Tipton Bud talks some 'o' movin' 't' th' city where he kin kee a son.
If Josiah William Bailey doesn't watch out he will have exhausted his ammunition on sparrows before he gets within gunshot of any big game.

This business of just living in Los Angeles is a bit too strenuous for us. If one must be always on the go and with something else just ahead to go to next, why not run a daily newspaper and be done with it?

Abe Martin, Moving Picture Funnies, Problems of Conduct and Dr. Brady are new features annexed by this newspaper last week on a trial basis.

Wilful Men?
If, after Chairman Page's letter, the members of the Camden Highway Commission undertake to block any road in Camden simply because they can not get the road by the particular route that appears desirable to them, then they, in the words of Woodrow Wilson on one occasion, "will live to repent it"—unless they die mighty early.

To fight for the route that seemed best to them was a matter altogether within their right while the question of route was open, but to fight for a location after the State Highway Commission has definitely and finally decided against them is like butting one's head against a stone wall; while to defeat any road simply because they can not get their particular route for it is nothing other than a case of cutting off one's nose to spite his face.

If opponents of the Belcross route persist in their fight for another route to the point where they delay construction for another year, if not indefinitely, how shall they escape the designation of a set of wilful men who put the matter of carrying their own point above that of the real interests of the people whom they represent and are supposed to serve?

Different

Here's something different both in line and in material. The bodice is white pussy willow moire and the long, full skirt is of black. That row of buttons down the front and high collar are reminiscent of earlier days.

Atlanta, Feb. 27—The fertilizer interests of the South have been keenly disappointed at the poor business so far this year.

The mixing plants which operated last season have not opened at all, weather has been adverse for planting and bankers are urging restrictions of cotton acreage.

Personal Health Service
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Rumbles and Growls

Health hath its symptoms too. Take a quick run up two flights of household size stairs and focus your attention on your heart action and you'll find the heart going thump, thump as though bumping the ribs hard, for a little while, if you are sound and well.

ous "dieting" to the extent of restricting or avoiding certain articles which they conceive to be "starchy." This takes us back to the nineteenth century era of dietetics when dieting consisted mainly of funny lists of items in two columns—"may eat" and "may not eat." Here the game is called on account of approaching darkness. We'll finish it some day soon.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
We're All Browns.

I am here attending school. My home and birthplace are in Haiti and I call myself a negro. I am not quite so black as the ace of spades, but I am as nearly black as any negro I have met. Here folks call me "colored." I think that comes nearer the truth.

Answer.—Yes. All human beings, except albinos, in whom the pigment is congenitally missing, are some shade of brown. So are all eyes.

Craves Starch.
I am in the habit of eating laundry starch. Is this harmful, and if so, what is it liable to cause? (M. L.)

Answer.—It is harmless, as is the eating of raw potato or raw carrot or raw turnip or other raw vegetables or raw wheat or raw flour.

The Spread of Syphilis.
Is there much danger of contracting syphilis from a person who takes meals at the same table and uses the same bath room? Is syphilis spread by kissing? (Mrs. F. S. A.)

Answer.—Ordinary personal contact with a person who has syphilis in the first or second stage involves a certain risk of infection, though a small risk.

Might Extract the Iron.
I have had bronchial asthma for 10 years. Very poor circulation. Bad heart action. Kindly inform me if I would get any benefit from a magnetic blanket. They want $85 and give no guarantee whatever. (S. J.)

Answer.—No, a hot water jug or a flat-iron is an easier way to keep warm. Is your trouble a difficulty of breathing due to impaired circulation, or is it really asthma independent of the other conditions you mention? That is an important distinction for your physician to make.
