Poet Mixes Dream Cake

FAITH BALDWIN, author of the novels, "Maid of Green Hill" and "Laurel of Stony Stream", and many poems believes in making her dreams come true when it comes to expressing herself in the culinary art as well as in literature. Here she is getting ready for the famous dream cake for which the recipe is as follows:

1 1/2 cupfuls sugar, 1 1/2 cupfuls milk, 1/2 cake chocolate, 2 tea-spoonfuls vanilla extract, 2 eggs, 2 cupfuls flour, 1/2 cupful vegetable shortening, 1 teaspoonful baking soda, 3 tablespoonfuls boiling water, 1/2 teaspoonful salt.

Put 1/2 cupful of sugar into a small saucepan, add chocolate and 1 cupful milk. Put on the stove and stir till it boils five minutes, stir one hour and then remove from the stove and add vanilla and set aside to cool. Beat the vegetable shortening with a handbeater of sugar to a soft cream then add eggs well beaten and beat two minutes. Now add remainder of milk, soda dissolved in boiling water, flour, salt, and chocolate mixture. Mix carefully and divide into two large greased and floured layer tins and bake in moderate oven twenty-five minutes. Turn to cool and put together with boiled frosting.

Their Prayer Was Heard!

Abraham Lincoln had been assassinated! Citizens of Bloomington, Ill., who had known him when he was a young lawyer and later when he was campaigning for the Senate, gathered in mass meeting to voice their horror over his tragic death. "A Life for a Life," they demanded when John Wilkes Booth's name was mentioned. Similar gatherings were held in every city of any consequence throughout the nation. But as far as can be ascertained, this picture, hanging today in the Bloomington Public Library, is the only photographic evidence that yet remains of any of them.
