Convention To New York Something Like A Circus

Democrats Will be Barred from the More Exclusive Clubs of the City During Convention but Anything from Hot Dogs to Capon Can be Bought in the Garden

By ROBERT T. SMALL
 (Copyright, 1924, By The Advance)

New York, June 3.—While two or three of the more exclusive clubs of this city are going to bar all Democrats from their sacred premises, during the national convention the latter part of the month, this does not mean that a proper provision is not to be made for all delegates and visitors. The clubs say they fear overcrowding if guest cards are issued during the convention at Madison Square Garden. They are afraid that some of the old boys who sit in the windows day after day and month after month and watch the strollers along the avenue might have their inherited diversion interfered with.

Inhospitable as some of the clubs may be, the committee which is preparing for the convention has determined that the folks from the hinterland shall be well fed and cared for—at least while they are in the convention hall proper.

The committee, for instance, has provided that "hot dogs" shall be purveyed at the garden to one and all, and at the uniform price of 15 cents per dog. Naturally the committee is not flippant enough to refer to the animals as dogs. They are put down on the program as grilled frankfurters and this in itself ought to justify the increase from the usual price of a dime, the tenth part of a dollar, to 15 cents, the convention rate.

Delegates from the pie belt—the breakfast food of New England and the dinner delicacy of the Middle-West—will be glad to know that their fruit is to be held down to the level of the lowly hotdog and will be obtainable in any quantities at 15 cents per slice. The size of the slice has not been specified in the contract, but the understanding is that if the ratio falls below six to one—six slices to one pie.—Mr. William Jennings Bryan or any one else may rise to a point of order, or personal privilege and stop the balloting for a Presidential candidate until the pie scandal is thoroughly threshed out.

Coffee, tea and milk are to be provided at 15 cents a cup or goblet. Thus it will be seen that so long as any delegate or garden visitor is possessed of 45 cents he can get a square or three cornered meal of dog, pie and beverage. But even if he can only afford the grilled frankfurter, the dog ought to be able to keep the wolf from the door.

Any delegate desiring to go into the realm of the higher gastronomic spheres will find a gradually rising scale of prices. The ascent is at no times abrupt and the caterer has given bond that he will make no attempt to gouge or profiteer. Pitiless publicity will beat at all times upon his price list which must be prominently displayed. Chicken and roast beef sandwiches will rate as high as 50 cents a piece. Near beer will be knocked down for two bits but plain common or garden soda pop can be had for the fateful 15 cents.

Those who would sit down and dine may have roast beef and baked potatoes for a mere matter of $1.15. It is strange how that 15 cents ratio climbs into most of the prices. However, the fastidious who may desire Philadelphia capon, chestnut dressing, carrots, peas, saute potatoes and compo, can have it all for $1.50.

New York still insists upon looking at the convention as something of a circus or a six day bicycle race. The food contract, for instance stipulates that "nothing shall be sold on the floor of the convention." Peanuts for the politicians of that stripe must be bought in the outside corridors at 10 cents a bag. The peanut concession was not in great demand at the garden, for at this convention there will be no elephant to feed.

It also is gravely announced that "no intoxicating liquors" will be sold, bartered or exchanged on the premises.

An ice cream supper will be given by the B. Y. P. U., of Corinth church Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of George Harrell. Everybody is invited.

It is announced that two recitals will be given by some of the music pupils of Urner G. Davis on June 9th, at 4:30 p. m. and 8 p. m. in the Sunday School room of the First Methodist Church.

Chautauqua tickets are now available, and The Advance, as usual, will be pleased to serve you if you can more conveniently get tickets from us than elsewhere. It is best to act early, however, as it frequently happens that season tickets are completely sold out.

Progress in the direction of a detention home for Pasquotank County is gratifying and indicates what can be done if only we start something. But on the principle that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, does not Boy Scout work in Elizabeth City commend itself even more favorably to your support? The Advance is glad to see the long labor on the problem of juvenile delinquency beginning to bear fruit, but we hope that the people of the Old Home Town will put themselves behind scouting as wholeheartedly as the city and County authorities have put themselves behind the detention home project.
