Remember how awkward it used to be to hold a girl on a big album both on your lap. If there was ever a time when a woman shouldn't pay no attention to a clerk it's when she's buyin' pajamas for her husband.

Must We Have a Victim?

The other day in a certain town in Eastern North Carolina a fireman swung to the street as his truck came to a stop at the curb near a fire, with the intention of running around in front of the truck and connecting a hose with a hydrant.

At the same moment an automobile which had been racing along behind the truck but the noise of the approach of which had been drowned by the roar of the truck shot alongside and ran down the fireman. He is now in the hospital.

The town which we have in mind was not Elizabeth City, but it very easily might have been. Sunday is particularly a dangerous day for a fire truck to be out. On that day streets are full of automobiles swinging aimlessly about over the paved streets of the city, with the driver and occupants of the car all pining for somewhere to go. The fire alarm gives the last one of them just what they are looking for and with one consent they start for the fire. Pretty soon they are on the trail of the fire truck, apparently trying to see how close they can trail it.

Of course it's a dangerous practice, but youth must be served and the joyriders must have their Sunday excitement. And so probably nothing will be done about the matter until somebody has been killed or seriously injured. And then the practice will be stopped until a tragedy has been forgotten.

Out to attend a political meeting last night, despite the storm, the charter members of the Elizabeth City Daniels-for-President Club have the true crusading spirit.

The Foster dispatch from Augusta, Georgia, is the first of the series to be sent by Mr. Foster from the various spring training camps of the major leagues in which he will endeavor to size up the various teams and forecast their relative chances in the 1924 pennant races.

Mr. Foster from one or another of the training camps may be looked for from now on.

The Advance is in receipt of a communication from William P. Lynch, 1127 Mariner street, Norfolk, Virginia, to the effect that the Riverside Athletics of Norfolk would like to book games for the coming season with some junior teams of Elizabeth City. Talking about baseball, is our guess, though the writer doesn't say so.

The first set of questions and answers in Foster's baseball question box will appear on Thursday, March 13. If there's a question on your mind about baseball, write to Mr. Foster. He'll answer it by mail or through the columns of The Advance, just as you prefer.

YOUNG LADIES HURT IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Washington, N. C., March 11.—Zeb Wooten, colored, is under a $1,500 bond for his appearance before the Recorder Tuesday morning charged with injuring Miss Leslie Fodrey and Miss Bessie Padgett, two white young ladies, Saturday afternoon by running over them at the corner of Second and Market streets. The accident occurred around five o'clock. At first it was thought that the young ladies, especially Miss Padgett, were seriously hurt but reports from their bedside Monday afternoon state they will recover. The wheels of the Ford car ran over the back of Miss Padgett after knocking her down on the sidewalk in front of the postoffice, while Miss Fodrey was hurt on her leg and knee. It was discovered Sunday afternoon by her physician that her foot was fractured. Wooten, the driver, of the car was arrested by Officer Dellinger and placed in jail. Subsequently he gave bond for his appearance in court.

WILL MEET TONIGHT

fastly and serenely held to the path of duty and proved himself a great American. The Navy itself was against him, and yet he shook the Navy out of its outworn traditions and injected into it a new esprit de corps and a higher standard of efficiency." Dr. N. H. D. Wilson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, did not remember ever to have addressed a political meeting; but felt that he could become a charter member of the Josephus Daniels-for-President Club of Elizabeth City and, as a former school-mate and long-time friend, add his tribute to others that had been paid Josephus Daniels with entire propriety. "On a rock-bottom of character and common sense," Dr. Wilson said, "Josephus Daniels filled the high office of Secretary of the Navy with a degree of credit to himself, his State and his Nation that was a surprise to his friends." Dr. Wilson believed that the same qualities would carry him through with honor whatever duties might devolve upon him in the White House.

Just before the close of the meeting the following resolution was adopted: "Whereas, the present National exigency, wherein occurrences of graft and bribe in connection with the highest governmental offices in our country, which are revolting to the spirit of common honesty and fairness inherent in every true Democrat, are being daily disclosed, demands that the man nominated by our party in 1924 for the office of the President of the United States be of unimpeachable integrity and one the merits of whose ability and character have been tried and proved, and,

"Whereas, we have in our midst a staunch and true Democrat eminently qualified and fitted by experience to fill the highest position that it is within the power of the Americans voters to bestow, a man who has already proved his worth and his ability to deal with and control the representatives of bribe and special interests during his two terms as Secretary of the Navy in the Wilson cabinet,

"Therefore, be it resolved by this assembly, called together as and hereafter acting under the name of a 'Josephus Daniels-for-President Club' that we unqualifiedly endorse and recommend Josephus Daniels for the Democratic nomination for the President of the United States, and that we exert our every effort toward sending delegates to our County, State and National conventions instructed for and interested in nominating Josephus Daniels for this high office of leadership."
