Fashion News Notes

Copyright, 1924, by The Advance

Paris, Feb. 6—The pocket is once more fashionable today. In a variety of forms, and sometimes in disguise, it has reappeared on all kinds of suits, frocks and blouses.

London, Feb. 6 — Spring hats are lightsome affairs, just a whisp of chiffon and a long beaded tassel. The crowns are extremely small, these chapeaux evidently having been planned for the lady with shingled hair.

New York Feb. 6—The Southern fashions, foreshadowing the spring clothes which soon will be seen here, indicate that coats and not capes will be more smart. Yet the black canton crepe or the biege Jersey sports cape, collared with white or crown fur, is still very much in vogue.

KILLED NEAR RALEIGH WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

Raleigh, February 6—A. L. Lytton, an auditor in the State Auditors Department, was killed yesterday when an auto overturned near Apex.

It was a public car and the chauffeur was placed under arrest.

Eureka Lodge Meets

Tuesday night Eureka Lodge had its regular meeting and afterwards the worshipful master invited the past masters present to act as officers and exemplify the work of the second degree.

The following pastmasters volunteered to act: C. M. Griggs, W. M. Walter, P. Wood, S. W. A. B. Houtz, J. W. G. W. Brothers, S. D. George, A. Cox, J. D. S. E. Overby, Chaplain, R. E. Lewis and E. Spence, stewards. H. G. Kramer volunteered to be the candidate. S. E. Overby who acted as Chaplain was elected as the first worshipful master 52 years ago. He and others made short talks and when the ceremonies were over the men all filled into the banquet hall where turkey sandwiches, coffee and cigarettes were enjoyed, while H. G. Kramer, J. E. Blades, W. W. Woodley Jr., and P. G. Sawyer furnished music. During the last 52 years 26 worshipful masters have been elected, 12 of whom have passed away.

Flounces Follow Line of Silhouette

With so much emphasis on the "pencil" silhouette, designers are featuring gowns with flat trimming that does not break the silhouette outline. Instead of being shirred, many flounces are simply straight pieces of material hanging straight against the frock.

ELIZABETH CITY SEVEN YEARS AGO

From the Files of The Daily Advance

William Pritchard, clerk at the Owens Shoe Company, and Miss Estelle Cowell of Shiloh were married by Justice of Peace Munden.

Enoch Cartwright, 63 years old, died suddenly at his home on Perring and Fearing street.

The coroner in his report to the County commissioners exonerated Ortho Parker of all blame in connection with the shooting of William Gray near Weeksville.

Quick work on the part of the fire department prevented serious damage when fire broke out in a house on Walnut street occupied by Cynthia Mullen, colored.

Mrs. W. N. Gregory of North Martin street had her hands scalded and suffered a bruise on the head when the wood range in her kitchen blew up.
