

CITY MAY ISSUE $75,000 IN BONDS

Planned Do Some Street and Sidewalk Paving in Near Future Despite Failure to Settle the Utilities Problem

Elizabeth City will issue bonds to the amount of $75,000 for street and sidewalk paving if a motion passed by the City Council Monday night is carried out.

City Manager Bray reminded the City Council that there were several streets and sidewalks that had been ordered paved and suggested the issuance of $30,000 in bonds in order that the city might be able to take care of its present needs in street and sidewalk paving. The City Manager stated that with the issuance of bonds the city could advertise for bids and save a considerable sum by awarding a contract to one firm to do practically all of this paving.

Realizing that the city is now paying interest on a floating indebtedness of about $36,000, Councilman Weatherly made a motion for the issuance of bonds not to exceed $75,000 to cover both the indebtedness and the city's present paving needs. This motion was passed and the City Attorney will submit a form for the bond issue to the Council for approval at a subsequent meeting.

Dr. John Saliba had previously appeared before the board and asked that Riverside Drive be paved all the way to the hospital. His request was immediately granted and it is considered probable that this will be the first of the streets paved under the present plans. Riverside Drive was not paved all the way to the hospital originally because at the time this street was paved the hospital was beyond the city limits. The city limits now include the hospital grounds and the matter of paving this segment of the street was up to the Council.

A motion sponsored by Councilman Ferebee was also passed authorizing the City Manager to repair all streets in the city that are now paved.

The decision of the Council to proceed with the paving and repairing of the city streets and sidewalks indicates that they do not expect any immediate settlement with the utilities companies and will proceed with paving in spite of the long standing litigation.

ARE ASKED NOT TO DISTURB WORSHIP

Sunday Motorists and Horseback Riders Requested by Mayor to be Considerate of Religious Services.

Automobile drivers and horseback riders who enjoy their sport during the hours of religious services on Sunday are requested by the Mayor and the Chief of Police and the City Council members to use discretion and common sense when driving near the churches.

An ordinance drawn up by the City Attorney upon request was tabled with the suggestion from some members of the Council that an ordinance would scarcely better present conditions.

The Chief of Police, however, was requested to have a policeman near some church for the next few Sundays to warn the drivers of cars and lovers of horseback riding to avoid unnecessary noise when passing a church while religious services are being held.

"Automobile drivers should drive slow when passing a church" said Councilman Foreman, "and when possible should avoid passing the churches during religious services."

CONFEDERATE VETS FLOCK TO MEMPHIS

Memphis, June 3.—Thousands of Confederate veterans and allied organizations poured into this flag bedecked city today for the opening tomorrow of their 34th annual reunion.

Special trains were arriving almost hourly and with them the cycle of events for the week began revolving. The first event was a double tribute this afternoon when the reunion hosts united in memorial services to the Confederate dead and in celebration of Jefferson Davis's birthday.

TAX BILL IS LAW

Washington, June 3.—President Coolidge late yesterday signed the tax bill passed by the present Congress after issuing a statement declaring it poor legislation and declaring that he will urge the next Congress to pass a bill more free from political influences.

Burton Leading Brookhart

Des Moines, June 3.—Governor Burton Sweet is leading Senator Brookhart for the Republican nomination for Senator, according to returns compiled early today.

Drivers generally speaking do not intend to disturb the religious services—they often blow their horns unconsciously and only need to be reminded occasionally of the disturbance and detraction they are causing inside the church building. If automobile owners will drive slowly and carefully near the church there will be no necessity of much tooting of horns.

"It takes more than an automobile horn to disturb me during a church service" Councilman Weatherly remarked. "I guess so when you are asleep," replied Councilman Gordon.

Horseback riding, growing in popularity here, is said to be a greater nuisance than the noise made by automobiles. As Sunday horseback riding is purely a sport it is believed that those who choose to enjoy their favorite pastime during religious services can make it entirely convenient not to pass the church in a trot or gallop.

CANAL PURCHASE IS ALMOST SURE

And Congressman Ward, While Admitting Momentary Defeat, Thinks Favorable Action in Sight.

Though the Rivers and Harbors Bill, embodying a provision for Government purchase of the Dismal Swamp Canal will hardly pass at this session of Congress, Congressman Hallet S. Ward feels that there is no reason for discouragement and that Government ownership of the Dismal Swamp Canal is now really in sight, according to a letter from Mr. Ward to Secretary Job of the Elizabeth City Chamber of Commerce.

"Our district," says Mr. Ward, "after explaining how action on the bill was blocked at this session by the attitude of the New York and California delegations in Congress, 'is not a material loser, I think except that the preliminary surveys, like that of Knobbs Creek, will suffer some delay; but as in most instances in the affairs of this life, there is some consolation and possibly advantage in all of our difficulties. The attention of the contestants over the bill seems to me to have their attention taken entirely away from our favorite project, the Dismal Swamp Canal, and centered on other things, so that to my mind the psychology of it is that we have the best reasons to think that we will peacefully pass along through the storm while it rages around larger centers. If the bill was passed today without our project in it, there would be no allocation to close up the Dismal Swamp transaction earlier than a year from now, and even then the Canal Company could if it saw fit, delay the acceptance of the option. In the confusion of the whole situation I am not the least disturbed, as I feel there is no reason to seriously doubt that we are in sight of a Government Canal through the Dismal Swamp, from which community and all Eastern North Carolina will reap a very substantial benefit. I sincerely thank you for your patient, persistent and valuable assistance to this great project."

DETENTION HOME SEEMS ASSURED

City Council Joins Hands With County Commissioners and Outlook Brightens for Solution Juvenile Court

The City Fathers in regular session Monday night joined hands with the County Commissioners in making possible a detention home for Pasquotank County.

The Council voted an appropriation of $100 for the home to be followed by monthly appropriations of $25 for the next six months. Rev. G. F. Hill spoke in the interest of the home and found the Council members all ready for him and the appropriation made was based on Mr. Hill's recommendation. In fact Mr. Hill's speech was cut short by Councilman Gordon who interrupted him with the interrogation—"Mr. Hill what do you want us to do?"

The six months appropriation, it was intimated, will be followed by further support from the City if the detention home proves successful. A number of people attended the meeting of the Council in the interest of the home and when the Councilmen took such prompt action on Mr. Hill's suggestion the crowd was considerably depleted by those who left the room very much pleased with the sympathetic mood in which they found the Council.

Plans are to rent the J. E. Lane home at Nixonton and make it a temporary institution of discipline and training for juvenile court offenders who can not be taken care of in State institutions.
