MRS. JOHN KILGORE, Editor

Entertained At Dinner
Miss Nellie B. Hastings charmingly entertained Friday evening at 6.30 o'clock at a sumptuous five course turkey dinner at her home on North Road street in honor of her birthday. Covers were laid for eighteen. The entire lower floor of the home was decorated with ferns, candles, red carnations, hearts and cupid. A shower of ribbons and hearts fell from the chandelier in the dining room over the big heart shaped cake bearing the appropriate number of candles. Heart shaped place cards were used and between two folded hearts tied with red ribbons were found dainty handkerchiefs which were given as favors. During the day many beautiful flowers, gifts and telegrams were received by the hostess from her many friends throughout North Carolina and Virginia. Mrs. G. W. Simpson, Mrs. I. W. Morgan, and Mrs. W. I. Pierce of Portsmouth served. Those enjoying Miss Hastings' hospitality were: Misses Mary Wright, Aurilla Strahl, Marguerite Parsons, Mary Ward, Carrie Burgess, Bertha Chappel, Rena Ward; Messrs K. D. Harris, Arthur Gallop, W. W. Horsey, N. Earl Griggs, Wyatt Aydtlett, Matthew J. White, Montford Forbes, Roscoe Wynn, and J. Paul Hastings.

Gives Bridge Party
Miss Virginia Kramer gave a most enjoyable four table bridge party Wednesday afternoon at her home on West Main street. Two lovely prizes were given, a bottle of perfume as high score, and as consolation a box of stationery. A salad course was served at the completion of the game. Those playing were: Mesdames Kenyon Wilson, Harold Foreman Aubrey McCabe, Frank Grice, Jr., George Beveridge, Miles Clark, Calvin Twiddy, Mary Wright Sawyer, W. C. Dawson, Jr., Misses Dorothy Scott, Anna Whitehurst, Evelyn Jones, Helen Wood, Nell Wood, Anne Wilson, and Laura Rodney.

Miss Scott Entertains
An attractive mah-jongg party was given Tuesday evening by Miss Dorothy Scott at her home on Seiden street. Miss Marguerite LeRoy was the lucky one, winning a mah-jongg score. After the game delicious refreshments of tippy cake, coffee and accessories were served. Those enjoying the evening with Miss Scott were: Misses Lucille LeRoy, Virginia Kramer, Marguerite LeRoy, Messrs Leslie Belangia, Ralph Holmes, Willis Leigh, and Victor Hooper.

U. D. C. Meets
The local chapter of the U. D. C. held a very interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Cohoon, 601 West Church street. When the business of the afternoon was completed, a delightful reading was given by Mrs. H. C. Pearson on "Sydney Lanier." Plans for Memorial Day were then discussed after which light refreshments were served.

House Apron

An extremely pretty house frock is made of large figured cretonne with a fitted bodice and a full skirt that will cover a good frock beyond the possibility of accidents.

Paris, Feb. 20—Somewhere your monogram or the initial of your last name must be embroidered, painted, or otherwise placed upon your clothes. Shoes have cut-out monograms. Hats have painted ones. Even hosiery is delicately monogrammed in embroidery, the letters arranged vertically like clocks.

Paris, Feb. 20—The most exquisite shades today are employed in the spring suits of woolen goods. Often in fine flannel, the favorite colors are palest yellow, mauve, faint blue and light green.

London, Feb. 20—Women who go in for dancing or athletics are inclining toward a corselet which contains only two bones. These are placed horizontally across the abdomen. The corselet, of heavy braided stuff, sometimes has quaint Babylonian designs upon it.

London, Feb. 20—The gold and lapis lazuli blue combination as well as the gold and turquoise blue, both noted in Tutankhamen's jewelry now, are becoming modish color combinations, for all sorts of things. One sees these combinations in cigarette cases, necklaces and hat ornaments.

New York, Feb. 20—A girl who is to be a spring bride has adopted a very spring like idea for various articles in her trousseau. The shoe buckles on her gray suede pumps, the buttons on a powder blue silk frock, the set of six bracelets designed to go with a pastel tinted costume, are all in Florentine work and represent tiny bouquets of field flowers.

New York, Feb. 20—Among the smart costumes at a recent fashionable tea was a gown of flannel and canton crepe. The flannel, of navy blue embroidered in white silk formed two wide panels at front and back. The sides and sleeves of the gown were navy canton.

land, will move rapidly northeastward today, followed by strong west and northwest winds of gale force this afternoon and tonight.

Miss Eva Belangia has returned to her home, 20 West Burgess street, after spending the week-end in Norfolk.

LITERARY DEPARTMENT TO RESUME REGULAR SCHEDULE

The literary department of the Woman's Club will meet in the Southern Hotel parlors Thursday afternoon, February 28. This will adjust the schedule that was upset by the ice festival, and the meetings hereafter will be held on the second and fourth Thursdays in each month. Interesting papers are prepared each time and prove very helpful to those who attend.

Did You Get One?

Did you get one of those wonderful radiant gas heaters? If you didn't you missed something good. Think of a gas heater that shoots the heat across the floor and warms you instantly. Think how comfortable that cold room could be made in a few minutes. And it's mighty cheerful too. There isn't any reason now-a-days why a sudden cold snap should make you uncomfortable.
