh banker, who has gained a state-wide reputation as a Sunday School teacher, went to the Bible to seek light on the subject. He wanted to ground his faith so firmly that there could be no doubt about it he said.

Scriptural evidence for co-operation he found in plenty but it was the twelfth chapter of First Corinthians that furnished his text for his address here this afternoon.

"And whether one shall suffer, all the members shall suffer with it," said St. Paul. No banker, or merchant or manufacturer has a right to say that because I am not a farmer, I have no interest in the farmer," declared Mr. Crow in making a modern application to the Apostle's message.

An outworn system of selling and of financing sales of cotton should give way to one that is in accord with the spirit of the times, Mr. Crow continued. Just as the horse and buggy has given way to the automobile as a modern means of traveling.

It is a sound financial proposition or else the government would not have backed the Cotton Association in this State to the extent of approving a loan of ten million dollars, he said and he could see no reason why any cotton grower should hesitate to sign a contract to join the Cotton Association.

Can Photograph Both Sounds And Pictures

University Of Illinois Patents Second Of Its Inventions For Producing Talking Movies

Urbana, Ill., July 31 (By The Associated Press)—Prof. Joseph T. Tykociner of the University of Illinois, after ten years' work, has constructed a machine which not only photographs the usual moving picture as seen on the screen but at the same time and on the same film photographs sound. It was announced by the University today. So far have the experiments gone that the ring of a bell, the slam of a door, and the human voice are reproduced in the laboratory tests, it was stated.

With the patenting of this machine, the University has obtained the second of its patents on apparatus fundamental in the art of talking motion pictures. Six months ago that institution announced another of its staff, Professor Jakob Kunz, had perfected a selenium cell which unlike its predecessors, it was stated, did not show any fatigue through use. This cell is used for photograph sound.

The apparatus which is working daily at the University takes moving pictures simultaneously with the photographing of the speech of the acting persons. The machine is equipped with a mercury arc of special construction. The intensity of light varies in accordance with the speech of the acting person; and the light from the arc is focussed upon the moving film by a sound recording instrument. The sound record is a narrow band of varying transparency, running along the edge of the film. As the film passes through the camera about two-thirds or three fourths of it is exposed to the scene being photographed. The remainder of the film is given over to photographing the various sounds. In this manner every section and every sound is reproduced in corresponding places on the record, guaranteeing synchronism of visual and sound impression, the university statement said.

"As to the reproduction of the sound, this is possible because of the photo-electric cell, invented by Professor Kunz," the statement continued. This cell is similar in shape to an electric light bulb. When light passes through it sets up an electric charge. Although the amount of the electricity thus generated is small in amount, it is amplified to the point necessary where sound waves are produced by means of a loud-speaking telephone."

Dr. J. W. Dickle of Southern Pines was named as vice chairman of the medical section. Dr. Dickle is superintendent of a well equipped sanatorium in Southern Pines and thoroughly conversant with tuberculosis work. Mrs. Gordon Finger of Charlotte, president of the association, will preside over the real sale session and Mrs. Charles R. Whitaker of Hendersonville, vice president of the association, will conduct the modern health crusade session.

TUBERCULOSIS ASS'N MEETS AT GOLDSBORO

Important Phase Of Public Health Work Is Being Studied By Experts

Sanatorium, July 31.—The executive committee of the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association met Saturday at Sanatorium to make preliminary arrangements for the annual North Carolina Conference on Tuberculosis, which will be held early in October. An invitation from the Chamber of Commerce of Goldsboro to hold the sessions in that city was unanimously accepted.

Director of the association, was appointed chairman of the sociological section and he has promised some important and interesting papers dealing with the relation of tuberculosis and public health work. Dr. Charles L. Minor of Asheville was appointed chairman of the medical section, which assures a fine program for that section. Dr. Minor is especially well qualified as chairman for this section, having spent a number of years both in this country and abroad in the study of tuberculosis and his message will be valuable and authoritative. Dr. J. W. Dickle of Southern Pines was named as vice chairman of the medical section. Dr. Dickle is superintendent of a well equipped sanatorium in Southern Pines and thoroughly conversant with tuberculosis work. Mrs. Gordon Finger of Charlotte, president of the association, will preside over the real sale session and Mrs. Charles R. Whitaker of Hendersonville, vice president of the association, will conduct the modern health crusade session.

The last general meeting of the association held in Greensboro was productive of much good. The interest developed in tuberculosis work as a result of the meeting gave the necessary impetus to carry a victorious election to provide funds for a much needed county sanatorium and it is hoped that this year not only Wayne but many other counties will profit as a result of the meeting.

The association has adopted a program for nutrition work to be inaugurated at once among under-nourished children. Fully thirty per cent of the children in this state are malnourished, as has been shown by surveys, and in such condition are especially susceptible to tuberculosis.

By establishing nutrition classes under the direction of competent physicians and nurses, the association hopes to bring a large number of these boys and girls up to par. This work will be launched with the cooperation of the State Board of Health and if results justify, will be extended to every county in the State. Many tuberculosis experts contend that practically all tuberculosis in adult life is the result of childhood infection and if we can keep the children in good physical condition during the growing period, they will not develop tuberculosis in later life. The nutrition work is a step in this direction and who knows how far-reaching the results might be?

Miss Nita Benton left Monday for Nags Head, where she will be the guest of Mrs. W. H. Jennette.
