Delightful Dance

One of the most delightful dances of the season was given Friday evening by the Elizabeth City Cotillion Club, as a farewell event in honor of the boys and girls leaving for college. The theme—fall—was beautiful in an array of autumn colors green and gold, and the music furnished by the Temple Garden Orchestra of Norfolk was in its glory. A number of college boys and girls from Hertford, Edenton and Norfolk were present.

Enjoy Weiner Roast

The Intermediate Epworth League of City Road Church enjoyed a delightful weiner roast on the large vacant lot across the street from the parsonage Thursday evening beginning at 7 o'clock. Jokes, Games, songs, ghost stories and yells were indulged in around the fire, after which the regular monthly business meeting was held at the parsonage. Those present were: Catherine Davonport, Mabel Gordon, Mildred Conner, Alma Maples, Dorothy Twiford, Ruth Murden, Mami Twiford, Elsie Bartlett, Lorina Midgett, William Gordon, Burns Tillett, Samuel Twiford, William Midgett, Carl Blades, with Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Lane as chairmen.

Moonlight Sail

Miss Frances Madrin delightfully entertained about thirty friends on a moonlight sail down the river on Friday evening on the "Lotus," complimentary to her guests, Miss Selma Madrin of Greenville and Miss Nora Stallings of Wilson. Delicious refreshments were served and on their return they stopped at a Chantilly and enjoyed dancing. Among out of town guests enjoying the happy occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Perry and Mrs. Walter Perry of Chapanok.

Yes, Estelle Is Athletic.

Jack Dempsey's fiancée, Estelle Taylor, movie actress, is an athletic girl. Why, she even goes out for a little road work with Mr. Dempsey, of course—long before his recent folk have had their normal coffee and grapefruit. Just the same, though, she doesn't like to see Jack fight. He might get his new nose kept up a bit. But, oh, well—she's willing for him to stage one or two more parties in the ring. And then they'll be married. Even Jack admits that now.

Really And Truly Prince Shy Of Marriageable Girls

Wales Has No Present Mind for Matrimony and to Marry Outside Nobility Would Disqualify Him for Throne So He Plays Safety First

By ROBERT T. SMALL
(Copyright, 1924, By The Advance)

New York, Sept. 8.—The Prince of Wales really and truly is a girl shy. This also goes for Baron Kenfrew and David Windsor, for even if they were not heir-apparent to the British throne, the young man still would flee the young women who would be attracted by a personality which is not a part of royalty.

So the American girls whose hearts have been pit-patting might just as well stop scribbling about the prince and go back to paying a little more attention to the steady beaux in the old home town.

It would be foolish to say the prince did not enjoy the society of women. He loves it. It would be foolish also to say that the all-night parties he has been enjoying down Long Island way have been bereft of all feminine charm.

Time was made for slaves. Night time was made for young princes who may have to spend their older years weighted down with the burdens of state and matrimony. The prince is not like the little boy or the nursery rhyme who hated to go to bed by day. He hates to go at any other time; he is a sort of latter day chameleon, and has to see that the sun is called every morning so the world can go about its affairs.

The prince knows what the freedom of bachelorhood means. He knows that his play days, or rather play nights, would be virtually ended (if he meant to sign "I do"). He knows most of all that an extremely large percentage of his present day popularity is due to the fact that he is heart whole and fancy free. Inactive the girls making such a fuss about him, about his pictures, his papers, about his boyish freshness, and all that sort of thing, if he were married to some dowdy female.

It is not often, however, that a prince destined to wear a crown gets to 30 years without being shackled. King George fought off the matchmakers until he was 28 and that was a pretty good record in those days. His son at 21 has beaten the old man's record, however, and up to the present moment shows no sign of weakening.

But his time will come. To royalty matrimony is just like death and taxes.

Gum Chewing Aids the Teeth

You have the authority of doctors and dentists for this statement. Your own experience will prove it, if you will use WRIGLEY'S after every meal.

The following quotations from a recent work on teeth and health are worth remembering:

"Dentists have found that the exercise of gum chewing brings about a better nutrition of the teeth . . ."

"The cleansing action of the gum between the teeth helps to keep them free from the particles which lodge in the crevices and cause decay."

The busy man—or woman either—rarely has time to clean the teeth after eating. Yet they should be cleaned, and
