TUTTLE FUNERAL WILL BE SIMPLE

Bishop's Death Brings Messages of Condolence From All Parts of World to Sorrowing Family.

(By The Associated Press)
St. Louis, April 18.—Messages of condolence from clergy and laity in all parts of the world are pouring in to the residence here of Right Reverend Daniel S. Tuttle, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, who died yesterday afternoon after a lingering illness induced by grippe.

The funeral services Friday afternoon at Christ church will be simple in compliance with the request of relatives.

Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America, was the oldest active Anglican bishop in the world. Born in Windham, N. Y., Jan. 26, 1837, he was the son of a blacksmith. A bishop since 1867, and head of the Missouri diocese since 1886, Daniel Tuttle received his elementary education in the rural schools about Windham and paid his way through Columbia University by tutoring sons of wealthy men of New York and was graduated from the General Theological Seminary, New York, in 1842.

Four years later the young divine was elected the first missionary bishop of Utah, Montana and Idaho. Only 29 years old at the time, he had to wait one year before being consecrated, as an ecclesiastical law makes 30 years the minimum age for a bishop.

For nearly 20 years the bishop carried on the work in the West, and was considered one of the great figures in the pioneer life of that section. Over six feet tall, broad-shouldered and with a resounding voice, he was an example of stalwart Christianity.

Bishop Tuttle did much traveling, even in his declining years, going to many sections of the country to consecrate bishops. In his 84th year he consecrated his 84th bishop—the Rt. Rev. Frederick Ingley—at Denver.

In April, 1869, when fire threatened to destroy Helena, Mont., there were three leaders who fought the flames, organized bucket brigades, held in check the lawless and for five hours did heroic work. They were "Bitter Root Bill," a notorious desperado; "Gentle Joe," prominent gambler and Bishop Tuttle.

In May, 1921, Bishop Tuttle made a journey retracing his first trip West, 54 years before.

On one occasion, while commenting on the changes he observed since his ordination in 1862, Bishop Tuttle said:

"Since my ordination, of course, great changes have come. Vigorous states have organized themselves out of the old 'Great American Desert.' In the Halls of Congress now are not a few leaders from the old 'Desert,'—Utah and Nevada, New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma.

"Religion helped to found the Union. Religion helps to keep the Union safe and sweet."

Bishop Tuttle was a well-known and beloved figure in St. Louis and on his latter birthdays the entire city joined in congratulations to the aged churchman. Even in his declining years, the venerable prelate preached every Christmas, Easter and Decoration Day at Christ Church Cathedral.

A man of the greatest simplicity and kindness, it was not unusual to see the Bishop stop and chat with a tattered-garmented newsboy.

He spent the majority of his summers in recent years at Wequeton, Mich., and his principal exercise was long walks and wood splitting. His habitual gait would have taxed the powers of many a younger man.

A co-adjutor bishop to assist Bishop Tuttle in the Missouri diocese was elected in 1905.—Bishop Tuttle married Miss Harriet M. Foote, of Morris, N. Y., in 1866. She died in 1901. They had two children.

Shawboro Man Has His Skull Fractured

His skull fractured and his life almost despaired of, J. L. DeCormis of Shawboro lies unconscious at his home, Corner Gum Farm, two miles from Shawboro, as a result of a blow received at about two o'clock Tuesday when he was struck across the head just over the left eye by the lever of a wire fence stretcher.

Mr. DeCormis, who is 75 years old but active and in vigorous health for a man of his age, was assisting one of his tenants in putting up a wire fence, according to meager details of the accident received here over long distance telephone. In some way the lever broke and, suddenly released, flew back and struck Mr. DeCormis, fracturing his skull.

A physician was immediately summoned and Dr. W. H. Cowell, responding promptly, reached the stricken man within an hour. He remained with him until ten o'clock Wednesday morning, when his son, Dr. J. L. McCormis of Accomac, Virginia, arrived and took charge of the patient. Dr. John Saliba of Elizabeth City also was called to the bedside.

Mr. DeCormis is a prominent member of Providence Baptist Church and is well known in Currituck County and in Elizabeth City. He has been magistrate, justice of the peace and at the time of the accident was judge of the recorder's court in Currituck County.

His daughter, Mrs. J. B. Bray of Raleigh, is hurrying to join her mother and brother at her father's bedside.

Drunken Negroes Auto in Ditch

Jim Combs and Walter Combs Will Have to Answer Numerous Charges in Court

Walter Combs and Jim Combs, Elizabeth City negroes, are in Pasquotank jail as a result of an automobile wreck at Davis Store about a mile beyond Berea Church Wednesday morning before daybreak. They will be arraigned in police court Thursday morning on charges of reckless driving, operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Sheriff Reid says it is possible that there will be other charges as well.

News of the wreck reached Elizabeth City in the form of an emergency call to the Community Hospital, from which an ambulance was dispatched to the wreck and brought the two men back to the hospital for treatment. Examination disclosed that their hurts were not serious, Walter having a slight cut on the head and Jim having a broken thumb; but that both men were in a drunken stupor. Consequently they were turned over to Sheriff Reid who stationed a guard at the hospital until morning and then locked them up in jail.

"Both men were still drunk when I locked them up," said the sheriff, "one of them so drunk that he could hardly stand."

Colleges Planning Building Programs

State's Higher Institutions of Learning Preparing Spend Money Appropriated by Legislature

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 18.—With the building program for the next two years to be decided upon, the building committee of the University of North Carolina board of trustees will meet here today and on the following day will submit its full report to the board, which will be in session. The committee, according to statements of members, is expected to recommend the construction of a woman's dormitory at the institution not to cost in excess of $100,000.

Approximately $1,000,000 is available for permanent improvements at the University during the next two years. One of the questions to be decided is the matter of repair of old buildings, bringing them up to modern standards. The water supply facilities are certain to be improved, according to officials. The institution had to postpone its opening week two years ago and it was only after emergency pipes had been laid that a longer delay was avoided. Emergency action was required again last year. Several new dormitories for men will be urged.

With $10,644,000 at their disposal for permanent improvements during the two years, all state institutions are making plans for the work. A study of appropriations of the past fifteen years, shows the general assembly has made rapid progress during the recent sessions in providing for its institutions.

The University, according to Henry London's figures, has received approximately $4,352,000 for permanent improvements, most of this being appropriated in 1921 and 1923. The North Carolina College for Women, at Greensboro, has received during the same period $3,125,000, while the Eastern Carolina College has been appropriated $1,664,697 making a total of $789,697 for the two institutions for women.

These medals were presented by the Phi and Di Literary Societies of the University, and this is the first year which they have been given.

The debaters are highly appreciative of the warm reception which was accorded them by the people of the town. They have received many callers, and congratulations have been showered upon them. They modestly accept all the praise in behalf of their school, and count it a joy to have done the deed not for themselves, but for the glory of Old Bessey and the E. C. H. S.

On Friday evening of this week the Kiwanians have the four debaters, as their honor guests, and on Thursday of next week, the Woman's Club expect to give a reception in their honor.

May Pea Shipments Begin About May 1

Shipments in Bulk Hardly Begin Moving Before 10th or 15th Is Prediction Now

May pea shipments from Elizabeth City are not expected to begin moving earlier than May 1st.

Shipments in bulk will hardly begin moving freely until about ten days or two weeks later, according to predictions of leading growers and shippers in this section.

May peas last year had begun moving by this time and last year's crop was regarded as rather late. This year's crop, however, promises to be late beyond all records since May peas became a leading truck crop in this section.

Not only is the crop late. According to estimates now being made by local shippers it is also short—as much as 50 per cent short, some shippers think.

"The plant has been dwarfed and stunted by the severe cold of the early spring," said W. H. Jennette of the commission firm of Jennette Brothers, Wednesday morning. Besides rot has set in in many instances following damage by cold, wet weather. In my opinion, though the acreage this year is perhaps double that of any previous year, this year's crop will not be any larger than last year's.

Growers are not worrying overmuch about the matter of a short crop, as they have hopes that the shorter the crop the better the price will be. A heavily increased planting of May peas this year resulted from good prices last spring, when farmers made money on peas in an off year on potatoes, and from seasonally high prices last fall, when certain Elizabeth City planters got record prices of $10 to $14 a basket for peas shipped in November. Such prices meant approximately $1,000 an acre to the growers.

This spring with the yield, say, 40 per cent short, a yield of 60 baskets to the acre would be looked for; which at $10 a basket will bring the growers $600 an acre.

Up to last fall, however, $4 and $5 a basket had been considered a high price for May peas.

FUNERAL MRS. BURGESS

Skinner, Sr., and R. M. Sawyer, accompanied by Miss Ethel Jones. The floral offerings were many and beautiful.

The active pallbearers were: Geo. A. Cox, C. A. Spruill, W. T. Love, Jr., R. M. Sawyer, W. F. Williams, M. F. Torkey, C. E. Overman, M. G. Morrisette; honorary, M. N. Sawyer, C. J. Ward, R. T. Venters, J. T. Wynn, J. W. Modlin, S. S. Leary, H. G. Godfrey. Interment was made in Hollywood.

INTEREST GROWS AND QUICKENS

Reports Indicate Crowds at Each Church as Large as If It Were the Only Church Conducting a Revival.

It is said by observers that the attendance is better at each of the six churches joining in the simultaneous evangelistic campaign which began this week here than is usual when each church has begun a revival in the past with the whole city to draw from.

This is but one indication of the deep and general interest in the campaign that has resulted from the weeks of preparation for it. The revival movement is making itself felt thru the whole community in a way that is without precedent in the history of the town so soon after a meeting's beginning.

The pastors are continuing their plan of working together and meet each day at noon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Community Building for conference and prayer. Any who wish to do so are invited to attend these noon meetings and Christian people throughout the city are asked to pause in whatever they may be engaged in when the clock strikes the hour of noon to pray for the success of the campaign.

The pastors feel that if the professing Christians of the town can but be brought to the proper concern for the outcome of the meeting, its success in a large way is assured.

Reports from the various churches indicate a considerable increase in attendance Tuesday over Monday, though Monday's congregations were unexpectedly large.

"At the First Methodist Church," says Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, the pastor, "the attendance was greatly increased at both services. Tuesday night Dr. McLarty preached a great sermon on 'The God-Forsaken Life,' but the sermon Wednesday morning on 'The Fatherhood of God,' was even greater. Mrs. J. W. Foreman sings at each evening service and there is special singing by the children."

"We had good services Tuesday at City Road," says Rev. H. E. Myers, "marked by very good attendance. The people are taking great interest in the congregational singing, led by A. N. Fisher, veteran of fifteen years' experience, who has assisted such nationally known evangelists as Sam Jones and George R. Stewart. Rev. L. B. Hayes, who is a forceful young preacher and pastor of a great church at Greensboro, is preaching sermons that are making a deep impression on his hearers."

"Services continue three times daily at Christ Church," says Rev. George F. Hill, rector. "Dr. Hartley spoke last night on 'The Elder Brother,' and the sermon was a powerful one, portraying the elder brother as the man we meet on the street and come in contact with every day. A feature of the services at Christ Church is the question box, into which members of the congregation are invited to drop questions that are troubling them spiritually. Dr. Hartley answers these questions each evening."

"Our congregation showed a good increase Tuesday night," says Dr. Thayer, pastor of Blackwell Memorial Baptist Church, "and Dr. Bagby preached a powerful sermon on 'The Omnipotence and Limitation of Christ.' We are looking for interest in the meeting at Blackwell to quicken and deepen as the meeting goes on and prospects of the fulfilling of our expectations seem bright."

"The best crowd we have ever seen in our church on Monday and Tuesday nights in a revival meeting," is what members of the First Baptist Church are saying of attendance at this church. A good service was enjoyed Tuesday night, Mr. Templeman preaching on the subject "The Two Rests," and the congregation entering heartily into the singing.

"Unwillingness, the Great Barrier to Soul-Winning," was the subject of Rev. W. G. Hughes at Calvary Baptist Church Tuesday night. "Mr. Hughes preached a fine sermon," says Rev. Romulus Hall, pastor, "and the people were attentive and appreciative." Mr. Hughes' subject Wednesday night is "The Power of a Surrendered Life."
